By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—"If you have a really good television show, you'll get an audience," says Andy Williams.
"It doesn't matter what night your show is, or what time or what network or whether you form your own network."
Well, Williams has a good show as the summer replacement for Pat Boone and the mail indicates he's attracting a large audience of all ages.
The Williams Show has a relatively low budget. It doesn't operate on the theory that it needs big name guest stars to hold its audience. In Williams' words, "We mainly just try to do good songs,

New Sprinkler System Reported

MONTAGUE — Among some of the activities or work performed by the Soil Conservation Service engineers of the Shasta Valley Soil Conservation District was the designing of a sprinkler irrigation system for Lesley Perkins of Big Springs.

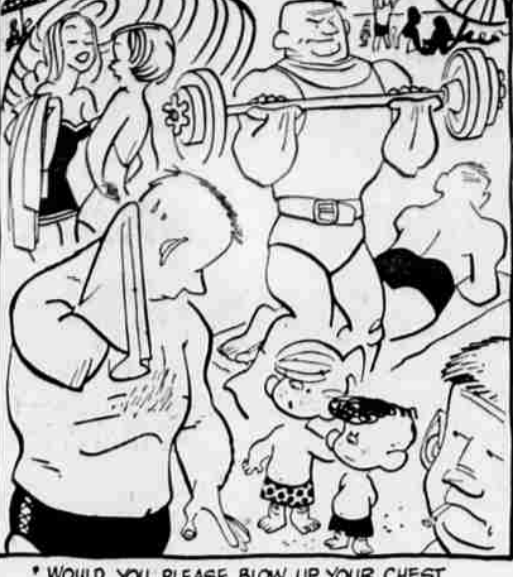

With the use of a sprinkler system on light coarse soils, Perkins will be able to make more effective use of his irrigation water.

The engineers also made a topographic survey on the Harlan Peters farm at Grenada, which will be used in developing a drainage plan for the farm.

Another topographic survey was made by the engineers on 53 acres for D. C. Firster of Big Springs. From this survey they have developed a leveling and irrigation plan which will conserve water and do a better job of irrigation.

Also a plan was developed for the shaping and grading of 40 acres for Norman Sears.

Blonde Filmland Charming Has No Boy Friend In View

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Kim Novak, filmland's reigning beauty, is the only charmer in Hollywood without a steady fella—and with no prospects in sight.

She's blonde, smoky-eyed, successful and so beautiful most men are tongue-tied in her presence. Movie queens from Theda Bara to Marilyn Monroe zoomed through romances and marriages faster than editions could hit the streets. Not Kim. Even her headline-making dates with Gen. Trujillo weren't romantic. And the shapely star is the first to admit it.

"I think I've been in love in my life," Kim said introspectively, "but Ramfis wasn't the right man for me. He came close to what I want in a husband—kind, considerate and intelligent—but it wasn't love."

Kim rarely has dates. She attends parties alone, spends much of her time in the solitude of her new home.

"It's not a question of being mysterious," she smiled. "I believe it is better to be lonely by myself than to be lonely with someone I'm married to."

"I want a husband and family, someone to take care of and to comfort and love. But I couldn't give him just part of me. I'd want to give him all of me—my heart and soul, my mind and my body."

Unlike her sister actresses, Kim has no driving ambition to continue her career. She recently completed "Bell, Book and Candle" at Columbia. But she would drop acting altogether if "Mr. Right" appeared.

"Sometimes I feel like a necktie or ring in a store window waiting for someone to take me," she added wistfully.

"And there's no price tag. More than anything else I want to be a woman, and a woman isn't a woman without a man. I have no preconceived notions of what he'll look like or how he'll behave. But I do know if I settle for less than my dreams it would destroy me."

