

LEATHER ON THE CAMPUS — tops with collegiates and teens are the soft, grain-leather jackets styled in easy relaxed lines. Hers is butter-smooth all-leather with hip side tabs. His has bulky wool collar and sleeves in the newest car coat fashion.

WELL-SHOED — that's a MUST for the well-dressed collegiate. The varied leather wardrobe includes a one-eyelet deep russet oxford, polished black leather slip-in with cross straps at vamp, and a five-eyelet cordovan oxford with thick leather soles.

READY FOR ACTION, this teen-ager has plenty of freedom in this springy wool fleece outercoat with quilted lining. The knit cap comes with the coat, striped to match knit collar. It's made to "take it."

SET TO WASH EASILY — and both sweaters dry quickly and never need blocking either. The V-neck slip-on and matching karakhan are in cozy, comfortable "Ban-Lon." Choice of white, light blue, navy, red and beige.

TRAPEZE COATS — The trapeze has been embraced as an ideal line for children's coats—molded through the shoulders, swinging free from under the arms. Bright colors and fabrics with surface texture further the fall fashion story for coats.

DEFECTIVE HEARING — It is estimated that more than 3,000,000 children in the U.S. have some defect in their hearing. A majority of these same children have some eyesight problems. Glasses with hearing aids "invisible" at the fall fashion story for children.
