Idaho sweeps into the third round of Babe Ruth Regional Championship play, which began at 2 p.m. today at Gem Stadium, the number one team after winning a 5-4 victory over Klamath Falls Thursday night in what was the most thrilling and, for at least six innings, the best ball game of the tournament to date.

Joining Idaho in the unbeaten class is South King County, the Washington representative, who, after drawing a bye in the opening round upset favored Oregon, 10-6, in the second game on Thursday's schedule.

Wyoming goes into the third round wearing a 1-0, 1-0 record after overcoming a 10-run deficit to blast luckless Montana out of the tournament with a 17-11 victory in Thursday's opening game.

Today's opener pits Wyoming against British Columbia at 2 p.m. British Columbia drew a bye in the second round and lost their first outing in Oregon.

Tonight at 7 o'clock, Klamath Falls gets a chance to get back into contention as they come up against Oregon, who has also won one and lost one. The feature game of the third round will see Idaho and Washington lock horns at 9 p.m. in the first-place tie-breaking contest.

Idaho Edges KF

Approximately 800 fans never gave a thought to going home Thursday night until the last man was finally out and Idaho had slipped by Klamath Falls 5-4, in what was easily the most exciting and probably the best ball game of the Babe Ruth tourney to this point.

Klamath Falls entered the last half of the last inning on the short end of a 5-1 count and then walked through three Idaho hurlers who seemingly could throw nothing but balls to bring the game to within just one more ball of being all tied up.

The needed ball never came. The fifth pitcher to face the KF batters, Gary Amos, who spent the biggest part of the contest playing first base, threw three straight balls to Rod Sparlin—and followed them with three—straight strikes to see Sparlin go down with the bat on his shoulder for the third and final out.

Idaho broke into the score column first as they grabbed a 1-0 lead in the top of the fourth. Klamath knotted the count in the last of the sixth as Idaho winning pitcher Aaron Spurway walked in a run.

In the top of the seventh the roof caved in on the Klamath nine as Idaho swung into the commanding 5-1 bulge on three singles, two walks, a hit batter and an error. At this point they seemed fairly safe—it didn't last how- ever.

Idaho's miseries started early in the last half of the seventh as three straight walks followed the sacks with Klamath players. Barclay Poole, Idaho rightfielder, was called to the mound to relieve Spurway and quickly picked up a pair of outs. Poole ran into walk trouble then, and moved a run home as he threw a batch of bad balls. Amos entered a hot and promptly issued two more free passes which brought the score to 5-4, and Sparlin to the plate. Three straight balls — three straight strikes and the ball game went into the record books.

The winner, Spurway, won his own game in the top of the seventh as he poled a single through second base that scored the last two Idaho runs. Spurway entered the game in the sixth stanza after coming to the aid of Idaho starter, John Wollaston, who had walked four in a row to tie the score, one-all. Wollaston gave up the only three KF hits.

The losing pitcher, Klamath starter Gary Beber, worked 6 2/3 innings giving up only four hits, walking 10 and striking out six. His relief, Bert Allbritton, gave up one hit and walked one while putting out the Idaho fire.

Dave Saks, who was reliever of 17th after injuring his knee: Rich Dewey, the K Falls centerfielder, and shortstop Sherm Allen, collected the only Klamath hits, all singles.

Leading the Idaho hitters was Spurway, who notched a pair of singles; Jack Morbeck, the first Idaho relief pitcher, Dale DeJani- vich and Amos each added a single to round out the Idaho hitting.

Saks knee injury was reported serious enough that it may keep him from playing in tonight's Klamath-Oregon game. The sturdy catcher was a defensive star in the Idaho game—he figured in one double-play and picked a runner off second and third before having to leave the diamond.

Think of a 20-game winner and the name of Warren Spahn pops to mind.

The Milwaukee left-hander, now 37, is heading toward the 20-mark for the ninth time. If he makes it he will set a modern major league record for left-handers.

He is tied with Lefty Grove of the old Philadelphia A's among the southpaws. He still is way behind the top right-handers. Cy Young won 20 or more 16 times over 50 years ago. Christy Mathewson did it 13 times and Walter Johnson 12.

At the rate Spahn is going he will have no trouble making the grade for the third straight year. A three-run rally against Bob Friend in the seventh inning gave Milwaukee a 3-2 decision over Pittsburgh yesterday. Spahn scattered seven hits for his 15th victory.

The Braves pulled out seven full games in front of the San Francisco Giants, who lost 12-1 to the St. Louis Cardinals and Sam Jones.

