STOCKS

NEW YORK (AP) — Another selling wave hit the stock market today, putting the list on the downside at the close. The ticker tape was late in heavy trading.

Volume for the day was estimated at 4,500,000 shares compared with 3,120,000 Wednesday.

Gains and losses of fractions to a point or more prevailed among key stocks. A few issues made wider gains.

Selling pressure caused an interruption in Studebaker-Packard trading for several minutes.

It looked like a "warning signal" to some market analysts that a correction from the all-time high could take place but the rebound showed the list in apparently good technical condition.

Losses of more than a point were shown in late dealings by Eastman Kodak and Caterpillar. Fractionally lower were Studebaker-Packard, Chrysler, American Telephone, New York Central and General Dynamics.

Parke, Davis bounded ahead about seven points on a stock split proposal, Celanese, Johns-Manville, and Curtis Publishing rose about a point.

Gains of more than a point were posted by Anaconda, Kennecott and Westinghouse Electric. Zenith was off about two. Gulf Oil advanced more than two.

U.S. government bonds declined.

Little Taken From Pop Box

Shaking down coin boxes in coke machines isn't a particularly profitable enterprise, some petty thieves learned Wednesday night.

City police said raids on three machines at gas stations netted exactly $1.10. Officers said a machine coin box at a Texaco station at Esplanade and Wall streets produced absolutely nothing, a Richfield station across the street contained two dimes, and a Shell station at Oregon Avenue and Donald Street netted 90 cents.

Officers said the thieves expressed disappointment in their haul from the empty box by hurling it 20 or 30 yards into a parking lot.

Also reported was an apparent free-swinging painting spree down an alley behind Manzanita Street. Mrs. Frank Johnson, 1946 Manzanita, said her back fence was adorned with the barely decipherable letters, "L R B R" in red paint. A neighbor, Mrs. John Houston, 1954 Manzanita, said the erection on her fence amounted to little more than a scrawl.

Police theorized a wandering artist had meandered down the alley with a can of red spray paint in hand.

Joseph Skean told officers he was relieved of a billfold containing about $300 while in a tavern early Thursday.

Other thefts reported included a spare wheel and tire from a pickup belonging to John Wilson, 159 1/2 Hillside, and a 35 mm. camera belonging to Marie Kane of Dorris, stolen from her car parked on Oregon Avenue.

BLOOD DONORS REWARDS

It's fried chicken and apple pie in the county jail today. The cause, said Sheriff Red Britton, was the response from prisoners who volunteered blood for the Red Cross Bloodmobile Wednesday. Britton said blood was accepted from 49 of his 78 volunteers. The sheriff's cooks were busy preparing 90 chicken halves and enough apple pie to serve each customer.

Local Firms To Receive UF Honors

Announcement that two firms which had not yet won United Fund awards for outstanding citizenship were certain to do so as a result of the current UF-Red Cross fund drive was made by Associate Chairman Paul Cruikshank at Thursday's campaign report luncheon held at the Pelican Cafe.

The new award winners are the Safeway store located at Eighth and Pine streets, and the Big Y Market, 4710 South Sixth Street. Cruikshank said that all employees at the Eighth Street Safeway store had pledged to participate in the campaign, with per capita giving of 20 employees, running $20.45. Per capita giving for 12 employees at the Big Y was reported at $17.23.

The citizenship awards will not be made until early in 1959, but Marvin Martin, assistant manager, of the Safeway store, and Ron Phair, co-owner with Dick Howard of the Big Y Market, did receive the Oscars for their establishments.

Thursday's presentation of Oscars was made by Chuck Bailey. Those receiving them, and the establishments they represent, were Mrs. Stella Bogie, county juvenile officer; Chief Roy Rowe, city fire department; Mrs. Enid Hoppe, Red Cross officer; Mrs. Ed Brotherton, Girl Scouts officer; Mrs. Margaret Wilder and Mrs. Mary Ann Lee, Klamath Basin Pine Mills Company; Doug Pence, J. W. Kerns Limited; George Tsakonas, Willard Hotel; Fritz Hahn, East Side Electric; and Mrs. Eugenia McCoy, Riverside School. The last two establishments mentioned won outstanding citizenship awards last year, and seem to be well placed to repeat. In fact, it was announced at the meeting that the Riverside contribution had increased from $289 last year to $313.

