Pay-As-You Go Education Is Newest Plan

NEW YORK (UPI) — Look what is sporting a school tie. The installment plan.

The same type of installment credit which is "old hat" to business is under-writing education this fall for some 30,000 students.

"Everybody else in America is selling on credit, so why shouldn't one college official.

This "pay as you learn" program is operated through schools and colleges by Tuition Plan, Inc., originated in 1938 by an industrialist named Rudolf Neuburger. Neuburger got the idea from hearing parents complain about the huge cash outlay necessary each September and February to cover tuition, books, dormitory fees, and such.

The first year in operation it had 28 student customers. Some 90,000 students have used the plan in the last five years, said Robert J. Keir, executive vice president.

The plan works this way: Parents or students apply for credit through the school or college. Some 600 educational institutions, from nursery to graduate schools, are "associates." Tuition Plan handles the bookkeeping on the monthly payments.

Klamath Given Predator Funds

Klamath County will receive $1429 of the $30,000 of state money allocated by the State Department of Agriculture for predatory animals control during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1959. This report comes from M. E. Knickerbocker, chief of the department's division of animal industry.

Predatory animals control is a three-way program between the state and federal government and the counties. Funds designated for each county are available to the extent that counties appropriate matching funds for the program, which is conducted by the state in cooperation with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

HI-FI BOOM

CHICAGO (UPI) — Officials of the hi-fi industry predict retail sales will reach 750 million dollars in the next five years.
