Door To New League Open, But Nobody Interested Yet

SEATTLE (AP)—The door to which was to pay his room and board. In both cases the school had permission to underwrite the boy's tuition and compulsory fees.

George Briggs, athletic director at the University of Washington, outlined the rules of the "Athletic Assn. of Western Universities" at a Monday news conference.

One provision, he pointed out, says "new members may be admitted to the association by unanimous vote of the members." These are UCLA, California, Washington and Southern California. There have been no other applications as yet. The quartet agreed to "schedule each other annually on a home-and-home basis in football, basketball, and to the extent feasible in other sports."

There is nothing in the articles of confederation to prevent any Big Four member from scheduling any non-member school. While the association has eliminated money from the aid-to-athletes picture—as far as the athlete himself is concerned—there is not a large difference between the new rule and the old Pacific Coast Conference play-for-pay regulation.

The athlete in the Big Four may work 250 hours a school year for his room and board. The maximum work limit was approximately the same in the PCC, the athlete receiving $2 per hour.

Any matters not covered by the agreement are to be handled under the rules of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn., Briggs said.

The Rose Bowl football game is not mentioned as such in the articles. One provision, however, says any member who participates in a post-season game must divvy up the net profits equally with the other three. The Rose Bowl team from the west will come from the PCC this season and a formula is being worked out by PCC schools to select the 1960 team.

Beyond that game, nobody knows.

Although the Big Four does not begin operation until 1959, such a difference cropped up this week. UCLA accused California Monday of illegal recruiting. The two schools are discussing the matter.

On eligibility, the association insists only that an athlete earn the basic number of degree credits each term required of all students. Transfer students from other four-year colleges will lose one year of eligibility, as they do in the still-existent but not-long-for-this-world PCC.

Bobby Boyd Pick In Video Scrap

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Harder hitting ability pushed Bobby Boyd of Chicago into the favorite's (8-5) role tonight for a 10-round middleweight television scrap with Jimmy Beecham of Miami.

Boyd, under the tutoring of former heavyweight Bob Satterfield, has been working on his style to put more wallop into his punches. In his latest bout he stopped Jimmy Morris of Miami in four rounds.

Beecham's most recent fight was a booted split decision that went to fifth-ranked Spider Webb.

By LINES from the SIDELINES

Last weekend in Portland, we ushered out our baseball season and ushered in football dividing our time between the Portland baseball Beavers and the pro-footballing San Francisco 49ers and Washington Redskins.

And what a weekend it was. The Beavers closed out their 1958 home season against Seattle and Spokane, while the 49ers edged the Redskins 20-19 in a NFL pre-season exhibition game that was won in the last minute and a half.

While taking in these attractions, we had the opportunity to meet up with some of the leading personalities in both fields.

On the baseball front, we learned the Beavers are interested in returning to Klamath Falls at the close of the season for an exhibition game against the Klamath Kubs, or a pickup team. A suggested date for this game is September 10, the Wednesday following the close of the regular Pacific Coast League season.

If there is enough interest shown for such a game, and a service club, or local sports-minded group would like to take over the job of backing the "no guarantee" game, we're sure something could be arranged.

We talked with Bill Brenner, assistant general manager of the Portland club, and there was some hope of bringing the Beavers to Klamath Falls next spring for a pre-season exhibition game such as the one the Beavers and Vancouver played here this year.

A note of interest came out of the Spokane-Portland series. Playing for Spokane are second baseman-outfielder Dick Young and outfielder Glenn Gorbis. Young played with the Klamath Falls Goms and Gorbis with Medford in the old Far West League in the late '40s and early '50s.

Keep your eyes and ears open for one Vita Pinson. The young Negro outfielder playing with Seattle will be with the Cincinnati Redlegs next season as a starting outfielder if we don't miss our guess. Pinson, who murdered Portland's pitching, is one of the fastest base runners we've ever seen and hits the ball miles an hour regardless of the type of pitch, fastball or curve. The only reason Pinson didn't stick this year was because of his fielding troubles, but Seattle followers in the press box reported he has developed into a fair count-ty outfielder. His speed makes up for lots of mistakes. Saturday afternoon in Portland's 3-0 win over Spokane, we watched Spokane manager Bobby Bragan go through his paces in umpire-baiting. Bragan had the Portland fans laughing as he cried, complained and tried to out-talk the umpires. It's for sure he may not be popular with the umpires in the league, but it's just as certain he helps to draw the paying customer through the gate.

The pro exhibition game was a great way to kick off our football season. The one-poidt decision was the best game of any pre-season pro battles played in Portland. And
