ELMER M. HARNDEN escorts his daughter, Julie, into the church.

THE FLOWER GIRL, Vicky Long, 3, is seriously pondering her forthcoming role, as she is pictured before the wedding with her mother, Mrs. Nicholas Edward Long Jr., and the bride, Vicky and her twin brother, Nicky, are maternal grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Larson, 1933 Melrose. The youngsters and their parents were here from Dunsmuir for the nuptial event.

THE MOTHER, INSTEAD OF THE BRIDE, gets the last minute attention in this picture of Mrs. Harnden and Julie.

A SMALL SIP OF PUNCH on that "very big" day is shared by the newlyweds . . . completely unaware of the keen-eyed man and his candid camera.

Dunsmuir, wore a dress of yellow flocked nylon. Her bouquet was a small replica of the senior attendants' bouquets. Best man was Raymond Kandt from Colorado Springs; and ushers were Lewis Effenberger, the bride's cousin from Seattle; and Dr. George Nitschelm, Klamath Falls. Organist for the wedding, Mrs. A. F. Herringshaw, also accompanied vocal soloist, Mrs. Walter Badorek.

A garden reception immediately following the ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents. The white four tiered cake, decorated with yellow rosebuds and topped with miniature white sugar wedding bells, was based with a yellow and white garland of flowers, as was the punch bowl. Assistants at the reception were Mrs. Carl Pitts, Nancy Shellenberger, cousin of the bride; Mrs. Nicholas Edward Long Jr., and Mrs. William Seaberry. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Harnden chose a street length gray linen sheath with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The senior Mrs. Evans wore a sheath of champagne lace with matching accessories and a corsage of garnet red roses. Also honored with a corsage was the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. L. D. Shellenberger from his fraternity, Sigma Chi, during his senior year. Since his graduation from Colorado College he has been attending University of Colorado School of Medicine, where he will continue his studies this fall. "Dick and Julie" will be at home in Denver early in September after they return from their honeymoon trip.

For travel, the new Mrs. Evans wore an autumn red cotton sheath with black accessories and a corsage of tiny white chrysanthemums.

PRE-NUPITAL EVENTS

A shower was given for Julie on August 12 by her maid of honor, Sharon Hayford, who invited a group of Julie's friends from KUHS.

Later in the month, Mrs. Frank Tucker entertained at an outdoor luncheon shower for Julie at the Tucker home. Places were set for 26.

An after rehearsal dinner on the eve of the nuptial event was served in the Pelican Cafe Party Room by Mr. and Mrs. Harnden as hosts to members of the wedding party.

The night of the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Harnden were again dinner hosts to approximately 50 relatives and out of town guests.

OUT OF TOWN GUESTS

Out of town guests were the bride's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Shellenberger, from Beaverton; Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Evans and Sue, the bridegroom's parents and sister, from Rocky Ford, Colorado; Julie's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Shellenberger, Tacoma; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shellenberger, Terry and Nancy, uncle, aunt and cousins of the bride; James Effenberger, Lewis Effenberger, also cousins; and John Springer, all of Seattle;

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lewis, Forest Grove; Mrs. William Durfee, Umatilla; Mrs. Oscar Effenberger, the bride's maternal aunt from Mt. Vernon, Washington; Jennelle Tipton, Casper, Wyoming; Raymond Kandt Jr., Colorado Springs; Mrs. John Schroeder, Eugene; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Boyer, Oakridge; and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Edward Long Jr., and their twins, Vicky and Nicky, Dunsmuir.
