

Capsule Roundup Given Of Integration Events

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The governors of Arkansas and Virginia have ordered some schools closed in their states in the wake of the U.S. Supreme Court decision that integration must proceed immediately at Little Rock's Central High School.

The closure orders came only a few hours after the unanimous decision of the high tribunal in Washington Friday.

At Newport, R.I., President Eisenhower issued a statement warning that anarchy might result from defiance of the court's integration stand. He urged the people to avoid it.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas signed recently passed laws authorizing him to close four senior high schools—including Central and a Negro school—in Little Rock. The schools had been scheduled to open Monday.

Shortly afterward, a sheriff served the governor with a summons to appear in court in a suit challenging the school-closing law. The suit was brought by a woman segregationist opposed to the school shutdown.

Faubus said he issued the shutdown order to avoid "impending violence and disorder." He also set Oct. 7 as the date for a special election on the question of integrating the schools.

In Virginia, Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. announced the closing of Front Royal High School in Warren County, effective Monday. It will be the first school to shut down under the state's plan of massive resistance to desegregation.

The Virginia plan calls for the closing of any school that has been integrated.

Laws calling for the closing of the schools in the face of integration orders have been passed by many states in the Deep South, and officials in those states were expected to keep a close watch on what happens in Virginia.

Reactions to the Supreme Court's ruling were prompt and conflicting.

Mishap Told At Test Site

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—An accidental explosion of a quantity of fissionable material shot dust and debris into the air at the Nevada Proving Ground Friday. No one was hurt.

An Atomic Energy Commission spokesman said the material was at the bottom of a 500-foot shaft and was being used to test safety factors of several nuclear weapon designs. No other details of the explosion were given.

The AEC said it was confident no measurable airborne radiation was carried from the site.

The AEC also said the first full-scale test in the final phase of the 1958 series—a low yield balloon shot—has been postponed from Tuesday to Thursday next week.

Debbie To File Divorce; 'Ideal' Marriage Tumbled

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Actress Debbie Reynolds probably will file for divorce from singer Eddie Fisher next week—and no one will be spared in the court action, including actress Elizabeth Taylor.

Hollywood's "ideal marriage" tumbled to earth after three years of ballyhooed publicity Friday with statements by Eddie and Debbie and the straight talk of a lawyer.

The coup de grace was delivered by the 26-year-old actress's lawyer, Frank B. Belcher, who was the first to mention divorce publicly.

He said a suit would be filed "probably next week" and that Miss Reynolds would file it—no, Fisher.

Asked if actress Elizabeth Taylor, 26-year-old mother of three children and veteran of three marriages, would be named co-respondent, Belcher said: "I'm not going to spare anyone if it is necessary to protect the rights of Debbie and her two fine children."

Belcher went on to blast a statement released earlier in the day by Fisher in which the singer said the blame for the breakup was his alone and that it was inevitable and had nothing to do with Miss Taylor.

"There is nothing magnanimous about Eddie assuming the blame for this tragedy," Belcher declared. "That's exactly where the responsibility rests. So far as I personally am concerned, his attempt to relieve Miss Taylor from any responsibility falls on completely dead ears."

Miss Reynolds in her answering statement to Fisher's said:

Board Ruling Is Reversed

CARO, Mich. (AP)—It's all right—a judge says so—for 17-year-old Edward Curtis and his bride, Barbara, also 17, to go back to Caro High School.

Circuit Judge Timothy C. Quinn Friday ordered the Caro Board of Education to reverse a ruling which kept Edward and Barbara out of school because they were married.

Judge Quinn held the board in violation of the Michigan state constitution's guarantee of public education.

The good-looking youngsters got married last Jan. 30. They were banned under a new school ruling this year against married students.

YMCA Group Hears Talk

The "Migrant Farm Worker in the Klamath Basin," was discussed during the September 10 luncheon meeting of the Intergroup Council at the Y.M.C.A. with phases of the problem brought out by speakers from local agencies assisting with the migrant worker.

Virginia Dixon, executive director of the Klamath Basin Red Cross Chapter, was in charge of the program outlining the problem.

Julia Brown, Klamath County Welfare Department; Julius Giuntoni, Oregon State Employment Service; Capt. M. Lewis Kendall, commander of the Salvation Army; and John Pederson, superintendent of the Klamath Falls Gospel Mission, spoke.

The discussion brought out that the average migrant worker coming to the Klamath Basin, including families and single men, seek employment and have no legal residence.

The Oregon Public Welfare program under a general assistance program provides food, shelter, fuel and medical needs for families in emergencies. In 1957 this service was given to 258 families. Klamath County topped all other counties in the state in numbers assisted, due in part to the fact that 1957 was unusually wet. Public welfare varies with the state according to Miss Brown, Oregon providing only for families.

The Salvation Army acts as a supplement to the welfare department.

Giuntoni discussed the numbers of migrants needed for the potato harvest season and brought out the fact that mechanized harvesting is cutting down the need of great numbers of stoop workers or pickers.

