

Jane Tingley Weds Jack Wiley in S. F. Ceremony, July 12

Jane Marie Tingley of Klamath Falls and Jack Morgan Wiley of South San Francisco repeated their nuptial vows on July 12 in an afternoon ceremony in the Glendale Memorial Temple in San Francisco. Jane is the daughter of Mrs. W. I. Tingley, 1015 Pacific Terrace, and Jack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wiley, 127 Claremont, South San Francisco.

A large bouquet of white flowers flanked with white candles formed a background for the 4 o'clock ceremony at which the Rev. J. S. Bellinger officiated.

The vibrant brunette bride chose a ballerina length dress of rose-point lace over white satin, styled with a scoop neck, basque waistline and long sleeves. A shell cap of pearl bands held her chapel length circular veil in place. Jane carried an orchid centered on a white Bible, which was a gift to her from the matron of honor. Her jewelry, a pearl choker, was a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. Jerry K. Loeffler, Concord, California, was matron of honor. Her gown was white lace over powder blue taffeta with a powder blue cummerbund and bow detail at the back. She wore a light blue band hat and carried blue and white flowers.

As best man, Jack had chosen his brother, Gerald A. Wiley, of South San Francisco, and Vincent E. Rigoni performed the ushering duties.

Mrs. Tingley, mother of the bride, chose a navy blue sheer wool and taffeta gown, and Mrs. Wiley, mother of the bridegroom, wore a dark print dress with a velvet hat. Both of the mothers wore corsages of white carnations and roses.

A buffet supper was served in the church parlors. Mrs. H. J. Scott and Mrs. Elsie McKnee served the cake, and Mrs. L. D. Gass, Klamath Falls, and Mrs. Frances Sample of Menlo Park, a former Klamath Falls resident, were at the coffee service. Diane Binkley and Mrs. Lou Gerard registered the guests. Lillian Deveni was at the punch bowl.

When the new Mr. and Mrs. Wiley left on their wedding trip to Carmel, the bride changed to a light blue suit, made of soft wool with a dropped waist effect, with which she wore the same shade of blue feather band as a hat. Her accessories were navy blue and she wore the white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of KUHS and the University of Oregon where she was a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. The bridegroom graduated from high school in San Francisco and attended San Francisco City College.

The young couple are now at home at 1265 Oak Grove, Burlingame, California.

Several pre-nuptial parties were given in Klamath Falls for Jane. Mrs. L. D. Gass, who was a guest at the wedding, and Mrs. McLaughlin entertained with a miscellaneous shower at the Gass residence, and Mrs. R. E. Hooker and Mrs. Ted Gordon feted Jane with a luncheon at the Pelican Party Room. A brunch was enjoyed at the home of Mrs. H. E. Perkins with Mrs. Perkins, Mrs. Ted Gordon, Mrs. E. A. Thomas and Mrs. F. B. Southwell as hostesses. Mrs. Paul Landry entertained Jane and her mother and friends at an informal coffee.

The bridal party, parents and close friends dined at the Treasure Island Officers Club, San Francisco, the night before the wedding.

"THE BARD AT ASHLAND," is the title of this view of the Shakespearean Theater at Ashland, one of two by Robert Banister, former art director in Klamath Union High School, published in the August issue of Ford Times, popular pocket-sized magazine published by the Ford Motor Company. The picture illustrates an article on the Shakespearean Festival, written by Marvin Rosenberg. The magazine is distributed by Ford dealers from coast to coast.

DeVore-Keady Rites, July 29

Mrs. Eli Smith of Klamath Falls has announced the marriage of her daughter, Sylvia Keady, to Dale DeVore, of Anaheim, California. The nuptials took place on July 29 in the Gretna Green Chapel, Las Vegas.

The new Mrs. DeVore is a graduate of Henley High School, class of 1950 and of Southern Oregon College. She has been teaching since receiving her degree, in San Juan Capistrano, and with her husband has been employed this summer in Disneyland. Mrs. DeVore is the granddaughter of Mrs. George Boyd, this city.

The young couple will make their home in Anaheim where the bridegroom is employed.

A July 19 five o'clock, candlelight ceremony in the First Methodist Church of Klamath Falls, united two Southern Oregon families when Sharon Theresa Jackson of Klamath Falls exchanged wedding vows with Gerald Riley of Springfield.

The petite, blonde bride is the daughter of Mrs. Gracie W. Sanders, 2031 Manzanita Street. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald W. Riley, Springfield.

The double ring service was read by Dr. Dallas S. McNeil, in the presence of many relatives and friends of the young couple.

Sharon, in the absence of her stepfather, Gracie Sanders, was escorted to the altar by her maternal uncle, Warren Mason of this city.

Her ballerina-length net and lace gown was made with off shoulder bodice of the lace with deep vee neckline and tiny cap sleeves. The swirling skirt of net fell from the dropped torso of the lace. With it, she wore matching mitts of the lace. A double tulle veil, fingertip length was held by a tiny pearl-trimmed hat. Her flowers were white carnations and pink rosebuds arranged with loops and streamers of white satin ribbon.

Naoma Sanders, Sharon's step-sister was maid of honor. She was gowned in a blue and white print taffeta with draped cowl neckline of the solid blue. Her flowers were pink carnations.

Junior attendant was Sandra McNeil who wore a fluffly pink nylon dress and carried a white basket of pink rose petals to scatter up the aisle.

Brian Riley was best man for his brother. A second brother, Dennis ushered the guests to their seats.

Preceding the nuptials, Mrs. Arthur Denison at the organ, played incidental wedding music and the traditional march for the bridal party. Mrs. Boyd sang "O Promise Me," before the ceremony and the "Wedding Prayer," during the exchange of vows.

Beauty baskets of pink and white gladioli, tied with rose pink satin ribbons and many tall, lighted white tapers were on the altar.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Riley received in the parlors of the church.

The bride's table was covered with a hand-painted Irish linen cloth, exact replica of one owned by Queen Mother Elizabeth of England, former home of the bride's maternal grandparents, Mrs. Theresa Teare and the late Mr. Teare of Klamath County.

The wedding cake, a three-tiered confection with pink rosebud trim, was encircled with a frill of net about the base and topped with a heart and tiny bride and groom.

The cake was cut by Sharon and Gerald in traditional fashion, then served by Mrs. Frank Marks and Mrs. Vernon Karnes. Mrs. Charlotte Martin was at the coffee urn. Punch was served by Mrs. Dean Howell and Mrs. Frank McCornack. Marilyn Mason, cousin of the bride was in charge of the guest book.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Sanders wore a pink frock made with straight lines, enhanced at the neck and right hipline with a beaded motif. With it she wore a white hat and white accessories and pink rosebuds in a deeper shade at the shoulder.

Mrs. Riley, mother of Gerald, chose navy lace. Her flowers were also pink roses.

Also present for the ceremony and the reception were Mrs. Theresa Teare, maternal grandmother of the bride and grandparent of the bridegroom, Mrs. Gladys Henry and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey L. Hilton, Springfield, Oregon.

For her wedding trip to the Rogue River, Mrs. Riley wore a white summer knit with the flowers from her wedding bouquet at her shoulder.

Gerald, who graduated from Oregon Technical Institute in the field of surveying technology this year, has taken his bride to Bend to make their home. Sharon also attended OTI, studying commercial art. She graduated from Klamath Union High School with the class of 1957.

Wedge-shaped knives that have one serrated edge are excellent to use both for cutting pie and cake; they are particularly useful in serving sponge-type cakes when a sawing motion is used after the serrated edge is inserted part way.
