Search For Perfect Woman Unending Says Designer

By DOROTHY ROE Associated Press Women's Writer "I've never yet found a perfect woman," says Charles LeMaire, who for the last 25 years has designed costumes for the most famous beauties of stage and screen.

has a diaphragm that's hard to fit. If she's a dancer, she's likely to have overdeveloped legs. Glamorous sweater girls usually are top-heavy. Designing clothes for any woman is a problem, for the job of the designer always is to camouflage her bad points and accent her good ones."

LeMaire was born in Chicago, designer on Broadway. Then he moved to Salt Lake City and came to New York in his teens to be head designer for 20th Century-Fox for the last 15 years.
