

MANY THINGS CONTRIBUTE TO SCHOOL EXCITEMENT

'Hep' Teens Like To Be Seen With New And Novel Accessories

Accessories for the back-to-school crowd point-up a fun mood touched with a bit of nostalgia for an earlier era.

Reminiscent of days gone by is the long stocking look of stretch tights worn "neat dresses and skirts. Dark-hued or bright, these have a decided "turn of the century" look.

More and more dark-toned, bulky knit socks will climb to the knee to show off low-flounced dresses, chemiserie and middy types. Many of them will be striped or circular, others will have clocks and novelty ribbing.

Deep-crowned hats, like big sisters' "wig" caps and "flapperish" headbands will tickle the teens' fancy, too.

Prissy white collars, cuffs too, will spark dark-toned chemiserie styled apparel.

The teen tribe will stock-up on good-looking, "gooped-up" bill-folds and clouch purses... will "jangle, jangle along" with dangle type bracelets... wear a discreet pearl, heart or other charm at her throat and have lots of scarves to top her sweaters, flaunt at a pocket or cover her head.

Of course all types of pavers will be pets of the teen sets for after-school and relaxin'.

They'll go for the new "knickpedal look, the traditional capri, bermudas and of course western-styled blue jeans will continue to be "de rigeur" in various parts of the country.

Choosing jewelry for back-to-school wear with planning and forethought will readily attest to the smart student's "high fashion" I.Q. the Fashion Coordination Institute declares.

There are certain jewelry "basics" everyone should own. Simple earrings, both button and drop, a classic pearl necklace, and several tailored as well as more ornate pins make an ideal jewelry "starter".

Pins can be used to dress up a costume in many ways. Fastened on a hair ribbon or bow for daytime, they add interest to a plain sweater and skirt outfit.

Longer rope necklaces and chains can be flatteringly draped to fit a neckline by fastening them to one side with a colorful pin, or individualized "pendant" effects can be made by fastening a large pin to a rope or chain at the bustline.

Pack Them Off to School With Quality Luggage

Few other necessities on a student's "needed" list for college last as long or add to prestige as good luggage.

In many dormitories, students practically live out of a suitcase or trunk; frequent visits home or overnight jaunts make luggage bought for student use an investment which should be carefully considered.

Boys most frequently come out on the short end of things when well-meaning friends and relatives present them with family discards — and too often the unmatched, defunct cases are actually designed to be used by a woman. The average fellow with an eye towards being in fashion will want a masculine-styled suitcase and companion for accessories.

A brief case or attache case will carry papers as well as a change of linen for an overnight trip. Popular colors are ginger and sun tan, in that order.

A girl needs a basic set which may begin with either a pullman or hanger (wardrobe) case, depending on her packing preferences. A train box or fitted case for cosmetics, and a weekender bag to match will see her through most of her travels.

Also useful are hat-and-shoe cases or separate bags for each, and the all-purpose duffel bag which doubles for sports.

Fashion-wise, there is an almost unlimited choice of color, material and style from which to choose. Gay plaids, eye-catching stripes, or elegant solid tones are available.

For life, choose carefully constructed luggage — important details such as firmly attached handles, smooth lining and neat stitching usually indicate a well-made case.

For expensive luggage which will take more than the average number of trips, luggage covers will help preserve the finish.

PRETTY DATE BAIT—teen-agers dress-up in printed challis of 85% wool that stays fresh as a daisy all day long. It can be washed and ironed in the twinkling of an eye; never shrinks.

AWAY SHE GOES, carrying her new school bag. The handsome two-tone case, in washable leather, features turn-buckle locks and a zippered pocket in the flap. Expanding side gussets accommodate additional items.

THE LASS WITH A CASUAL AIR—Here's the way to loaf or study on campus this fall! These separates add up to: washable, flannel-walker "sumatra"-length shorts, knee-high socks on top, a cross-collared shirt. The outfit is made with a wool-
