Many Drivers Take To Road

CHICAGO (AP)—The last holiday weekend of the summer lured millions of motorists to the highways today.

Of the three summer holidays Labor Day perennially spurs the largest volume of travel. Whereas Memorial Day and July 4 fall on varying days of the week, Labor Day always is on Monday, assuring a three-day weekend.

Many Americans tie the holiday in with their annual vacations and arrive home just in time for the reopening of schools for the fall term. Others use the travel time to drive their older children and belongings off to college.

And millions of others see it simply as a last chance to visit beaches, fishing spots and other outdoor attractions.

The National Safety Council estimates 45 million cars will be on the move over the weekend.

The council said this heavy volume of travel could lead to as many as 420 traffic deaths, 70 more than the 350 killed on non-holiday weekends.

The council recommended that drivers reduce speed by at least 10 m.p.h., start trips early and aim for a safe, rather than a quick, arrival, and do no drinking.