Bit parts: Story being told in the Hollywoods about Chico Marx, excited by headlines that his brother Zeppo was being sought in a gambling ring expose, called brother Gummo to ask where he could find Zeppo. Gummo wanted to know why. "So I can turn him in for the reward," Chico answered. Joel McCrea is the latest movie star to move to television. The long-time western star will co-produce and play the lead in "Wichita Town," a horse opera scheduled to be saddled up later this year. Fred Astaire makes his first non-dancing appearance in flickers this year when he co-stars with Gregory Peck and Ava Gardner in "On The Beach."

Prime Minister Off To Athens
LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan flies to Athens today in a bid to bring peace to Cyprus. After talks with Greek leaders, Macmillan will go on to Turkey. Greek demands that Cyprus be allowed to join Greece and Turkish counter-demands for partition of the British island colony between the Greek and Turkish Cypriots have embittered relations among the three North Atlantic Treaty allies.

Britain last June proposed a seven-year cooling-off period for Cyprus during which Greece and Turkey would share in governing the island. Although Greece rejected the plan, Macmillan probably will bring it up in his talks. Turkey was hostile to the plan but said it could serve as a basis for negotiations.

Quarterly Liquor Share Announced

Klamath County and Klamath Falls will share $1,500 in quarterly liquor revenues, Secretary of State Mark Hatfield announced from Salem.

The county's share of taxes paid by beer and wine producers will amount to $799 and the city's share will be $701, Hatfield said.

The funds, used by the county for current expenses and by the city for police work, are a small part of total liquor revenues distributed by the state annually.

Man Confesses Killing That Never Happened

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI) — The strange story of a German businessman who has been fleeing "justice" for 25 years was unfolded today after his return here to confess a "killing" that never occurred.

Prosperous Karl Mende told police he had killed a man at the beginning of the Nazis' successful fight for power in Germany.

"I want to atone for my crime," said Mende on his return from long years of hiding in the French Foreign Legion, Australia and South America.

Mende told this story: On the night of Jan. 31, 1933, while returning home from night school, Mende became involved in a street fight between Nazis and Communists. He threw a wooden post ripped from a fence at a Nazi Storm Trooper in self-defense.

The next morning a newspaper said the Nazi had been "murdered." Frightened, Mende fled the country, joining the Foreign Legion. Then Arab friends "smuggled" him onto a freighter bound for Australia. When World War II broke out, he was in Peru.

He sent letters with money to the Nazi's family. Then he feared the letters were intercepted and he fled to Brazil, making a fortune in real estate.

Recently, he said, his worries caused a nervous breakdown, and after recovering he decided to return to Germany.

Investigation by police showed the newspaper which had reported the death of the Nazi printed a correction the day after Mende fled, saying the man had been injured. The Nazi, it turned out, died on the Russian front in 1942.

Rodeo Fever Hits Alturas

ALTURAS — This coming weekend is an eventful one for Alturas — the Roundup Parade will be on Saturday at 11 a.m., and the rodeo will start at 1 p.m.

The Lions Club Bar-B-Que will be at the Memorial Park in Alturas after the rodeo and will last until late hours. All proceeds from the barbecue will go to the Alturas swimming pool fund.

After the dinner, the Modoc County Fire Department is sponsoring a dance at the elementary school tennis courts.

The annual Whisker-See-No contest, sponsored by the Alturas 20-30 Club, is also an event of the Alturas Roundup. This year the proceeds will go into the swimming pool fund.

Any male who is caught without a growth of whiskers during the Roundup will be assessed $1 or locked up in the mobile jail. A kangaroo court will be held, and the fines will release the unwhiskered to freedom.

A contest will be held at the rodeo dance and the male with the best crop of whiskers will receive a prize.

LIGHTNING FIRES
McCLOUD — Jack Prevey, McCLOUD USFS district ranger, today announced a total of 92 lightning fires had been controlled in the district this season. Final mop-up of all known strikes was completed by mid-week. A total of 24 fires was extinguished last week. The number of fires to date in the district is 94 as compared to 38 for the entire season last year.

