

LITTLE ANITA BOKVIST is the daughter of Curt and Melitta, who will appear twice in Tuesday and Wednesday's 10th annual Shrine Circus, first as Melitta and Winons in perch-pole act, and later on as the Sikorskis in a spectacular exhibition of aerial teeth suspension. The Masonic room where Champeog Lodge No. 2 of the Oregon Territory met for many years is restored but the furniture and the cases to be used for historic pictures, documents, lodge paraphernalia and emblems of early Oregon Masonry must be provided before the museum can be opened.

One large room is to be used for the display of the collection of dresses and wearing apparel of the wives of the governors of Oregon.

The committee also plans a room for the display of fine Indian collections.

It is hoped the work can be completed in time for opening of the Oregon Centennial in Portland in 1959.

John Parsons said he was working in a field and recalled that he hadn't seen Delamar since the previous day. He investigated and found Delamar lying unconscious on the floor of his trailer.

An ambulance moved him to the hospital. Doctors said the cause of death was bronchial pneumonia. Delamar was born May 7, 1885, in South Dakota and came to Butte Valley in 1928.

Juvenile Home Funds Needed

YREKA — Jess D. Brewer, new Siskiyou County probation officer, has stressed the need for funds being placed in the next county budget for a juvenile detention home to avoid holding a juvenile in a cell in the county jail. He appeared on August 5 before the Siskiyou County Board of Supervisors with the request which is backed up, he declared, by Sheriff Al Coffar.

The sheriff's office had agreed, Brewer said, not to hold any child under 10 years in the local jail.

Brewer, 32, a former All American basketball player, was formerly with the Adjuv Probation Department of Stanislaus County. He is a graduate of Pepperdine College, Los Angeles, and replaces Lester Newton who resigned the post to become superintendent of the Montague Elementary School District.

The two-story house is now completed and has been papered with wallpaper of the period, and the committee is now receiving period furniture for the first floor. The upper floor of the house is to be used entirely as a museum.

The Masonic room where Champeog Lodge No. 2 of the Oregon Territory met for many years is restored but the furniture and the cases to be used for historic pictures, documents, lodge paraphernalia and emblems of early Oregon Masonry must be provided before the museum can be opened.

Western Capitals Hail Dramatic Voyage Of Sub; Kremlin Remains Silent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The dramatic voyage under the polar ice cap by the atomic submarine Nautilus was hailed Saturday in Western capitals as a momentous achievement opening new vistas for both war and peace.

But there were a few barbed comments. Both at home and abroad—mainly directed at the White House.

Although Russia remained conspicuously silent, the Nautilus' cruise got top billing in some Communist newspapers in Western Europe.

On Capitol Hill, several legislators called the feat an answer to Russia's Sputniks.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland of California hailed the news as an example to the world for "not selling America short."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) of the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee said "both the military and peaceful applications of this voyage are enormous. It opens up waters adjacent to all of the land mass of Asia, Europe and North America."

Some legislators coupled praise of the voyage with criticism of the Eisenhower administration for not inviting Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover to the White House ceremonies where the Nautilus exploit was announced.

"It looks as though they left out the man who was mostly responsible," Rep. Carl Durham (D-NC) said in reference to Rickover, who is credited with doing the pioneer spacework for development of nuclear subs.

Rep. Melvin Price (D-Ill.), another member of the joint atomic committee, said the White House ceremonies appeared to be "a publicity buildup to make it appear they are interested in science." He noted that President Eisenhower last week "criticized the addition of research funds by Congress to the atomic authorization bill."

In London, the British Admiralty sent Washington congratulations "on the Nautilus' remarkable and historic achievement."

One British naval source said the voyage "means that atomic-driven submarines could launch attacks on the northern shores of the Soviet Union."

London's morning newspapers gave the story front page play. "The American answer to the Soviet Sputnik," said the Conservative Daily Telegraph.

In a page one editorial, the Laborite Daily Herald said, "We salute this American triumph, one of the world's most fantastic adventures..."

London's Communist Daily Worker gave the story page one treatment but did not comment editorially.

