

AXEMEN'S LAST STAND — Eugene quarterback Ken Tuttle grinds to a screeching halt as the final horn sounds on the South Eugene 12-7 defeat on Modoc Field Friday night.

KUHS Pelicans Carve 12-7 Victory Over Axemen In First Home Stand

The Klamath Union Pelicans surged to a blood-thirsting 12-7 victory over the highly-touted South Eugene Axemen Friday night on Modoc Field to notch their first win of the 1958 KU football season before a happy crowd of Klamath Falls fans who roared its approval of the Pelicans' revenge for their season-opening loss at Coos Bay.

The Pelicans, in what jubilant head coach Andy Knudsen termed "the finest team victory I have ever seen" withstood an early South Eugene threat which failed on the Pel's two yard line to bounce back with a pair of TDs, one in the last seconds of the first half and a tremendous 80 yard sustained march from the kickoff in the third period to convincingly whip the Axemen, despite a marked weight, size and experience disadvantage.

"Real determination won this ball game," exclaimed exuberant coach Knudsen, a sentiment that was echoed almost to the letter by not-so-exuberant losing coach Lloyd Amick.

Hancock, whose power through the middle accounted for the second Pel six-pointer, carried the ball eight times without the loss of a yard, often with two or three Axemen riding his broad back.

Ron Olvera, halfback, turned in probably the best game of his career against the big Eugenians, as he racked up the longest run from scrimmage of the game, a 31 yard romp during the Pel's third period drive to paydirt.

Though outgained on the ground, 165 yards to 140 by the Axemen, the Pel put their gains together where they counted and notched 89 yards via the airwaves to 39 for Eugene as compared to 204 for Eugene. Despite the fact that they lost three fumbles to one for Eugene, the Pelicans collected 10 first downs while South Eugene netted only eight.

hard charging KU line and the Pel took over on their own nine. KU moved down to the Eugene 36 before they lost control with a fumble. Again the Axemen were forced to punt and the Pel started over. A short pass to end Gary Kraneburg was good for five yards but Eugene held and Drace had to punt again. On this one however, Eugene fumbled on their own 35 and the Pel were on their way to their first score.

On a quick opener Griggs and Hancock collaborated on a buck lateral that culminated in a 35 yard pass from Griggs to Dennis after which the talented sophomore squirted into the end zone.

A conversion attempt by Hancock failed and the Pel led 6-0, with only seconds left in the half. On the kickoff by Eugene at the opening of the third stanza, the Pel moved from their own 20 to paydirt in 14 plays as Hancock powered across from the two to bring the count to 12-0. Griggs was nailed behind the line as he attempted a running conversion around right end.

The Pelicans next step toward starting a win string comes next Friday when they face Redding on the KU gridiron in another non-conference test.

place for anyone in football, and Perkins showed that he had a deep interest in the sport. Come next year he will have an extra year of eligibility plus lots of important experience he picked up by staying around.

2. Hunsaker received a laugh out of Otis Foster, the Owl's prize pick from Oceanic Junior College. Foster, who could develop into one of the school's finest runners, was greeted at the train depot when the halfback arrived in Klamath Falls. Upon introducing himself to Hunsaker, he said "I am OTI S. Foster." If he could continue to improve, Foster could literally become "OTI S."

Klamath Falls bowlers who watched Dick Hoover in action during a special exhibition recently saw one of bowling's top men. Hoover was named to the second team of Bowling Magazine's 1957-58 All-America team.

On the first team were Don Carter, who received all first place votes but one, and that was for second team, Tom Hennessy, Buzz Fazio, Ed Lubanski and Steve Nagy. On the second team with Hoover were Ray Bluth, Al Faragalli, Bill Lillard and Billy Welu.

One name that was missing, much to our surprise was Buddy Bomar, who appeared here in an earlier exhibition. In fact, Bomar didn't make one of the all-section teams selected by the magazine, nor did he even make the honorable mention list. Another name missing that has set the bowling world buzzing in the East and Midwest is Stan Gifford, the young Portland-grown keeler who has been doing lots of bowling on the national television bowling programs. Gifford, like Bomar, didn't even rate honorable mention.

One Oregonian did get picked to the honorable mention list of the all-west team. Kelly Watson of Portland was the lone Oregon bowler picked.

The San Francisco 49ers have turned out one of the nicest press books we have ever seen. A great deal of credit to the success of this 1958 49er yearbook goes to publicity man Dan McGuire, the white-haired "greeter" of the San Francisco football forces.

This year's book, dedicated to Tony Morabito, a co-owner of the club who died in the stands during a game last fall, reviews the complete San Francisco football history from the start up to this year's prospects.

Merrill Bombs Mustangs

In one of the classics of the annual Klamath County B school football schedule the Merrill Huskies swarmed over the more-inexperienced Malin Mustangs, 41-13, Saturday afternoon on the Malin gridiron.

The Huskies, led by 155 pound fullback Dean Haskins who scored three of the Merrill six-pointers, counted a pair of TDs in both the first and fourth quarters and notched one each in the second and third. The sure toe of Bud Maupin, halfback, booted five of six conversion chances through the uprights.

