

Champion Rules Big Choice Over Harris

LOS ANGELES (AP)—World Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson of New York puts his title on the line for the third time Monday night. He is a solid favorite to keep it, in 15 rounds or less, against Roy Harris of Cut and Shoot, Tex.

This is Los Angeles' first heavyweight title show in nearly two decades, and the prayerful hope is that it will be better and longer than the last one.

That was a night in April, 1939, when Joe Louis, furious over one punch, disposed of Jack Roper in two minutes 20 seconds of the first round.

The battle pit is the same, Wrigley Field, and just as then, fight fans will flock into the place aware that their stay may be short.

Promoter Bill Rosenshon, in his first venture in such a business, expects upward of 20,000.

Additional thousands will watch via closed theater television in 150 or more theaters around the nation.

There will be neither network TV nor radio broadcast.

The bout is slated for 8 p. m., Pacific Daylight Time.

Patterson, a 5-1 favorite from the start, won clear claim to the richest crown in boxing when he knocked out Archie Moore in Chicago Nov. 30, 1956, in five rounds.

Floyd was only 21, the youngest man ever to win the title.

Patterson's first defense was against Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson July 29, 1957, in New York. He sent the Hurricane down and into eventual retirement in 10 rounds.

Last Aug. 22, in Seattle, Patterson knocked out the ex-amateur champion, Pete Rademacher, in six rounds.

Now comes this one and the spotlight has centered on Harris, a unique figure. Harris, 25, is a school teacher, a college graduate and a lieutenant in the Army reserve. He speaks in a soft, Texas drawl. He neither drinks, smokes nor cusses.

Yet he was schooled for fighting in backyard brawls on the Harris farm in the big thicket country or east Texas. The community got its name because, say the natives, if a guy stood still long enough he'd get cut and if he ran he'd get shot.

As a professional fighter, Roy has won his first bout April 26, 1955, over Tommy Smith by a knockout in three rounds. He has since won 21 straight and has never been whipped.

Most of Roy's opponents are unknown but in his last three engagements he is outpointed, in order, Bob Baker, Willie Pastrano and Willie Besmanoff, all in 10-rounders.

Baker scored the only knockdown over Roy. Roy got up and won the round.

Harris, guaranteed $100,000 for this fight, stands a shade under 6 feet and figures to weigh about 192. Patterson is 6 feet and will weigh about 184.

Valdes was well ahead on points in the early rounds but tired noticeably and DeJohn came on in the middle rounds. Then under the urging of Gleason, Valdes shot the works in the ninth and tenth to grab the verdict by a single point.

Valdes, punishing DeJohn about the body from in close, hammered the Syracusean to the canvas twice, in the third and ninth, but failed to finish him off in the manner a ranking challenger should. Each time DeJohn scrambled to his feet and belabored the Cuban with a raking left hook.

The duties of Joe Peak who resigned after over 30 years of service to the local schools.

LaClair it seems started an Ashland boy on the road to track stardom. When Joe was coaching track at Ashland High School, he picked up a junior by the name of George Fullerton. In his senior year, Fullerton set a state high school record for the mile in 4:24.0. This standard stood until Cottage Grove star Dyrrol Burleson broke it this spring in a 4:18-plus time.

LaClair has been director of the school system's visual instruction department for several years. He participated in all sports at Southern Oregon College and played basketball and baseball at Oregon State where he finished up his college education. Afterwards he served as coach at Malin, Chiloquin and Ashland high schools and was the athletic director at Southern Oregon College following World War II.

He has been in the local school system for 12 years.

Jim Johnson, athletic director at KUHS, will assume Peak's high school PE and health duties along with his job of handling the high school athletic program.

The professional football season opened Friday night when the Detroit Lions were whipped by the College All-Stars in the annual newsboys charity game at Chicago. And more action was scheduled Saturday and this afternoon.

Of chief local interest will be the exhibition games scheduled for Los Angeles and San Francisco. At Los Angeles, the Rams met the Washington Redskins last night.

This afternoon, San Francisco plays the New York Giants (better known to Oregon residents as the Salem Giants).

Next Saturday evening in Portland, this corner hopes to join thousands of others in Portland's Multnomah Stadium to see the San Francisco 49ers and Washington Redskins tangle blocks and tackles. This is the only scheduled pro football in Portland this year.

