

Over the GARDEN GATE

MERRILL
By Ruth Harris

MERRILL—Results of the flower show sponsored by the Merrill Lost River Garden Club on Friday, August 8, have been announced by Mrs. Don West, flower show general chairman.

All horticulture and decorative class entries were displayed in various store windows in Merrill following the morning judging. Show judges were Mrs. Earl McFall, Mrs. Chester Main, Mrs. Will Blackman and Mrs. Theodore Fish. Theme for this year's show was PFENNIGS FROM HEAVEN—Lucky coins weigh down the table in front of Josefa Nemej in Munich, W. Germany. Following an old custom of collecting pennings to buy her wedding shoes, Josefa saved 4,338 of the coins—each worth one-quarter of a U.S. penny—during her 18-month engagement. At first count, anyway.

Newswoman Dead At 85

NEW YORK (AP)—Nellie Revell, noted newspaper woman, author, and theatrical press agent who once was termed the nation's most famous invalid, is dead at 85.

Miss Revell died Tuesday at University Hospital. Final rites will be held at Springfield, Ill., where she had her first newspaper job on the old Illinois Republican, edited and published by her father.

A native of Riverton, Ill., Miss Revell left her father's employ to work on newspapers from coast to coast.

In the early 1920s she was hospitalized with a severe spinal illness. Bedridden for several years in St. Vincent's Hospital here, she wrote two books: "Right Off the Chest" and "Fightin' Through."

When she emerged from the hospital, confined to a wheel chair about 1,200 celebrities gave her a coming out party. The master of ceremonies was Eddie Cantor.

Miss Revell was one of the first women to cover a prize fight. Jim Corbett objected to her plan to attend his fight with Bob Fitzsimmons.

Miss Revell told Corbett: "If I don't come, neither will Fitzsimmons. I don't think he has to anyway. He could lick you by mail."

Corbett, amused, invited her to the fight. Fitzsimmons won.

From 1930 to 1947 Miss Revell conducted a radio program in New York in which she interviewed hundreds of celebrities.

During 1957, Canada produced about 360 million pounds of nickel, or approximately 75 per cent of the free world's entire supply.
