OSC, WSC Picked As Top Teams

Editor's Note: This is the first of eight dispatches on 1958 college football prospects. The first dispatch deals with the Pacific Coast Conference. The succeeding dispatches will cover the Midlands, South, Rockies, East, Southeast, Midwest and Southwest.

By SCOTT BAILLIE

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Oregon State and Washington State, who got stronger as the Pacific Coast Conference grew weaker, shape up as the class of the doomed league which launches its final football season on Sept. 20.

Tailback Joe Francis is long gone from Oregon State but coach Tommy Prothro has welcomed back two speed-burners named Earned Durden and Paul Lowe. Lowe had to sit out a year because of scholastic troubles. Both are tremendous runners. Durden seems a cinch to retain his half-back job while Lowe handles the tricky tailback post in Prothro's single-wing. Tommy also has plenty of experience up front headed by tackle Ted Bates.

At Pullman, Wash., however, the Cougar backers think coach Jim Sutherland finally has arrived after two years of building. Quarterback Bob Newman, who ranked second last year among the nation's passers, is on hand again with veteran ends Don Ellingsen and Jack Fanning. Sutherland is playing it cozy but insiders say the Cougars may return to the Rose Bowl for the first time since 1931 if their defenses don't break down.

UCLA always has been tough, even if crippled because of conference penalties, and the Bruins are expected to go on a crusade this season in memory of the late Red Sanders. George Dickerson, who learned the balanced-line, single-wing attack during 12 years on Sanders' staff, has 27 lettersmen to work with. Kirk Wilson, Don Long and Chuck Kendall give him good depth among the tailbacks. Dick Wallen, a sensational end last year, also has returned and Dickerson expects a lot from Jim Stefan at left half. Wallen is among the eight Bruin seniors who are limited to only five consecutive games this season as a final echo of the 1956 scandals.

Oregon, the lowly Ducks who held mighty Ohio State to a 10-7 triumph in the Rose Bowl last year, can't return because of the no-repeat rule but still look rough. Coach Len Casanova is stocked with a veteran line although he has lost such stalwarts as halfback Jim Shanley, quarterback Jack Crabtree and all-purpose man Jack Morris.

The other five clubs—with the exception of outmanned Idaho—may have to scurry around for the leavings. California and Southern California will seek to bounce back from disastrous seasons with their young coaches. Stanford has a new boss in Jack Curtice but nothing spectacular in the way of quarterbacks which are needed to spark his wide-open football. Coach Jim Owens at Washington says the Huskies will be "more interesting" this year.

Pete Elliott, California's youth coach, will have Joe Kapp available again for the quarter-back job. Gus Giannulas, who throws a long pass but was out last year with injuries, looms as Kapp's biggest rival to run the split-T. Pete Domoto, Hank O'Neil and Jack Hart give Elliott speed and experience in the back-field.

The Trojans' Don Clark has 25 lettersmen back and thinks that last year's disasters may have given the squad needed savvy. Quarterback Willie Wood and Fullback Ed Isherwood were bright spots then and are suiting up again.

Isherwood is limited by the five-gauge restriction.

Curtice checked in at Stanford just as Jack Douglas, last year's star quarterback, left with his Phil Beta Kappa key and tennis racket. Bob Nicolet, a good thrower but uncertain signalcaller, figures as a top candidate for the vacancy. Little Sid Garber also rates a chance and has looked good on the option plays. There also is competition among veterans for backfield jobs but where they'll end up is anybody's guess—just like one of Curtice's razzle-dazzle plays. The Indians have power and experience up front.

Idaho, which had a surprising season last year, is minus 11 lettersmen and generally tabbed for last place.

College of the Pacific, the coast's top independent, has Dick Bass on hand for another season. He missed much of the first two because of injuries. Coach Jack Myers only has about 10 minutes' worth of varsity experience at quarterback and is banking heavily on sophomore Herm Urenda.

Coach Bob Titchener of San Jose State thinks a flock of junior transfers, headed by end Clarion Appleborn, will improve last year's showing. The line is 100 per cent better, Titchener declares.

White Sox 7-1. Vic Power and Woody Held each drove in two runs. Al Smith homered for the losers' only run.

Power got the Indians off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning when he homered behind a single by Billy Moran. The game was delayed 66 minutes by rain with Chicago batting in the first inning.

The Tribe added three more runs in the third and chased starter Billy Pierce. Power drew a walk, then three straight singles by Minnie Minoso, Rocky Colavito and Held brought Barry Latman in from the bullpen.

