

Today's Sport Parade

Bowling Boom Slated To Get Started Soon

By OSCAR FRALEY
NEW YORK (UPI) — More than 22 million Americans next week will go back to bowling in pin palaces straight out of Arabian Nights, Ted Bensinger of Brunswick-Balke-Collender reported today, as the nation's greatest participant sport booms to the billion-dollar mark.

Dodgers Eye Giant Series Shy Pitchers

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Dodgers looked ahead fearfully to their six-game series with the Giants at San Francisco starting Friday because of a badly-riddled pitching staff.

Manager Walt Alton used five hurlers Wednesday in a vain effort to catch the Redlegs who lasted out an 8-7 victory to take three out of four games from the Dodgers.

Cincinnati got its big boost from Pete Whisenant's grand slam homer in the fifth, the first of his major league career. But even that would not have been enough had not the Redlegs scored an unearned run in the seventh inning as a result of Steve Bilko's error.

Trailing 7-2, the Dodgers came up with a three-run rally in the sixth and added two more in the eighth, but still fell a run behind.

The Dodgers won the home run battle in the number of four-baggers hit, getting three to Cincinnati's two, but one of the Redlegs' homers was the grand-slammer.

Carl Furillo hit a two-run homer in the third to tie the score at 2-2, but Roy McMillan's homer in the fourth put the Redlegs a run ahead. And then Whisenant hit his big one in the fifth off Fred Kipp, who came in to relieve loser Carl Erskine.

Bilko homered with none aboard in the sixth and then Don Demeter put a ball over the screen with Don Zimmer on base. But after Bilko committed his error on catcher Ed Bailey, Johnny Klippstein relieved Kipp and loaded the bases.

Don Newcombe, appearing as a pinchhitter, walked in the winning run.

The last Dodger threat came in the eighth when Furillo singled and Gil Hodges doubled. Duke Snider then appeared as a pinch-hitter and singled in two runs, but that ended the Dodger scoring.

For their first pitcher against the Giants, the Dodgers named Don Drysdale, now doing his best pitching of the season. Johnny Podres also is in good shape but after that, Alton was in a quandary.

He pointed out Sandy Koufax had failed to come through in recent games and Stan Williams, who started Wednesday, has an ailing shoulder. That leaves him with but two dependable starters.

PHILIE GETS TV ROLE
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ron Gorton, a pitcher now on the Philadelphia Phillies' disabled list, has been cast for a role in "Rough Riders," a new ABC-TV program which begins October 2. The 25-year-old Gorton, a cousin of actor Jack Palance, was a star athlete at Villanova in both football and baseball. Gorton injured his hand in a game with Cincinnati earlier this season.

TOWN & COUNTRY SHOPPING CENTER
Phone TU 2-4200

Attention EAGLES!
Free HOGO and Saturday Dinner...
HOGO DANCE 10 till 2

Time Out

"You know, I think there is something wrong with that ump's eyes!"

Logart Cries Loud, Clear On Ring Loss

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Rudell Stitch wasn't sure today who would be his next opponent after scoring a unanimous decision over second-ranked welterweight Isaac Logart Wednesday night, but Logart was sure it wouldn't be him — no matter what the contract said.

"I never fight him again," a disgusted Logart stated emphatically after dropping a hard-fought decision to Stitch, a relatively inexperienced but aggressive and hard-hitting hometown boy.

Trainer Mundito Medina joined in protesting the decision.

"They told me in New York before we came out here we'd have to win by a knockout. We were robbed again," shouted Medina, who had scarcely caught his breath from shouting the same thing after Logart lost to another hometown hero, Don Jordan, in Los Angeles recently.

The difference was that a lot of people agreed with him after the Jordan fight, but most of the 4,200 who turned out here agreed with the ring officials.

Not Logart, however. "I go boom boom boom," he said, "and it no count."

Stitch weighed 142 1/2 to Logart's 148.

Giants Win On Free Gift

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants may be washed up in the National League race but they still can win a ball game in the final inning.

After taking eight straight beatings from Milwaukee, they came out of their spin Wednesday night and defeated the league-leading Braves, 3-2, on a gift package in the 12th inning.

The victory, the 20th last-inning triumph of the year for the Giants ended a three-game losing streak and marked San Francisco's first win over Milwaukee since July 13.

Today Manager Bill Rigney's collection of rookies and oldsters seek to end the five-game series on a rising note when they send southpaw Johnny Antonelli (14-10) to the mound against Milwaukee's Carlton Willey (8-4).

The Braves won the first three games of the "crucial series" which turned into a disaster and dropped the Giants down into third place.

What was left of a crowd of 21,389 watched Worthington put the winning run on base in the 12th Wednesday night when he singled after Trowbridge had required leadoff hitter Felipe Alou.

The batting order had become thoroughly churned around by then so that the big Al came up in the number two spot.

With Worthington on base, Willie Mays worked Trowbridge for a pass and then Jackie Brandt whistled a hot single over second base and into center field. At first Worthington seemed ready to sail home with the winner but he was held up at third base.

The fans were just beginning to climb on to third base coach Herm Franks at that point when Trowbridge fed four straight balls to Cepeda and that was the game.

Milwaukee took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when they got to starter Stu Miller for three singles, two of them of the bloop variety. Wes Covington drove in Red Schoendienst for the initial tally with a softie to left center.

