

Parents Proud Of Award Given Midland Aviator

By TOM STIMMEL
An unknown Air Force officer stepped into the Tower Service Station at Midland, spotted a large certificate taped to the wall, and said, "You oughta get that framed."

When he does, it is a sure bet that he spins intriguing tales of the wild blue yonder to his brother Calvin, 14, who is starting out just as Captain Dale did—on the football team at Henley High.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer C. Casebier, the station's operators, agreed—but they haven't done it yet. The certificate is an award of "professional ability and attitude" in flying safety, and it says in large letters that it was awarded to Capt. Dale C. Casebier.

Civil Service Slates Exams

"We're very proud of it," Mrs. Casebier remarked as she leaned on the counter. "The award was written up in the Air Force Magazine and we understand it is very rare, and something to be very proud of."

The U.S. Civil Service Commission has announced examinations for filling the positions of bacteriologist, serologist, and biochemist in Veterans Administration hospitals throughout the country, and for prison industrial supervisor with the Department of Justice in various penal and correctional institutions throughout the United States.

The couple explained further that it was awarded to their son Dale, 32, after a secret, long-distance flight in the gigantic Air Force C-124 Globemaster he commands. "There was some general aboard," Mrs. Casebier said, "and he was so impressed with the conduct of the flight and the discipline of the crew, and all that, that this award came a little later."

Bacteriologist and serologist positions pay from $4,960 to $9,890 a year, and biochemist, from $5,430 to $10,130 a year. To qualify, applicants must show appropriate college study and pertinent professional experience.

Other than the fact that the award was well deserved, the veteran flier's parents can't say much more about that, or any other flight their son makes. They don't know.

The positions of prison industrial supervisors pay from $4,960 to $5,985 a year. Applicants for these positions must have had basic and supervisory experience in connection with the manufacture of brooms, brushes, canvas products, clothing, gloves, mattresses, textiles, metal products, rubber products, shoes, or wood products; or in the operation of a cannery, foundry, laundry, print shop, or saw mill; or in furniture or typewriter repair work.

"He was chosen for secret missions," they said, "and he can't tell anybody what his cargo is." But they do know some of the places he has been, which they enumerated as "Iceland, Saudi Arabia, Pacific Islands, Spain, Israel—well, all over."

The Department of Justice desires men for these positions except women will be considered at the Federal Reformatory for Women, Alderson, West Virginia.

Announcements and application forms may be obtained from many post offices throughout the country or from the U.S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D.C.

Married to the former Mary Rankin of Medford, Captain Casebier is the father of four children, from 2 to 11. He now is in an instrument flying school at Waco, Texas, may go on to postgraduate study in Florida, and frankly hopes to get a teaching assignment at the Air Force Academy when it moves to Colorado Springs.

He usually gets home to Midland once a year, his parents said, but

Ashland Shakespeare Fete Sets New Attendance Mark

ASHLAND—New attendance records were set during the past weekend at the Oregon Shakespearean Festival in Ashland. The organization completed its seventh round of four plays, topped the 20,000 mark in total admissions, and played to the largest single audience in its history. One thousand and two hundred forty five patrons, in watching the Saturday "Merchant of Venice" performance, established the new mark. The August 21, 1957, performance of "As You Like It," which attracted 1,142 people, held the previous attendance record.

Education Group Officers Named

An executive meeting of the Klamath County Branch of the Association for Childhood Education was called for Tuesday, August 26, at the County School Office by Mrs. Dale West, president. The program for the year and the fall tea for new primary teachers were planned.

With nearly three full rounds of productions yet to go, festival officials hope to top last year's all-time high of 24,338 admissions. The 1958 season, extended in response to last year's increase, will continue with nightly performances through September 4. Good seats remain for most of the shows, with best seating available on the last four nights, September 1-4. Ticket arrangements may be made at the festival's branch box offices, at the central box office in Ashland, or by writing "Shakespeare, Ashland, Oregon."

The officers and chairmen for the year are Mrs. Dale West, president, Mrs. Gordon Kuit, vice president, Mrs. Ronald McVay, secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Kenneth A. Marsh, program chairman, Mrs. Luther McNulty, tea chairman, and Mrs. G. W. Nelson, publicity chairman.

"Much Ado About Nothing," "King Lear," and "Merchant" will each have three more showings. The season's lesser-known plays, "Troilus and Cressida," will be presented twice more, on Thursday, August 28, and Monday, September 1. With "Troilus" the theater completed its presentation of the entire Shakespearean canon.

RETURNED
McCLOUD — Karl Lanquist and Hank Doll, foresters with the USFS at the Mt. Shasta Forest Tree Nursery, east of McCloud, returned Sunday from a two-day foresters meeting at Olympia, Washington. Foresters from the Western states and British Columbia attended the meet. The local men visited the Weyerhaeuser Timber Company's modern forest products laboratory at Centralia, Washington.

Box office totals to this date show that James Sandoe's "Merchant" leads the attendance figures with a total of 6,240 patrons having witnessed it. Second is