In Paris, the Communist L'Humanite gave the Nautilus a prominent place on page one, but said editorially:

"It (the voyage) happened several days before the opening of a historic session of the United Nations as if to recall that American research is in no way oriented toward pacific realizations."

Forest Rangers Transfer Slated

YREKA — Two Klamath National Forest rangers will be transferred out of this area this week, according to Charles Yates, supervisor.

John Hall, who has been with the Yreka district since April, 1948, will be promoted to the timber management staff on the Tahoe National Forest, with headquarters in Nevada City, effective August 15.

William Settle, who came to the Salmon River district in November, 1956, is being promoted to the timber management staff on the Shasta - Trinity National Forest, Redding, effective on August 13.

Dorris Man Bags Belgian Hares

DORRIS — Three dozen Belgian hares were brought back last week by Bill Crites from his vacation at Friday Harbor in San Juan Island near Seattle. He visited his brother, Charles L. Crites, USA, retired, who operates a tree farm in that area.

Crites said there is no bag limit on the rabbits nor is a special license required for hunting them. The hare population is said to be the result of turning loose rabbits from a commercial operation which went out of business a few years ago.

Mrs. Crites, with the assistance of two local boys, Bryan Wilson and Donald Smith, operated Crites' Flying A Service Station during his absence.

Council Sets Day To Count Ballots

YREKA — The city council has set Tuesday, August 12, as the date to canvass ballots from the water bond election held on August 5.

At last week's meeting, the council adopted an ordinance approving the annexation of 30 acres north of Yreka, known as Yreka Addition No. 2. Annexation of areas to the south and west will be voted on later.

Mayor Jim Cummings signed a proclamation designating August 11-17 as Siskiyou County Fair Week and urging all residents to don appropriate Western attire.

City Attorney Joe Cornein cautioned the city council regarding the city's liability in allowing the old Yreka Grammar School on Fourth Street to remain open and permitting its use by youth groups. He warned that the California Health and Safety Code must be complied with in the use of all buildings for public purposes.

Caution Urged By Fire Officer

LAKEVIEW — Jack L. Groom, fire control officer for the Fremont National Forest, urges that extreme caution be used by those persons using the forest areas because of increased fire danger resulting from recent hot, dry weather and strong afternoon winds.

A total of 79 fires has been reported this season on the Fremont, but prompt action has kept the acreage concerned to a minimum. Five of the fires were man-caused and 74 were started by lightning.

Observation on the lighting fires was facilitated by the manning of extra lookout stations and the use of air observers in patrolling the forest.

Lake County Wars Porkys

LAKEVIEW — War on porcupines in Lake County has been started with the announcement that three timber companies and the county have pledged funds to pay a bounty on the tree-destroying rodents.

Cooperating with amounts of $1,000 each are the Fremont Lumber Company, Warner Mountain Lumber Company, Weyerhaeuser Timber Company and Lake County. A bounty of 50 cents on each porcupine nose will be paid.

Administration of the fund will be through the office of the county clerk where the snouts should be turned in for payment. Fremont National Forest personnel are not permitted to take part in the collection of bounty but will continue the usual forest service porcupine control, which nets approximately 4,000 a year.

The three companies furnishing funds have timber stands in Lake County and also depend upon national forest timber for their operations. The county also owns timber and, as a whole, is largely dependent on incomes and payrolls from the timber industry.

With Klamath County working on a bounty program during the past two years, an effort will be made to have Modoc County cooperate in the program.

District Given $157,773 In Aid

The South Suburban Sanitary District has been awarded $157,773 by the Oregon Sanitary Authority for assistance in construction of its sewage disposal program.

The money is federal assistance funds, and will be employed by the Suburban District in building its sewage plant. The construction is now underway by the Lee Hoffman Company of Beaverton at a contract price of $1,615,672.

Completion date for the system has been tentatively set for September, 1959.

Meanwhile, the Portland announcement of the money grant stated that fund requests from Lakeview, Eugene, Ashland, Ontario, Prineville and Hood River had been turned down.

The biggest sum of the over $1 million total was $518,592 appropriated for the joint Washington, Multnomah and Clackamas County sewer programs.
