

New Rule May Change Baseball

CHICAGO (AP)—"All baseball needs is more good ball players," groaned Casey Stengel, manager of the New York Yankees, when asked for comment on a proposal to change baseball's rules.

Stengel's flat rejection of the proposal made Friday by American League President Will Harridge summed up feelings of most managers and officials in the game.

In a memo to club owners, Harridge asked that consideration be given to an amendment that would permit use of a substitute player twice in a game. Harridge said the proposal was suggested by Lou Fonseca, former major league player and manager who is now motion picture director for the American and National Leagues.

The change would permit a player removed from a game for other than a rules infraction to re-enter the contest provided one inning had elapsed between his departure and return.

Harridge said the proposed change may contain "some flaws we have not discovered," but, he added, "we have the feeling that the change would please the public and give managers more leeway in their strategy."

Ford Frick, commissioner of baseball, was not available for comment, but National League President Warren Giles said "it has no appeal to me."

Frank Lane, outspoken general manager of the Cleveland Indians, said "It's a horrible idea. It would make the games much longer than they are now. Baseball is so popular because the game is relatively simple. Fonseca's proposal would complicate the game."

Birdie Tebbetts, manager of Cincinnati's Redlegs, said "It doesn't sound too good. We (managers) have too much leeway and strategy as it is."

Manager Fred Haney of Milwaukee's world champion Braves said "As a first reaction I don't like it. It's like trying to make the game like professional football with unlimited substitution. It would mean looking for an altogether different type of utility player."

Al Lopez, White Sox manager, said "Such a change would revolutionize the game. I'm afraid I can't make any comment other than that until I give the matter more study."

John McHale, Detroit general manager, called it "A very interesting proposal and certainly merits study. Any changes which might make the game more interesting to the fans should be thoroughly studied."

In making his suggestion, Fonseca said "As a career baseball man, I would be the last to make a suggestion that might make a farce of the sport. Baseball needs a lift. Other sports make changes, but professional baseball has stood virtually still. "Certainly with this change baseball will become a more suspenseful spectator activity. Imagine Ted Williams leaving a game with Boston a run or so ahead, then when the score is tied he returns with a man on base. Of course, it'll create suspense."

Braves True Pros, Bounce Giants

United Press International
The Milwaukee Braves are plain professional kill-joys.

Each time San Francisco's optimistic Giants send up a trial pennant balloon, the Braves promptly stick a pin in it.

That was pretty much the case Friday night when the Braves cut short all World Series talk among the Giants by defeating them, 4-2, to take a two-game lead in the National League race.

Braves 4, SF 2
Low Burdette struck out eight en route to his 10th victory although Don McMahon had to help him out in the ninth inning when the Giants mustered their final threat.

Second stringer Mel Roach snapped a 1-1 tie with a homer off loser Mike McCormick in the sixth and the Braves added what proved to be the decisive run in the same frame on Eddie Mathews' single, an infield out and a single by Frank Torre.

Robin Roberts of the Phillies pitched one of his finest games of the season in gaining the 200th victory of his career by beating the Cubs, 3-1.

Phils 3, Cubs 1
Roberts yielded only three hits, struck out six and walked none while bringing his season record to 11-9. The only run off him came in the fifth when Dale Long socked his 13th homer of the season. Philadelphia broke a 1-1 tie with a pair of runs in the sixth off Dave Hillman on a pair of singles, a sacrifice and a double by Chico Fernandez.

Wood, Casey Agree Over 'Frisco Freaks'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Don't know what the Yankees' Casey Stengel means, for sure, when he brands the San Francisco entry in the National League pennant race the "Frisco Freaks."

But I'm kind of inclined to agree with the guy!

A "freak" according to Webster's Dictionary, is "an abnormal animal or plant."

This pennant-challenging Giant club is about as "abnormal" an animal as ever performed in the major leagues. For instance:

—The only regulars on the club are centerfielder Willie Mays, shortstop Daryl Spencer and first baseman Orlando Cepeda — and possibly second baseman Danny O'Connell. Who ever heard of a championship club before with only three or four regulars?