Chicago 600 000 100-1 6 0 Cleveland 203 000 028-7 12 1 Pierce, Latman (3), Shaw (7) and Lollar; Bell and Brown. L-Pierce.

Nats 8, Yanks 3

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Yost, the first man up, hit a homer and the Washington Senators rolled on to a 8-3 over the New York Yankees Saturday.

It was Washington's sixth straight victory over the league leaders. Even a Yankee triple play in the ninth failed to cool off the Senators. But that time they were leading 8-1.

Washington 101 006 000-8 10 0 New York 000 001 002-3 10 2 Pascual, Clevenger (9) and Courtney; Dittmar, James (7) and Howard. W-Pascual. L-Dittmar.

Home runs — Washington, Yost (7), Sievers (36); New York, Skowron (14).

Birds 4, Sox 2

BALTIMORE (AP)—Fast-balling Billy O'Dell pitched Baltimore to a 4-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox Saturday night, striking out 10 en route to his 14th triumph and sixth straight.

Gene Woodling's 14th home run into the right field bleachers scoring Bob Boyd ahead of him gave the Orioles a 2-0 lead in the third inning. Baltimore added another pair in the sixth when Bob Newman and Jim Busby singled and Billy Gardner doubled them home.

O'Dell, who didn't give up a walk, had a shutout going into the seventh. After Frank Malzone had singled through the box, Jackie Jensen blasted his 34th homer into the left field stands.

Like Delock was charged with his sixth defeat compared with 12 victories.

Boston 000 000 200-2 5 0 Baltimore 002 002 008-4 9 0 Delock, Kiely (8) and Daley; O'Dell and Ginsberg. L-Delock.

Home runs — Boston, Jensen (34). Baltimore, Woodling (14).

Reds 10, Phils 2

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Cincinnati's Redlegs tightened their hold on fourth place in the National League Saturday with a 10-2 win over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Phillies also lost the services of starting pitcher Curt Simmons who retired in the third inning because of pains in the left elbow, his throwing arm.

Cincinnati 101 320 030-10 13 1 Philadelphia 000 000-2 5 2 Purkey and Burgess; Simmons, Sanford (3), Erickson (4), J. Anderson (5) and Lopata. L-Simmons.

Home runs—Cincinnati, Robinson (28), Dropp (6) Philadelphia, H. Anderson (21).

Hal Wood's Weekend Short Shots

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Week-end sport shorts:

Al Pollard, one-time Loyola of Los Angeles football star, now is a sportscaster for a radio station in Vancouver, B.C.

Seventeen golfers already have qualified for the hard-to-get into Tournament of Champions, the $40,000 event with a $10,000 pot of gold for first place.

Dick Skuse, young San Francisco publicity man who originated the idea of having the 1960 winter Olympic games at Squaw Valley, now proposes that Jill Kinmont be named queen of the games. Miss Kinmont, you'll recall, was the young ski star who broke her back in a fall a few years ago. She probably would have been a member of the U.S. team in 1960 if it hadn't been for the accident.

The California State Amateur golf tournament, one of the biggest and toughest in the land already, will attract some of the top stars of North America. Harvie Ward, two-time champion from San Francisco already has entered. So has Ignacio Lopez Jr., member of Mexico's America Cup team. The tournament is September 15-21.

The future of the low minor league clubs in the West is very shaky—especially the Class C California League, a standstill in recent years, or until the majors moved into San Francisco and Los Angeles. During the 1958 season there was one Cal League franchise shift, and two others nearly tossed in the towel. There'll be a lot of reorganizing before the 1959 campaign.

Despite the "recession" Bay Meadows race track is anticipating one of its greatest seasons in history, opening Monday. Most of the top horses from the West will be campaigning there.

Vancouver, B. C. promoters of the $50,000 Centennial Golf Tournament last week, are so happy with the results that they hope to get on the regular P.G.A. schedule for next year. The tourney was the richest ever staged in Canada.

San Francisco Forty Niner fans long-suffering rooters of non-championship teams for 12 years, are convinced that "this is the year." The rookies have looked so good in exhibition games that they believe Coach Frankie Albert's club can't miss. All the Forty Niners have to do is whip such clubs as the Chicago Bears, Detroit Lions and Los Angeles Rams—to mention a few.

The New York Giants will count on Charley Connerly, now 34. Pop Ivy looks to King Hill, late of Rice, to get his Chicago Cardinals off winging in Ivy's debut in the NFL.