Violinist Can't See Why Boys Can't Play Outdoors

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—On the issue of whether a boy should stay indoors and study the violin or be out playing with the other kids, Jascha Heifetz offers this suggestion:

"Why can't he study the violin and play outside as well? The trouble today is that there is too much play. Everything is too easy. It is the same as in the new automobiles with their power steering and power everything. There is little left for the driver to do."

"There is plenty of time in life to play and also to work. In the old country, we managed it. We worked six days a week. And on the seventh day, we had to make an accounting of what we had accomplished the other six."

These comments helped to explain why the violin virtuoso is undertaking to teach his ideas of discipline and technique to a class of students for the first time in his life. From October to January, he will have twice-weekly sessions with eight young violinists and 10 auditors in the extension division of UCLA.

"There will be no curricula, no grades or anything like that," Heifetz explained at his hilltop home in Beverly Hills. "I will simply try to tell the students the tricks and methods I have learned over the years."

"They will all be advanced students and even the auditors must be players. I wouldn't have the patience to teach beginners. I have done some coaching with individual players in the past and have found the experience gratifying. This is the first time that I have undertaken a class. I guess it is because of my old teacher. Once he pointed at me and said, 'You were meant to teach. I suppose I am obeying him now.'"

Heifetz was earnest about the role of art in the world today. "The government is finally realizing the power that artists can have in making friends for our country abroad," he said. "Art speaks for itself; if it is good, it is internationally recognized."

"But merely sending our artists to foreign countries is only the first step. More needs to be done. There is a head in the government for everything else — there should be one for art."

"The government must take steps to help and encourage artists. Look what happened in the days of the WPA or WAP or whatever it was. Then the government stepped in to support artists who could not make a living. They were able to continue writing, painting and playing music. And what a rich outpouring of art resulted because of it!"

House Vet Nears Republican Nod

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Rep. Wint Smith, a veteran of almost 12 years in the U.S. House, apparently has won by 41 votes the Republican nomination for a seventh term.

Complete but unofficial returns from all 551 precincts in Kansas' 6th Dist. gave Smith 12,007 votes to 11,966 for Keith Sebelius, a Norton lawyer. The third man in the race, Joe Gunnels of Colby, got only 2,759 votes in Tuesday's primary.

Final outcome of the race awaits the official canvass and next Tuesday's counting of in-state absentee ballots.

The winner will face Democrat Elmo Mahoney of Dorrance, who twice has lost to Rep. Smith.

Tractor-Trailer Crushes Boy, 10

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Flores R. Torres, 10, asked his father for permission to skip lunch yesterday and buy ice cream instead.

His father reproved him gently. But the boy, who had just recovered from a kidney ailment, was glib and, the older Torres gave in grudgingly.

"This is the last time I'm going to give you for ice cream," he said.

Flores, knowing that his father was not serious, rode off happily on his bike.

Twenty minutes later he was dead, crushed under the rear wheels of a tractor-trailer.

Police who found the boy said he still had the dime clutched tightly in his hand.

Actress Asks Spouse Jailed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former actress Tita Purdom wants her ex-husband, actor Edmund Purdom, jailed. She says he's $24,000 behind in alimony payments and she is destitute.

In an affidavit filed yesterday supporting her charge, she said Purdom has lavished money on other women since their divorce in 1956, but paid only sporadically the $1,050 a month ordered for alimony and child support payments.

Among the other women, Mrs. Purdom named actress Linda Christian, and said Purdom secretly married her in 1956. No such marriage has ever been publicly announced.

Mrs. Purdom said she knows of no divorce between Purdom and Miss Christian. Her affidavit said he has since married Alicia Darr who, Mrs. Purdom said, is "reputed to be a wealthy heiress." She said she understands Purdom and Miss Darr now are separated.

Mrs. Purdom said she is so poor she and her three children have been evicted eight times in a year for nonpayment of rent.