Some good reserved seats are still available, but they are going fast. Tickets can be had from Oregon Sports Attractions in Portland for $4.

In the last four years, National Football League interest has grown by leaps and bounds. And 1958 promises to be another banner year for the pros. The NFL is trying to push baseball off the map as far as popularity with the fans is concerned and the pro cridders are doing a good job, although baseball must still be recognized as the national pastime.

Mae Sherwood filed suit against the Portland Beavers for $2,500. She said a baseball hit her in the face at a game in September, 1956.

BOSTON (AP)—Boston right-hander Tommy Brewer, subduing the Yankee hex on him, beat New York 7-4 Saturday on 8 hits including Mickey Mantle's 34th homer.

The Red Sox master of speed and control had a two-hit shutout until Mantle picked on a fat pitch and sent it into the right field seats. The blow, following Tony Kubek's leadoff walk in the sixth inning, put Mantle ahead in the American League home run derby.

The loss was the seventh in their last 10 starts for the runaway Yankee.

Outside the Mantle smash, New York could do little against the Cheraw, S. C., hurler until he weakened to yield two runs in the ninth.

The Yanks had beaten Brewer in 11 of his previous 13 lifetime decisions with the league champions.

Stagg Holds 96th Birthday

STOCKTON, Calif. (UPI)—Amos Alonzo Stagg, The Grand Old Man of Football, was 96 years old Saturday.

Amos Alonzo Stagg, who made coaching history at the University of Chicago for 41 years and then came to College of the Pacific here for 14 more, spent his 96th birthday in his modest five-room bungalow, reading some of the more than 400 congratulatory letters, including one from President Eisenhower and California Gov. Goodwin J. Knight.

Saturday night he went to Lodi with his wife Stella to act as honorary chairman of an All Star High School football game.

On his 96th birthday, Yale's 1888 All-American back and last surviving founder of the Big 10 remains firm in his belief that the college game generates more spirit than the pros.

Commenting on the drooping attendance at Stanford and University of California games, Stagg said, "It shouldn't happen as there is more spirit in the college game than in professional football."

Tuesday the local Lions Club honored Stagg with a birthday party. Fritz Crisler, Athletic Director of the University of Michigan, came to pay his respects to his former coach.

A deeply-religious man who almost went into the ministry instead of football, Stagg retains his dedication to the game.

He is advisory at a sitting and punting coach at Stockton College. Wearing a battered old felt hat that has become his working trademark, he still talks to the boys in a clear, firm voice.

IAAF Okays Track Marks

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI)—The International Amateur Athletic Federation has approved as world records three performances which many track fans and officials believed it would reject.

The I.A.A.F. Friday accepted as official standards a 7-foot, 1.2-inch high jump by Russia's Yuri Stepanov; a 3:57.2 mile by Derek Ibbotson of England, and a 3:38.1 clocking for 1,500 meters by Stanislav Jungwirth of Czechoslovakia. Stepanov erased the old mark of 7 feet, 7 inches held by Charley Dumas of Los Angeles.

Ducks Name Mat Mentor

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene (UPI)—Mike Reuter, former wrestling coach at Washington State College and the University of Washington, was named head mat coach at the University of Oregon, director of athletics Leo Harris has announced.

Reuter will replace Bill Hammer, ex-Duck wrestling coach and football line coach, who resigned his positions in March to accept a head football coaching job at Iowa State Teachers College.

Reuter began his coaching career at WSC in 1946 and his 1948 Cougar squad placed second in the Pacific Coast Championships. In 1949 he became a staff member and assistant wrestling coach at the University of Illinois, and moved to the University of Washington in 1957 as head coach. His 1958 mat squad at Washington established a 3-6 record.

BRL World Series Play Set Tuesday

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—Eight junior baseball teams start playoffs here Tuesday for the Babe Ruth Baseball League world series title.

Although the series is being played in Canada, no Canadian team will compete. Canada's last hope was a North Vancouver team which lost out in a regional playoff. All the finalists are from the United States.

