TV Notes

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI)—Here's an odd thing. Not only are two of television's most celebrated "low comics" the stars of two of the new season's most impressive dramatic entries, but they achieved the comedy pinnacle working on the same program. They are Jackie Gleason and Art Carney. Jackie plus a moustache and minus a few pounds has just finished the teleplay recording of William Saroyan's prize play, "The Time of Your Life," for use Oct. 9 on the CBS "Playhouse 90." Art is now in rehearsal for the Sept. 22 telecast of Mary Chase's beloved comedy, "Harvey," which will be the first "Show of the Month" on CBS.

One who has observed the flowering of Jackie Gleason's moustache, grown especially for his role in "The Time of Your Life," says that it gives him an amazing resemblance to Orson Welles. By the time you see the moustache on television Oct. 9, it will have ceased to exist; the play will have been teleplayed a month before and Jackie will have dispensed with the lip adornment in the interest of his live weekly variety half-hour starting Oct. 3 on CBS.

The new "Yancy Derringer" adventure series on CBS got a built-in stunt man when Jock Mahoney was hired to play the hero. Stunt work was his specialty in the movie industry before roles in TV lifted him out of the ranks of the daring unknowns.

The "Your Hit Parade" people discovered an interesting thing in deciding to base their weekly selection of the nation's top 12 tunes on surveys made by "The Billboard." A study of many months of the trade publication's listings disclosed that if only the 10 top songs were used as a base, the program could be assured of no more than an average of one new tune a week. But by setting the figure at 12, there was assurance of three new numbers weekly, a much more desirable variety. Then it was suggested that 15 might be even better, but not so. In this lot you could still count on only three new ones weekly. Hence, 12.

The engines of a new U. S. jet bomber flying at only 375 mph, develop more horsepower than 400 automobiles of 200 horsepower each.
