City Officials Election Due

CHILOQUIN — Nominees for eight city officials will be chosen at a city caucus Friday night, September 19, beginning at 8 o'clock at the old Chilquin gym. It has been announced by Mayor Bert Albert. It will be the first time since the incorporation of the city in 1928 that the entire staff of elected officers will be chosen at one balloting. The change results from the fact that there was no city election in 1952.

Candidates for the offices of mayor, six councilmen and recorder-treasurer will have their names placed on the November 4 city ballot.

Chiloquin is one of the few towns in the state to choose nominees by the public meeting method. Other candidates can be listed on the ballot, according to city ordinance No. 52, by a petition filed not sooner than 50 nor later than 30 days prior to the election and carrying signatures numbering at least 15 per cent of the total vote cast for the candidates for mayor in the previous election. All terms of office are for two years with the exception of three councilmen who are chosen for a one year period.

No election was held in 1957 upon the advice of city attorney Henry Perkins, due to the fact that the ordinances were being brought up to date both by the council and with the League of Oregon Cities. During the period of revision and filing it was felt that legal authority for the election was lacking.

The decision of the city council to carry certain officials through another year of office was bitterly contested by a few town voters at more than one council meeting last fall. Every registered voter within the city limits is urged to attend the important caucus but a minimum of 25 will constitute a quorum. Over 200 persons attended the last caucus in 1956.

Home Extension

ALTAMONT

The first fall meeting of the Altamont Home Extension Unit was held in Ward Park September 9 with 25 members and several visitors taking part in the project, "Camp Cookery." Leaders were Halie Miller and Virginia West. The food prepared was eaten at the picnic lunch.

Yearbooks were filled in and project leaders listed during the business meeting. Norma Uerlings is chairman; Halie Miller, vice chairman; Jo Schuh, secretary, and Rheta Hill, treasurer.