The Gospel Mission assists the single man providing temporary shelter, a bed, clean clothes and bath facilities in addition to meals.

Further study and publicizing services of the agencies was recommended.

HEIDELBERG, Germany (UPI)—The United States Army in Europe has sharply reduced X-ray examinations of expectant American mothers to cut radiation dangers, Army medical spokesmen said today.

Rock 'n' Roller Going Overseas

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP)—Rock 'n' roll singer Elvis Presley got his overseas orders Friday to go to Germany as an Army truck driver.

The young soldier was one of slightly more than 1,300 trainees here to receive orders for duty in Germany as 3rd Armored Division replacements.

They will board four trains here about Sept. 19 and proceed directly to New York for embarkation about Sept. 22, the Ft. Hood public information office said.

Democrat, GOP Chairmen Square Off In Oral Blasts

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler said Friday night: "I do not believe that open defiance of the law of the land as interpreted by the Supreme Court represents the opinion of the majority of Democrats."

The statement came during a shouted exchange between Butler and the Republican national chairman, Meade Alcorn, who forecast a third party in the 1960 elections.

The two were members of a question and answer panel at the annual Griddle Show of the Kansas City Press Club. Here was the sequence:

Butler addressing Alcorn: "I see by the papers that you were in Little Rock just before you came here. Did you have anything to say about integration while you were down there?"

Alcorn: "I'll say one thing, Mr. Butler. I can make the same speech in Little Rock as I can in Chicago and that's more than you can do. Have you been in Little Rock lately?"

Butler said he did not plan to go to Little Rock and did not subscribe to the views expressed by Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas, also a Democrat. He said he did not believe a vast majority of Democrats supported a man who "openly flouted the law of the land."

Alcorn: "I'll say we are going to face a much weakened Democratic party in the 1960 elections and a third party... made up of southern conservatives who will leave the Democrats at the open

Ex-Governor Suffers Ills

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—Former Gov. Douglas McKay is suffering from pneumonia, a "patchy form of pneumonia," his physician said Friday night.

There also appears to be evidence of stress or strain on the heart of the former Secretary of the Interior, said the doctor, who refused use of his name.

The report gave the findings of a week of tests into the illness of McKay, who entered a hospital here last Saturday.

The report added: "The heart strain may be related to the form of pneumonia, but there is no evidence of a coronary attack."

At present, McKay was high blood pressure and is running a temperature. Otherwise, he is responding well to treatment, and should be released from the hospital in a week.

The 65-year-old McKay now is head of the United States Section of the International Joint Commission, which is seeking to resolve water disputes between this country and Canada.

Manned Orb Seen Likely

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Army plan for constructing a super-booster rocket engine is arousing speculation the Pentagon may be contemplating an attempt to put a manned satellite in orbit.

The speculation was sparked Friday with a Defense Department announcement of a two-million-dollar Army contract award for a mammoth booster with an aim of "placing very large payloads into orbit."

The announcement, however, gave no further indication of the type of satellite being planned for launching by the new booster.

The booster, missilemen's term for the first stage of a multistage rocket, will have a thrust of 1 1/2 million pounds—approximately eight times more powerful than any existing propulsion unit in America's rocket arsenal.

The contract was awarded to North American Aviation's Rocketdyne Division.

Supervision of the high priority project was assigned to the Army's Ballistic Missile Agency.

The announcement of the Army contract said the superbooster will consist of a cluster of already tested rocket motors packaged into a single unit.

The chief element will be a motor similar to that used in intermediate and intercontinental range ballistic missiles such as the Army Jupiter and the Air Force Thor and Atlas.

Annual Rodeo Going Strong

PENDLETON, Ore. (AP)—The 29 cowpokes competed Saturday at the 47th annual Pendleton Roundup for all-around cowboy honors and top berths in the six major competitive rodeo events and a $28,000 purse.

The cowboys competed Friday afternoon under a light drizzle that failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the performers or the crowd.

Everett Shaw of Stonewall, Okla., all-around champion here in 1943 and 1948, roped his steer in 17.7 seconds for one of the day's best performances.

Jim Shoulders of Henryetta, Okla., last year's defending champion, led bareback riding with 184 points. Bob Robinson of Calgary, Alta., led saddle bronc riding with 183.

Some 23,000 lined Pendleton streets Friday for the Westward Ho Parade—traditional highlight of the roundup. Some 1,200 persons and 2,000 horses were in the parade.

The grand marshal, Lt. Gov. Rex Bell of Nevada, led a host of dignitaries that included Gov. Robert D. Holmes of Oregon, Gov. Albert Rosellini of Washington and Secretary Mark Hatfield of Oregon. U.S. Senator Wayne L. Morse and Congressman Walter Norblad and Al Ullman, all of Oregon, also participated.

Colorfully clad Indians, stage coaches, a pack train, covered wagons, conestoga wagons, all in the tradition of the old West, were in the parade.