So. Oregon Cager To Enroll At Oretch

Oregon Tech basketball coach Wally Palmberg received some good news Saturday when Norm Oliva, former all-state basketball star at Malin High School, announced he was transferring to Oregon Tech this fall term.

Oliva has played both football and basketball at Southern Oregon College for the past two years. The Owl's arch rival in Oregon Collegiate Conference play.

Palmberg, in making the announcement, expressed great satisfaction in Oliva's decision. "We know how good of a boy Norm is from past experience, he played some real good ball against us the past couple of years and it is real nice to have him on our side."

"Norm will not be eligible until

Quarterback Carries Key In Pro Races

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The big question mark for most of the National Football League teams in 1958 is quarterback.

Coach George Wilson of the champion Detroit Lions pins his hopes on the aging arms of Bobby Layne and Tobin Rote. Layne is 31 and Rote is 30 years old, not exactly old age, but across the dividing line in this roughest of football.

On the other hand, Paul Brown's Cleveland Browns are banking on youth. Sophomore Milt Plum who showed signs of developing into a first rate passer as the Browns won the Eastern title last year, and rookie Jim Ninowski from Michigan State will try to replace the retired Tommy O'Connell.

Philadelphia's Eagles are going to fall or fly for new Coach Buck Shaw on the time tested arm of 32-year-old Norman Van Brocklin. Coach Sid Gillman at Los Angeles counts on Billy Wade, the one-time Vanderbilt wonder, to bail him out.

Scotter McLean in his first year as Green Bay coach must get consistent quarterbacking from Babe Parilli, Bert Starr, or perhaps the ex-Notre Dame ace, Paul Hornung, if he's to win. At San Francisco, Y. A. Tittle, now 31, will have to show advancing age hasn't dulled his effectiveness.

NORM OLIVA
... transfers to OTI

the last part of January," Palmberg remarked, "but he plans to work out with us and be ready to go at that time. It is certain that the addition of Oliva to our club will help us out a great deal," the Owl cage mentor added with a smile.

Oliva, who scales near the 200 pound mark and stands 6-3, was a two-year class "B" all-star high school cager while leading Malin to two straight state championships. Norm is one of only a few that have pulled down two-time class "B" all-state honors.

At Southern Oregon during his freshman year, Norm won all-Oregon Collegiate Conference honors and was one of the leading scorers in the league. As a sophomore, Norm was one of the top SOG playmakers and a leader in the final conference rebounding totals.

Besides his basketball, Norm is also a stellar football prospect having won two letters at Southern Oregon. He will be eligible to play football for OTI coach Hunsaker in 1959 and is expected to be a fine asset to the Owl's grid club at that time.

Oliva will not be eligible until the end of the first semester due to the Oregon Collegiate Conference transfer rule requiring transfers to be held out 18 weeks.

Norm, who was married this past summer, plans to enroll in OTI's engineering department, taking highway technology.

Bend To Host National Meet

GRAYLING, Michigan — The National Field Archery Association will hold its yearly convention and national bow and arrow championship at Bend next July 27 through 30 in connection with the Oregon Centennial celebration.

It will be the first time in the history of the association that the meet has been held in Oregon.

Award of the convention and meet to Oregon was announced by Joel Callison of Portland, field governor for the national association. Callison made the official bid at the convention held this year at Grayling, Michigan.

Bend has posted $2,000 to underwrite the meet, which will have its headquarters at the officers' building of the old Camp Abbott site south of the city. The building will be rehabilitated by rancher John Hudspeth.

Proportions of the meet are indicated by figures showing that 2,500 hours of straw will be used for target butts and 5,000 stakes will be needed to mark off 12 courses of 28 targets each. The meet also will involve the world's biggest barbecue.

About 7,500 archers attended the meet at Grayling, of whom 1,400 took part in the bow and arrow shooting contests.

The 1959 meet will be sponsored by the Bend Bowmen, the Crooked River Bowmen of Prineville and the Oregon Bow Hunters Association. General chairman of the tournament is Dr. Harold Matz and co-chairman is John Davis, both of Bend.

It is Frick's hope that the majors expand to 10 teams by 1960 and eventually to 12 by 1963. In this he has staunch supporters in Lou Perini and Phil Wrigley Jr., heads of the Milwaukee Braves and the Chicago Cubs, respectively. Among those known to be opposed are Horace Stoneham, president of the San Francisco Giants and General Manager George Weiss of the New York Yankees.

Perini is expected to propose the addition of New York and Toronto to the National League, and Minneapolis and Houston to the American.
