Yreka Shooting Charge Changed

YREKA—After entering a plea of not guilty, James Baber of Yreka, who admittedly shot Harry Meek, also of Yreka, was found guilty on a charge of simple assault in the Yreka Justice Court of Judge Harry Hammond on Wednesday, July 30. The original charge against Baber was assault with a deadly weapon when he shot Harry Meek in the hip on the night of June 22. The district attorney's office reduced the charge to assault, and entered a plea of not guilty. J. P. Correia, attorney for Baber, stipulated at Wednesday's trial that the testimony given by Meek at the preliminary hearing could be admitted as evidence for the prosecution. Baber did not take the stand in his defense. At the request of Correia the case is to be referred to the probation officer before sentencing. Hearing of the report of the probation officer and sentencing of Baber is set for August 12.

Weed Girl, 3, Misses Harm

WEEK—A 3-year-old Weed girl miraculously escaped serious injuries or death last night when she rode the family car down a 100 yard embankment onto Highway 99.

Ellen Kay McCoy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee McCoy of Weed, had climbed into the McCoy car about 8 o'clock last night when it was parked in front of her home off the old South Highway 99, above the new highway near Weed, and released the hand brake. The car started rolling backwards down the embankment and came to rest, right side up, with its rear wheels in the ditch beside the highway. Luckily, the car did not topple onto the heavily traveled road.

Her mother was in the living room when she heard the emergency brake released and she looked out of the window and saw the car rolling. She heard Ellen Kay scream, "Mama," and she ran after the car. She slipped and fell on the rocky slope and suffered multiple bruises, but got up and ran after the car again. Mrs. McCoy said that she did not hear another sound until the car had stopped in the ditch and then she heard the little girl say, "Mommy, I'm scared. Can Daddy fix my car?"

The car, still on its wheels, faced up the slope, is a 1954 model, and is thought to be a total loss, but the damage has not been estimated.

The trio each paid a $50 fine in the Weed Justice Court when they pleaded guilty to Judge Kenneth T. Stone. The deer meat was confiscated.

Local Woman Reappointed

Announcement of the reappointment of Mrs. Frank W. Johnson to the Klamath County Welfare Commission was made at Friday's regular monthly commission meeting. Governor Holmes appointed Mrs. Johnson, who has served on the commission since May, 1957, to a full four-year term, ending June 30, 1962.

The commission received a statistical report of the July operations of the welfare office. The figures were not presented as complete, since the meeting — scheduled for the first Friday—fell on August 1, which did not allow time to prepare a final report.

The number of people, adults and children, assisted by financial grants under the public assistance program during the month of July was set at approximately 1,866. This figure includes all persons whose financial needs were met either wholly or in part under this program.

The number of general assistance cases in the public assistance division decreased by 51 during the month. Ninety-six cases were closed, and only 45 out of 67 new applications were approved, though six cases were still pending at the end of the month.

In addition to the public assistance program, the child welfare unit provided service for 270 children during the month of July; 125 of these received some measure of financial aid.

Father-Son Aid Divorcee

INDIANAPOLIS, IND. (UPI)—A father-son team of criminal lawyers agreed Monday night to defend a divorcee charged with slaying her married lover.

The first action of the attorneys, Charles and Frank Symmes, was to slap a "no visitors" ban on Mrs. Connie Nicholas, 42, who is recovering in General Hospital from an overdose of sleeping pills.

Frank Symmes, the father, said he decided to undertake the defense of the attractive divorcee, who admitted shooting drug firm executive Forrest Teel, because he believed she had "a good case."

Mrs. Nicholas contended she shot and killed Teel, 54, wealthy executive vice president of Eli Lilly and Co., during a violent argument last Thursday morning over his alleged affair with a younger woman.

"It looks like a case of self-defense," Symmes said. "Her eye is swollen shut. Somebody slugged her."

Tot To Be Sent To Foster Home

LAKEVIEW — The abandoned baby found last Thursday in the men's rest room of a local Richfield Service Station will be placed in a foster home today pending further developments, David Kahns, welfare official here, said today.

The infant, between seven and 14 days old, was found by the service station attendant after a man had called to say he thought he had left his wrist watch in the rest room.

District Attorney Julian Herndon stated the officers have a good description of the last man seen entering the rest room before the telephone call and investigation is continuing. The man, officers said, was accompanied by an older woman and a teen-age girl and a baby in arms.

Pending outcome of the case, the infant is a ward of the court.

Sunnyland Addition Has Chance For Sewer Tie In

Residents of Sunnyland Addition will be given an opportunity to have the city make the hookup from the new sewer line to their property under a plan outlined at Monday night's regular council session at city hall.

Building Inspector Verne Schortgen pointed out that there is quicksand in the bottom of the ditch where the sewer to the area was recently installed. In making hookups, he pointed out, there is a danger that this quicksand would get into the sewer where it would harden much like cement and cause problems.

He suggested that the city canvas the approximately 40 homes of the area regarding a plan whereby the city would make the hookups and take the sewer line to the property line. The cost of such a plan would be approximately $34 for each hookup on Avalon and Shasta Way, and $36 on Austin and Sunset.

The work would have to be done on a cash basis, and Assistant City Engineer Cliff Sanders pointed out that the bargain price would be contingent upon almost all the residents of the area agreeing to the plan.

Three residents of the area attended the council session and agreed to the plan. Others are asked to contact the city engineer's office. Work on the project would be contingent upon the number of persons agreeing to the project and putting up the required amount of cash.

Schortgen pointed out also that the approximate cost to have the hookup made by a commercial plumber would be between $50 and $60. He also pointed out that the city would not be competing with commercial plumbers since most plumbers are not equipped to do the necessary digging job that would be required.

It was also pointed out at the session that 30 minute parking meters have been installed at the corner space on downtown Main Street. These 30 minute meters still operate on a nickel.

Bids were opened on a backhoe for Klamath Memorial Park, and low bidder was Klamath Tractor and Equipment at $2,550. Other bidders were Don Kenyon $2,926 and J. W. Kerns $3,200.

A petition was received from residents of the area bounded by Second Street and Payne, and High and Pine asking for a speed not to exceed 15 miles per hour, no parking on Pine between First and Ewanna and a "children at play" sign. The requests were referred to the Traffic Safety Council for study.

Building Inspector Schortgen submitted his report to the council for the month of July. Again it showed a healthy increase over the amount of Klamath Falls building of last year. Total construction for July was $199,949 comparing favorably with only $148,325 for the previous year, an increase of about $50,000.

The community lounge report, submitted by Elsa Rueck, secretary, reported 2,901 adults used the facilities in May and 2,681 in June. Visitors included residents of such states as Texas, Tennessee, Minnesota, Montana, North Dakota, Nevada, Washington and California.
