Rhodes Fined After Fracas

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Former World Series hero Dusty Rhodes and pitcher Joe Margoneri of the Phoenix Giants scuffed today at reports of their fight aboard an airliner and said they're "still good friends."
Rhodes and Margoneri were ejected from a Western Airlines plane at San Francisco Monday night.
"It was a scuffle, not a fight," said Dusty, a New York Giants hero of the 1954 World Series. "Joe and I are still good friends."
William (Rosy) Ryan, general manager of the Pacific Coast League farm team, said both men had been fined. The amount was not announced.
The report of the plane fight by an airline stewardess involved jousting along a narrow aisle with lounge chairs broken and tables smashed. The reason for the fight was not established, but Margoneri, a pitcher, said "those reports of damage to the plane are grossly exaggerated. One of those little plastic trays might have gotten broken, but that was about all."

Banks Points For 50 Homers

CHICAGO (AP)—Ernie Banks, slugging Chicago Cub shortstop, is enjoying his greatest year in the majors and might very well become the fifth man in National League history to hit 50 or more home runs.
"I think he can do it," says Manager Bob Scheffing. "Ernie usually gets most of his homers in August and September. Last year he hit 13 in September."
Banks knocked in three runs, including the one which won the game, in a 10-9, 10-inning victory over San Francisco yesterday. He also batted his 31st homer of the season and boosted his RBI total to 90.
"Check the figures," said Scheffing, "and I'll bet he has one of the best RBI percentages in the league."
Banks' 90 RBIs have come in 426 times at bat for an RBI in every 4.7 times at bat. Willie Mays of the Giants has 57 in 410 at bats for a 7.1 average.
Banks is the current leader in both home runs and runs batted in in the National League.
Does Banks think he can hit 50 home runs?
"I don't know," says Ernie, 27-year-old right-handed swinger. "I guess you have to be lucky to do that. I'll be swinging, that's all I can do."
The only other players in the National League to reach the 50 mark have been Hack Wilson, Ralph Kiner, Johnny Mize and Mays.
Banks also has another objective this season and that is to finish with a .300 average. Currently batting .310, he came close with .295 in 1955 and .297 in 1956.

far this year and is pointing for a 200,000-fan season.
Heath is taking a page from the old book by Bill Veck, former major league general manager, who called on anything and everything to add interest to his ball games. It was Veck, you will remember, who used a midge as a pinchhitter in a couple of games before former baseball commissioner "Happy" Chandler invoked a rule against such practices.

A note of interest from a news release sent out this week by the University of Portland:

University of Portland's first doctor of education will be granted Saturday, August 9, to Edward J. Ryan of Portland, supervisor of athletic activities in the Portland public schools.
Ryan, who is a former Klamath Union High School football coach, has been in the Portland school system since leaving here in the late 1940s.

The University of Oregon Athletic Department has gone all out with one of the snappiest looking letterhead envelopes that has crossed our desk in some time.

U of O athletic news is passing through the mail in fancy white envelopes trimmed in green with the slogan "Follow the Champs... Follow the Ducks."
On the front are pictured two Duck football stars, tackle Jim Linden and end Ron Stover, both of whom are candidates for all-coast and all-American honors this season. On the back are small characters depicting the Webfoots four home games against Idaho, USC, WSC and Stanford.

It's getting to be interesting to watch and see how schools around the country are growing more publicity conscious these days when the competition is so high for the entertainment dollar. One school is trying to out bid the other with some sort of an attraction just like one grocery store tries to undersell a competitor.

Athletic news director Hal Childs of Portland State College is really on the ball.

Childs has already sent out the Vikings 1958-59 basketball schedule and football coach Les Liggett doesn't know yet who he has on tap for the football season.
Hal, a real fine publicity man for PSC, has been burning up the sports desks around the state and in southern Washington with all types of news about his school's athletic teams. And in case you missed it, education leaders around the state are talking about Portland State becoming a "big school" such as Oregon and Oregon State. PSC's cause is being helped out by Childs' work.

It isn't his appeal to children, but the belief that the only successful story is one that appeals to the whole family. # LA Attendance Runs Ahead Of Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—All the last place Los Angeles Dodgers may get out of this year's National League pennant race is a bratwurst—and of course attendance money.

When Walter O'Malley moved his Bums from the tradition-seeped Flatbush precinct to the spacious Los Angeles Coliseum, there were those who forecast that Southern California crowds would eclipse the Milwaukee Braves record of 2,215,404 set last season.

Milwaukee owner Lou Perini scoffed at such talk.
"I'll beat a bratwurst we out-draw the Dodgers," he said.

With the season two thirds over, it looks like Perini will be masticating his remark while O'Malley dines on the crinkly, brown, oversize frankfurter which the sausage makers say made Milwaukee famous long before the advent of beer barons.
Even Bill Eberly, who runs Per-

Gardner's Skein Snapped At 361

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—Second baseman Billy Gardner's consecutive game playing streak ended at 361 games Tuesday night when he failed to break into the Baltimore Orioles' lineup.
Gardner is expected to be sidelined several days as a result of being hit by one of Don Larsen's pitches in Monday night's game with the New York Yankees.

CUT FROM SQUAD

SALEM, Ore. (UPI)—The New York Giants of the National Football League have released rookie end Lufus Johnson, the first training camp cut made by the club in 10 days of practice.

ini's box office admits the Braves won't achieve their 1957 attendance this year. "We'd have to average 39,000 a day for the rest of the season and that's impossible."
In fact, the Braves will be hard-pressed to even reach two million, a mark which they have surpassed each of the past four years.

As of today, the Braves' home attendance was 1,376,988. The Dodgers had drawn but 1,334,320.
However, the Braves have played to 51 home dates while Los Angeles has made but 47 home appearances. Milwaukee was averaging 27,026 each time the box office opened at County Stadium. The Dodgers average was 28,389 per home date—1,363 more than the Braves.

Furthermore, O'Malley had the law of averages on his side in the run for the bratwurst. He has 23 home dates left, four with the Braves. Perini has 20 home dates remaining.
Projecting the Los Angeles attendance through the rest of the season, you get a year's total of 1,986,267.

Do the same for the Braves and it adds up to 1,918,869.

Even the schedule spells bratwurst for the Dodgers. Los Angeles has 12 dates remaining with first division clubs, including three with the neighboring Giants, Milwaukee has seven dates with first division teams.

Eberly says the recession and the weather are the major reasons Milwaukee attendance is running about 100,000 less than a year ago.
"For us to draw two million the same people have to come out many times. When the recreation dollar is down, those people come out less often," he said.

Alex Webster, Prineville pro, led the scoring with a 33-41-64, two under par. Jim Johnson of Reames paced all amateur scoring with a 38-32. Bend pro Bud Davis carded a 74, the same as turned in by Clark Good, pro at Reames.