—Who ever heard of a club battling down to the wire for the pennant depending largely on rookies in right and left field, third base, first base, home plate and on the mound?

—Who ever heard of a championship club without a pitching staff working in regular rotation — or one with only one "regular" — for that matter? Only Johnny Antonelli seems to be a sure starter every four days.

—Who ever heard of a club that finished sixth one year climbing clear up to first the next?

—Who ever heard of a club making a bid for the pennant with a rookie catcher, such as Bob Schmidt, doing a majority of the receiving? and his replacement, Valmy Thomas, a man with one year's experience?

—Who ever heard of a club that being successful despite a fielding average that puts it in the second division and a pitching staff with an earned-run average that is one of the worst in captivity?

—Who ever heard of a club playing a full season in a stadium that has drawn 70 per cent of capacity for the year so far?

As president Horace Stoneham told me the other day:

"I listen in on the radio when the club is on the road and I just can't believe it's true. But it seems to keep happening."

This ball club is a freak all right—the kind of a freak that you had to love!

Seattle Girl Golf Winner

EVERETT, Wash. (AP)—Judy Hoetmer, Seattle, Friday won the Pacific Northwest Girls' Golf Championship, thus qualifying her for the national girls' tournament later this month in Greenwich, Conn.

Miss Hoetmer, 17, carded an 81 to go with Thursday's 80. Her 161 was 14 strokes better than the score for runner-up Maureen Auld, Chilliwack, B.C.

After Miss Auld's 175 came the 176s of Becky Shields, Yakima, and Judith Fawcett, Seattle.

Women's par on the Everett Golf and Country Club course is 150.

Other scores Friday: Linda Barker, Everett, 178; Donna Horn, Portland, 181; Cathy Wood, Prosser, 182; Susan McCoy, Mercer Island, 184; Mary Anne Ronzonde, The Dalles, Ore., 187; Treasure Sullivan, Ashland, Ore., 188; Karen Ford, Bellevue, 190; Susan Valloume, Yakima, 191; Susy Lance, Medford, Ore., 194; Gayle Blackhaus, Seattle, and Janice Blaskowski, Leavenworth, 196; Pat Reeves, Seattle, 197; Joan Edwards, Portland, and Judy Smet, Woodinville, 198; Ann Gillis, Spokane, 199; Carlye Hawkins, Tacoma, 205; Nancy Jones, Yakima, 212; Judy Angsted, Klamath Falls, Ore., 213.

Hunters Out In California

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—California's Fish and Game Department, and particularly Director Seth Gordon, put its controversial 1956 doe hunt policy to the test Saturday when the coastal deer season opened in 29 counties.

An estimated 300,000 hunters were expected to participate in the hunt which continues through Sept. 14. The state's inland season starts Sept. 20 and ends Oct. 20.

The Fish and Game Department pointed out that a wet 1957 produced an abundance of food for the deer so most experts anticipate a good hunt.

The commission issued a warning that forests are tinder-dry despite recent rains.

Fish and game experts, who took a chance two years ago and called for a doe hunt to cut down the deer population, hope hunters have luck this year.

Recently, two officials of the department, the former game management supervisor, W. P. Dammann, and the current supervisor, Fred Jones, defended the doe hunt.

However, they said its effect "cannot be completely evaluated" until this year and next.

The reason, they said, was that fawns the decreased does of 1956 "might have produced in 1957" would not have become legal bucks until they were one or two years of age.

Critics of the doe hunt claimed deer herds in some Sierra and northern counties were drastically reduced and it will take years to build them back.

Norland Bows In SL Tourney
One of Klamath Union's star tennis players, James Norland, was awarded the runner-up trophy in the recently concluded Class A Invitational Tennis Tourney held in St. Louis, Missouri.

Norland was defeated in the singles finals by Lou Gilmore of St. Louis, 1-6, 6-4, 6-4. The tourney, the third that Norland has entered during his summer stay in the Missouri city, numbered 64 of some of the finest players in that section of the country. In the first two meets he entered the KU sophomore was stopped in the quarter-finals once by the top seeded player and once by the second-seeded.

