Campus Styles—

by Allyn Rice

TOP COATS, sweaters, and long-sleeved dresses seem a long way off in mid-August, but young folk preparing for their return to college are doing some foresighted wardrobe planning. Car and trench coats are still going strong, and the shift-look (not shiftless, we hope) seems here to stay a while. Waistlines are down as skirts keep climbing—knee-short for some, but preference in these quarters is for the more flattering mid-calf length or a wee-bit higher.