Then Daryl Spencer, who was destined to strike out three times, came up in the fourth after Orlando Cepeda had singled and walloped his 15th homer of the season into the left field bleachers.

In Two Big Trades

Schoendienst Big Help To Braves

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The lockers of the Milwaukee Braves in their dressing room in San Francisco are chalked with the last name of the player with one exception—the locker that says just "Red."

And it is not because nobody knows how to spell S-c-h-o-e-n-d-i-e-n-s-t.

"Red" says all that has to be said about second base for the world champions, including many glowing quotes by sports writers last year claiming that the 35-year-old with his frank, open green eyes was the player who made the Braves into flag winners.

At least Schoendienst has been considered important enough to figure in two vital trades. The St. Louis Cardinals traded him to the then New York Giants in 1956 after 11 years to get shortstop Alvin Dark. Seven other players were involved in the trade, but the Schoendienst-Dark swap was the key.

Last season he went to Milwaukee for Danny O'Connell, Bobby Thomson and Ray Crone.

"I hated like hell to get traded from St. Louis because that is my home," Schoendienst said. "But that's baseball. And you feel that the other club wanted you, so it is not so bad."

The likeable infielder is always searching for off-duty entertainment when he is on the road.

In San Francisco it is jazz ("I like all kinds of music except progressive jazz"), in St. Louis he was taken with their operettas.

"They get good talent and they have a wonderful place for it in their amphitheater," but the loss of New York as a National League stop saddened him ("You miss those Broadway plays").

"I think I can stay in the majors at least three more seasons," Schoendienst said as he awaited his switch-hitting turn at batting practice. "Maybe more."

And then I can maybe hang around after that—here or there."

The end of the calm, matter-of-fact statement included gestures toward the first and third base coaching boxes.

Milwaukee Manager Fred Janey, a man not given to overstatement to the press, said about his pivot man:

"A helluva man to have on the club. He knows the hitters and pitchers, he moves the fielders around and everyone has confidence in him. I know he is a big help to me."

The help Schoendienst gives his manager is probably attested to better by the chalk sign over his locker which says simply "Red."

MONTH END CLEARANCE at STARK'S
NOTE: Most people already know that Stark's is the best place to buy a vacuum cleaner or floor polisher...
DEAN'S STARK'S VACUUM CLEANER SALES & SERVICE
122 South 9th
Phone TU 4-3188

Oregon Football

UO's Interior Line Could Be Best Ever

Editor's Note: This is the third in a series on the University of Oregon's 1958 football prospects.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene. (Special) — Oregon's interior line could easily be the finest in the school's history this fall.

Certainly it is the most promising line in recent years and four veterans at guard, Bob Grottkau, Joe Schaffeld, Will Reeve and Bob Heard, make this position one of the strongholds of the forward wall.

Grottkau, on the basis of last year's sterling work, is the key performer on the right side of the line with end Ron Stover and tackle Jim Linden. On the left side, Schaffeld and Reeve should compete in fall drills for the starting berth vacated by all-coast Harry Mondale.

It came as no surprise that Grottkau would handle the guard spot with ease, even though he had played fullback in high school, end as an Oregon freshman, and tackle with the varsity as a soph.

His development at the position was one key to the success of the first team line last season.

Schaffeld played behind Mondale last year and his great work in the Rose Bowl, after Mondale was injured early in the opening quarter, has stamped him as an outstanding contender for the other starting berth.

Reeve, a big two-year veteran, moved to guard last fall after a sophomore season at fullback and came along rapidly, including a fine spring practice. Heard will probably back up Grottkau on the right side after seeing considerable action at left guard last year.

Coach Len Casanova will also get help from letterman John Willener, a tackle last year, while senior LeRoy Todd and junior Jack Stone will compete with soph Dave Urell for the other top spot.

HEAT-ORAMA ENTRY BLANKS HERE
Win a $3,500 Swimming Pool, $2,000 motor boat and 81 other prizes.

- ARROW FUEL CO.
BALSIGER OIL CO.
CLIFF YADEN'S
FRANKFORD FUEL CO.
GENERAL PETROLEUM
JAY HAWK PETROLEUM
PEYTON & CO.
RICHFIELD OIL CO.
SIGNAL OIL CO.
WESTERN OIL AND BURNER CO.

more basic facts about America's basic advertising medium... the daily newspaper

A recent study conducted by Dr. George Gallup of the American Institute of Public Opinion, found that newspaper advertising is regarded as news by most readers.

Herald and News
The daily newspaper is America's basic advertising medium because it is basic in the lives of its readers. Ever interesting, helpful, informative — it is welcomed as a friend of the family in homes everywhere.

WARDS MONTGOMERY WARD
1/3 OFF sale

YOUR TIRES ARE WORTH $7.80 TO $15 IN TRADE ON SUPER DELUXE TIRES
RAYONS 15.64*
NYLONS 16.97*
NOTHING DOWN! Your trade-in is down payment on all Super Deluxe
You get the same deal on whitewalls too!
All tires MOUNTED FREE ALL SIZES ON SALE!
Guaranteed 20 months against road hazards

Sensational savings on 30 month guaranteed batteries
WINTER KING STANDARD
SALE! 9.88* type 1 6-volt
SALE! 13.88* type 245 12-volt
OPEN FRIDAY NIGHT TILL 9:00