In St. Louis primarily on a vacation, Norland is visiting various hospitals with his brother Charles, an interne at St. Lukes, plus serving as a tennis instructor.

Young Norland will return to Klamath Falls in time to compete in the Herald and News annual tournament which is slated for the Labor Day weekend.

Duddy Holt guided Idaho State College to six Rocky Mountain Conference championships in his first seven years as track coach.

At the finish of the 10 game Summer Basketball League schedule on Pelican Court Thursday night, the Fatmen, a squad composed of ex-KU players and Basin coaches, racked up two wins to close on top with an 8-won, 2-lost mark.

The Fatmen dropped Henley 21-15 in their first game of the evening and picked up their other victory by trimming Bell's Hardware 21-13.

Henley, who finished third on the ladder, fell 20-15 to the second place Oregon Foods five, in their second game. Bell's lost their second encounter to the Hal's Sport Shop quint by a count of 20-10.

Oregon Food got their second win of the night at the expense of Tulelake, 20-13. Hal's Sport Shop also notched two wins as they edged Tulelake 21-18.

The termination of summer league play marks the official end of the cage sport locally, until, of course, regular season play begins at the schools in the city and county. Dean White and his assistants, who directed the program for the Klamath Falls Park and Recreation Department, urged all of the players participating in the summer session to move into the coming football program.

Robin Gains 200th Victory

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Robin Roberts, with major league victory No. 200 tucked safely away, Saturday considered the possibility of winning 300. A year ago, he was wondering if he ever would pitch winning baseball again for the Philadelphia Phillies.

"If I keep pitching the way I have," he said Friday night, "I might make it. My arm really feels fine now. I'm throwing with that easy motion."

Roberts, 31, normally quiet and modest, virtually used up his word-quotas for the season after fanning six and allowing the Chicago Cubs three hits for a 3-1 victory, his 200th in 11 years. It was the right-hander's 11th victory against nine defeats. Last year Roberts won 10, lost 22. He dropped 16 of his last 20 decisions.

He is the 59th major leaguer to hit 200 victories and if he enjoys the success of Warren Spahn of Milwaukee and Early Wynn of Chicago's White Sox, he may come close to 300. Both Spahn and Wynn are the only active major league pitchers with more than 200 victories.

Since their 31st birthdays, Spahn, 37, has won 117 games and Wynn, 38, has won 123.

"I had a last ball and a hook and it was enough," said Roberts Friday night. "I never felt faster. One extra day's rest helped me a lot."

Manager Eddie Sawyer delayed Roberts' start a day to insure rest for his hurler, who has won six of his last seven decisions.

Miceli Cries After Lopsided Ring Loss

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — "We wuz robbed" is heard in boxing as much as punches are seen thrown. But coming from a fighter who won only three rounds, it bears study.

Joe Miceli, veteran ringman from New York City, thought he got a bad deal here Friday night when he lost a 10-round unanimous decision to Yama Bahama of the British West Indies.

Miceli based his argument on that fact that Bahama went into a bear-hugging routine in the first round after two knockdowns.

"He should have been disqualified in the first round!" Miceli shouted in his noisy dressing room. "The referee was a big guy, but he couldn't tear that guy off me." The 29-year-old left-handed hooker said.

Miceli sent Bahama to a foggy island with a crushing left uppercut in the first punch of the fight. Bahama grabbed and tackled his man around the ring. Again, Miceli caught the glass-eyed Bahama in the first and the routine took an encore — this time with referee Joe Palmer an added starter.

The best Miceli could do after that was crash to the floor in the eighth round and flail away with his favorite looping left hand.

After weathering the early knockdowns, Bahama centered his attack on Miceli's midsection. The pace began to show on the tiring Miceli and his timing was slowed to the point where he was measuring his opponent. At these states, Bahama was crossing Miceli's left with rights to the head.

Referee Palmer, who scored it 7-2-1 in favor of Bahama, said after the fight he had no intention of ending it because of Bahama's holding tactics. "You have to give something like that a lot of thought," he said.

Brigham Young is unbeaten against Canisius in basketball. BY won 50-49 in 1942 and in 1945 the score was 62-52.
