

Agricultural Produce Fills Exhibit Building Of Fair

YREKA—The exhibit building at the Siskiyou County Fairgrounds will be loaded, come fair time, with all conceivable manner of agricultural produce.

There will be 25 booths representing communities in all its phases; Two classes will be featured in exhibit booths, one to display the variety of agriculture products as raised in Siskiyou County by the Pomona Grange, No. 6, the second classification will include an agricultural product from its start to finish. This second classification has three entries, Yreka Chamber of Commerce, sponsored by the city of Yreka; Episcopus Sigma Alpha, sponsored by the city of Montague; and the Siskiyou County Cow Belles, sponsored by the Siskiyou County Cattlemen's Association.

Three of the Farm Women's organizations will each have a booth. The groups to show are the Shasta Valley Farm Bureau Women; Big Springs Home Demonstration Department, and the Edgewood Farm Bureau Women's Exhibit.

Four granges will each have booths in the variety feature classification, they are Mt. Bolivar Grange; Scott Valley Grange No. 286; Hornbrook Grange No. 291; and Greenhorn Grange.

In the junior department, there will be feature exhibit booths by four Future Farmers of America clubs; eight 4-H clubs and two Future Homemakers of America clubs. These various clubs will show their achievements or results of their projects of the past year, and the entry list is the largest on record. The Anderson, Yreka, Tulelake and Etna FFA chapters will be represented with their individual ideas. The Table Rock, Quartz Valley, Big Springs and Greenhorn 4-H clubs will carry out the agricultural theme, while Etna, Fort Jones, Grenada and Strawberry Valley will show home economics or other 4-H activities. Skipper Cuts Trim Figure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cmdr. William R. Anderson, skipper of the Nautilus on its historic voyage under the North Pole, cut a trim figure in summer khakis and close-cut navy black hair at the White House Friday when the Nautilus' achievement was announced.

President Eisenhower pinned to his already-clustered tunic the Legion of Merit, one of the highest military decorations the nation can bestow.

Anderson, who was born in Bakersville, Tenn., on June 17, 1921, is married to the former Yvonne Etzel of Newark, Del. They have two sons, Michael D. and William R. Jr.

A graduate of Annapolis, he took advance training at the Navy's submarine school in New London, Conn., before joining the battle of the Pacific aboard the submarine Tarpon.

As deck battle officer of the Tarpon from October, 1942, until the following June, he earned a letter of commendation for his "skillful navigation" during attacks on Japanese shipping.

Later, as engineer and diving officer aboard the submarine Trutta, he won the Bronze Star "for meritorious service . . . and invaluable assistance to his commanding officer." The Trutta sank 17 small cargo-carrying craft totalling over 4,000 tons and rescued a downed American flier.

He also served aboard the submarines Narwhal, Sarda and Tang before becoming commanding officer of the Wahoo which saw service in the Korean War.

Anderson took command of the Nautilus on June 17, 1957 after another stint at the submarine school and at the Atomic Energy Commission's reactor development division in Washington.

Lightning destroys about 20 million dollars worth of property every year in the United States. It also takes about 500 lives.

Medico Okays Pole-Sitter

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dr. Emmett Davis, a troop carrier pilot in World War II, climbed to the top of a 65-foot pole Friday to examine pole-sitter Paul Hatfield.

The 38-year-old doctor paused after climbing about 25 feet and did some deep breathing with his eyes shut. He paused again just beneath the 6-by-4-foot platform holding Hatfield, apparently having some difficulty maneuvering around the pole and across the struts supporting the platform.

On returning to street level, Dr. Davis reported his 23-year-old patient to be "sound of body and mind" after his first week atop the pole.

Hatfield hopes to break the world pole-sitting record of 169 days set in 1955 by a Tacoma Park, Wash., woman.