Favorites are the New England Kingspins from Stamford, Conn., runnersup to Pensacola, Fla., for the 1957 crown. Other finalists are from Seattle, Joplin, Mo., El Paso, Tex., Charlotte, N.C., Massapequa, N.Y., Berkeley, Calif., and Owensboro, Ky.

The Babe Ruth program, now operating in 45 states and five more than 100,000 youths in 13-15 age brackets. They play on some 6,000 teams in more than 1,200 leagues.

Playoffs begin at the league level in July and progress through local, district, state, provincial and regional tournaments to the world series.

George Barr, former National League umpire, will be chief umpire for the series, which opens with games between Joplin and Charlotte and Stamford and Berkeley.

U.S. Davis Squad Wins

RYE, N.Y. (AP)—Barry MacKay and Sam Giammalva gave the U.S. Davis Cup team another trip to Australia Saturday by crushing Argentina's Nerique Morea and Eduardo Soriano in the decisive American zone doubles match 6-3, 6-2.

This one-side triumph on the rain-dampened grass court of the Westchester Country Club came shortly after Ham Richardson, the court stylist from Arlington, Va., had completed an interrupted victory over the towering Morea, 6-1, 6-2, 7-9, 6-2.

The U.S. forces, led by 68-year-old Captain Perry Jones of Los Angeles, thus clinched the American zone title and qualified to meet the Italy-Philippines winner in Australia for the right to challenge the formidable Aussies once more.

The final inter-zone match is scheduled in Perth in mid-December. The challenge round is slated for Brisbane after Christmas.

Shasta Lanes Gets New High

MOUNT SHASTA—Shasta Lanes Bowling Alleys received for a smashing score Thursday evening when Ed Wakeman, of the Dunsmuir Flamingo Club rolled an average of 225 for three games. He was consistent as top score was 255 pins. He also scored 203 for nine games during the evening.

Wakeman, with fellow club member George Slimmer, totaled 1,282 pins in a three-game doubles series for the Labor Day Sweepstakes jackpot. That tops the nearest competitors by 38 pins.

Pleasant Hill High Looking For Mentor

EUGENE (AP)—Pleasant Hill High School is searching for a new coach after Joey Smith, football and track coach, resigned Friday to become principal of Crow-Applegate High School.

U of O Coaches Set To Start Grid Work

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene — Oregon's football coaching staff returns home from a series of clinics and all-star games Monday and begins work on final planning for the rugged 10-game schedule ahead this fall.

One of the major features in the Webfoot plans for their defense of the Pacific Coast Conference championship will be designing means of stopping some of the more potent offensive teams in the country.

Oregon has been noted for its defense in the last five years, having compiled the best record in the conference, and the Webfoots will have their work cut out for them against such teams as Oklahoma, Miami, Washington State, Oregon State and Stanford.

Oklahoma, always a national power, ranked fifth nationally in rushing last year while Miami, was tenth in passing. Washington State was second in the nation and the ace Cougar quarterback, Bob New-man, not only was the leading total offense leader, but also ranked second in individual passing. The Indians and the Beavers ranked one-two in the conference in offense and are rated serious threats again this fall.

In the last five years Oregon has been first in total defense twice, second another two years and slipped to fourth only once. The UCLA Bruins are the closest challengers to the Webfoots, having wound up first twice, and second, third and fourth one year each in the last five.

The Webfoot pass defense has been particularly tough with the Oregon totals being best in the league three of the seasons since 1952 and this will be particularly important against the Cougars and the Indians.

The importance of the defense to the Webfoot success last fall was typified by the fact that only two teams, WSC and Stanford, scored more than two touchdowns in the 11 games played. It was much the same in 1956, too, as the opposition averaged only 10.2 points per game.

game a scoreless tie and his decision shaved the Eli skin to 27. Washington was unbeaten in 61 games under coach Gil Dobie from 1908 to 1916. However, the Huskies actually won only 29 in a row, good for second place in the all-team ratings as shown by an Associated Press survey.

Yale reached the 37 mark twice—following the Princeton tie until 1889 and again in the 1890-93 efforts. The Tigers tolled both efforts to make it 30.

Pennsylvania fashioned streaks of 34 and 30 before the turn of the century. Pittsburgh won 33 straight in the World War I era while Oklahoma previewed its record performance with a 31-game string (1948-51).