The young Malin squad, who took the gridiron under the guidance of George Hansen, the new Mustang mentor, were not entirely denied their day as a 60 yard pass play from Randy Miller to Jim Owens set up a second period tally by Rick Hillan who plunged across from the one. The Malin team notched another touchdown in the last frame of a neat, 30 yard double reverse by Stan Petrakec that caught the Huskies napping. Rick Hillan booted the lone Malin conversion.

Coach Al Keck's Huskies took over early in the first quarter after Malin fumbled while returning the Merrill kickoff. The Huskies moved into pay dirt within the first four minutes of the game and were never in serious trouble from there on.

Merrill racked up 13 first downs as compared to six for the Mustangs.

Haskins, a junior, scored all three of his touchdowns off running plays that included a 75 yard kickoff return that went all the way, a 12 yard run and a plunge over from the three. Bud Maupin counted on a 12 yard sprint. Troy Patterson popped into the end zone from the two and Brian Francis romped 35 yards with an intercepted pass to round out the Huskie scoring.

Standout performances were registered by Merrill's Bill Beasley, Dave Andrieu and John Haskins, who handled blocking assignments to perfection.

PRE-VICTORY CONFERENCE—Klamath Union head coach Andy Knudsen imparts a word or two of advice to Pelican fullback John Hancock in a between-the-acts conference prior to the Pel's convincing victory over the South Eugene Axemen on Modoc Field Friday night.

Pins and Strikes

Hello, and welcome to another season of bowling news. We're about two and one half weeks late, so first the high spots.

Laverne Allen, Tulalake school teacher, who held a 170 average last year, rolled a great big 746 series the first night of Classic League bowling. Vera's high series not only is a record at Lucky Lanes but also a record at the Sportsman's Hotel of Tulalake, sparked by Allen's sensational efforts rolled a high game of 1081, which is believed to be the highest team game and individual series ever rolled in league play here in Klamath Falls. Looks like a good season ahead.

Sacred Heart 11 Dumped

The Sacred Heart Academy Trojans got their 1958 conference football schedule off to a less than perfect start as they fell 31-6 to a determined St. Marys eleven in Medford Friday night.

The Trojans, Klamath County's smallest "B" school, were overpowered until in the last quarter when they managed to punch over the lone six-pointer. Tom Amberg, a 180 pound senior halfback scammed across from the five after the Trojans capitalized on a St. Marys fumble.

Coach Bill McKibben's Medford squad was successful on four pass plays and one interception in racking up their five TDs. Their only conversion was also a pass.

Henley Hornets Tie Alturas Braves 7-7

The Henley Hornets trokked to Alturas Saturday to wage a nip-and-tuck 7-7 tie battle with the Modoc Union Braves before a crowd that included over 200 Henley boosters who made the trip with their football team.

Henley's sophomore quarterback, Gary Beber sneaked into the end zone from the Alturas four yard line early in the second period to give the Hornets a 7-0 lead that held up until the last three minutes in the game when the Braves launched a ground attack from their own 20 that went all the way allowing fullback Dick Smith to score on a spinner from the four. The Braves utilized their fourth down situations on their sustained march. An earlier Alturas touchdown was called back because of a clipping penalty, after speedburner Bill Flournoy had scampered 80 yards off left tackle.

A pair of injuries marred the Hornets' trip as all-conference center Joe Tacchini and tackle John Roberts were forced to retire because of twisted knees. Numerous unnecessary roughness penalties were assessed during the hard-fought clash, 80 yards being charged to Alturas while Henley was billed for 15.

Tacchini and Roberts join Burrell Guber, another regular on the injured list. It is doubtful whether any of the three will be ready for the Hornets next outing against Eagle Point next Friday night, stated coach Ted Ammerman.

Beber and Phil Swisher combined to toss nine successes in 12 pass attempts for a total of 115 yards while the Braves amassed only 30 by air as they completed two of 13 tries.

Cyclones Roll Over Drake, 33-0

AMES, Iowa (AP)—It took Iowa State 25 minutes to produce a sustained offense and then the Cyclones rolled to a 33-0 victory over Drake Saturday.

A capcity opening day crowd of 15,000, largest in Iowa State history, watched the Cyclones successfully inaugurate Clay Stapleton's first venture in head coaching.

St. Marys scored twice in the first period, twice in the second and once in the fourth; missing paydirt only in the third stanza.

Florida Swamps Tulane, 34-14

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Florida's question mark backfield supplied some impressive answers in a season opening 34-14 rout of Tulane Saturday.

Mickey Ellenburg, second-string quarterback, passed for two touchdowns and Don Deal, sophomore halfback, ran 67 yards for another.

North Carolina Humbled By NCS

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP)—Underdog North Carolina State turned three recovered fumbles into touchdowns behind the running of halfback Ken Townbridge and scored a stunning 21-14 football victory Saturday over 10th-ranked North Carolina before a crowd of 41,000.

N. C. State, defending Atlantic Coast Conference champion, completely outplayed Coach Jim Tatum's highly touted Tar Heels, who had been picked a pre-season favorite along with Clemson to win the ACC title.

Texas Christian Wallops Kansas