Philadelphia climbed into fourth by shading Cincinnati 3-2 behind Don Cardwell. Dave Phillips' sacrifice fly broke a 2-2 tie in the eighth to beat Bob Purkey.

Johnny Klippstein saved Sandy Koufax in the ninth inning to protect a 3-1 Los Angeles victory over the Chicago Cubs.

In the only American League game, the Boston Red Sox walloped Washington 8-4.

BLOCKED OUT OF PLAY — Oregon catcher Paul Jackson sails off his feet during Thursday night's game with Washington in the Northwest Regional Babe Ruth League Tournament at Gem Stadium. Sliding into Jackson on a play at home is Washington shortstop Tom Adams who scored on Les Kero's two-run single. Washington meets Idaho in the featured game of Friday night's schedule.

Seattle Hosts Speedboaters 'World Series' This Sunday

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — It's "World Series" time in Seattle! For hundreds of miles around the hydroplane racing fans have jammed the city for the annual "Seafair" — and the climax on Sunday, the Gold Cup Race on Lake Washington.

Hotels are full, airlines, buses and railroads are doing sell-out business, hawkers along the lake have set up soft-drink stands and a general air of fiesta time has taken over the city.

"The town goes nuts every year at this time," said one local shopkeeper as he stood in his doorway and watched a gun-shooting, horn-bonking, hand-playing parade whip by with a siren-blowing police escort.

Gar Wood, a greying old-timer now, but one of the greats of early-day racing, was amazed at the interest in boat racing in this capital of the Northwest.

"Never saw anything like it," said the Detroit man who put boat racing into the big time. "And the way they handle the Gold Cup preparations is wonderful."

The press set-up for this event, for instance, would do credit to baseball's World Series—and the coverage isn't far short of that.

The local TV stations have elaborate lay-outs, and the local newspapers assign many writers and columnists to do daily pieces.

Thursday morning, after Herb Elliott had run that fantastic world record in the mile—a feat that surely must have been bannered on the nearly every sports page in the world—the Seattle newspapers and rightfully, too. Because on every tongue, in every mind, the thinking is hydroplanes.

Ten-year-old youngsters here know all about "rooster tails," "stack fires," and other terms common only in the racing set.

The local heroes aren't Stan Musial, Ted Williams or Bill Muncy and Bill Stead, the kids stand around for hours waiting to get an autograph—and one Slovak signature is worth at least six by Pete Rademacher or Floyd Patterson, the men who fought for the world's heavyweight championship here last year.

It's the big day of the year for Seattle—and the Northwest.

by cutting down the excess deer which were overgrazing the feeding areas.

The picture thus far is a little muddled. Statements on how good the season's opening days have been range from "horrible" to "the best in years."

Ben Glading, head of the department's Game Management Branch, told United Press International that the take is down north of the bay area but normal in southern counties. Hunting in 29 counties opened the coastal season last Saturday morning. The next season is the inland hunt, Sept. 20-Oct. 26.

Glading said department tabulations for the first week show 2,500 deer killed this year compared with 3,000 a year ago. The major reason is lack of effort due to hot, dry weather.

As for the deer, "there are plenty of them," Glading said. The Shasta-Cascade Wonderland Association, with headquarters in Redding, agreed with Glading. This Northern California group predicted the success ratio will be up—better than the past three years.

OSC Garners Track Stars

CORVALLIS (AP) — Oregon State College will have six top prep track and field stars on its squad this fall, according to track coach Sam Bell.

Bell said the athletes include Dale Drake of North Salem, anchor man of the 440 relay team, which set a new Oregon A-1 record last spring; Marvin Tyler of Lakeview, who set a record in the 100-yard dash at the last state A-2 meet; Vern Lovelace of Monmouth Independent, A-2 winner in broad jump and high hurdles, and Gary Stenlund, a top javelin thrower from Douglas High in Portland.

In addition, Bell said Claude Mileyan of Dallas and 880-star Clyde Laird of Martinez, Calif., also will enroll at OSC.

Archie Oldham, Columbia's basketball coach, is 6-foot-7. Lon Crew Coach Don Rose is 5-foot-2.

WINNER'S SMILES — These three youths from Washington's state championship Babe Ruth League play were all smiles after winning their first game in the Northwest Regional Tournament night in progress at Gem Stadium. Washington defeated Oregon 10-5 in a Thursday night game and will meet Idaho Friday evening. Above, left to right, are outfielder Sammy Hicks, catcher Jack Hanson and pitcher Les Kero.