Firms whose eligibility for Oscar awards has just been announced at drive headquarters are: Klamath Iron Works, Great Northern Railway Company, Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, Montgomery Ward and Company, Ganongs Variety, Rickys Jewelers, Ponderosa School, Klamath Forest Protective Association, Don Potter Machinery Company, Flowers By Bill and Rita.

Time Reduced On Diversion

A difference from last season in the livestock feed and starch diversion program for potatoes is a month's less time in which the 50 cent rate per hundredweight may be earned, the Klamath County Agents' office reports.

Diversion payment rate drops to 40 cents per hundredweight on December 1; to 30 cents per hundredweight on March 1; and the program terminates April 30 unless terminated earlier.

These payment rates apply only for diversion of potatoes of No. 2 quality or better and over two inches in diameter.

A number of livestock feeders have already received authorization as diverters. The starch plant is in the process of obtaining authorization and is ready to receive potatoes now.

Some cullage has moved to livestock feeders as 25 cents per hundredweight with no hauling cost to the grower.

Management of the starch plant has announced that price for culls delivered at the plant will not be below 25 cents.

Diversion payment for Specification A potatoes mixed with culls is passed on to the grower along with payment for feed or starch value of the entire tonnage.

Marketing order regulations restrict fresh stock shipments to two inch minimum No. 1 packs and eight ounce minimum No. 2 packs of long varieties. For round varieties packs must be two inch minimum No. 1 grade. These minimums were required for eligibility to participate in the diversion program. It is likely that all No. 2's of long varieties may be diverted in many cases.

Shipment of U.S. 1 size B (one and one half to two and one fourth inch diameter range) to prepeeler for use in salads and hash browns is authorized by permit. Permits may also be obtained for shipment to canners and freezers or for export or dehydration.

Drop Charge DA Requests

The week's third rustling case against the same two defendants was dismissed by District Judge D. E. Van Vactor Thursday upon motion of the district attorney.

However the defendants, Paul R. Wilson, 28, and Eldon L. Shafer, 35, remain bound to the Klamath County Grand Jury on two other rustling charges heard this week.

The district attorney's office said the charges heard Thursday was dismissed because the complainant could not positively state that the cow involved had been stolen.

Wilson and Shafer had been accused of stealing a white-faced Hereford cow from rancher Milton G. Sessler. The cow was in a truck behind the courthouse, and it bore Sessler's MS brand, Sessler said. But he testified he could not be certain it was a cow he had not.

The charges on which the defendants were bound to the grand jury earlier this week alleged they had stolen one black, white-faced cow and one calf from Lorenz G. VanderKamp, and had stolen three Hereford cows and three calves from Adlai Johnson.

As a result of dismissal of the third charge, bond for Wilson and Shafer was reduced from a total of $15,000 to $10,000, representing $5,000 on each charge.

Both defendants are free on bond in these cases, and in another case still pending in district court.

Neuberger Honors Due

Plans to honor Sen. Richard L. Neuberger and Management Specialist T. B. Watters for the part they played in getting the Klamath Indian Termination bill and amendments through Congress have been completed and a dinner has been arranged at the Winema Hotel for Wednesday, October 8, at 6:30 p.m.

The chamber of commerce announced that tickets for the event have been limited to 100. The tickets are now being printed, and should be available for sale early next week.

Senator Neuberger played a dramatic role in persuading Congress to make amendments to the termination bill passed by the previous session.

He withdrew his own amending bill and threw his complete support to an administration sponsored bill which would permit private purchase of the timberlands under sustained yield guarantee, and failing that, government purchase up to an amount of 90 million dollars.

T. B. Watters, as Management Specialist, has directed the office for the past four years, carrying out the provisions of the termination bill, and arranging for the holding of an election of tribal members to withdraw or remain in a management plan which he also helped organize.

California Man Faces Charges

Eddie Granville Aulston, 28, of Shafter, California, waived extradition to California Thursday to face grand theft charges in Modoc County.

Aulston was arrested Thursday morning in the Malin Labor Camp by Klamath County Deputy Sheriff A. O. Schmidt and Modoc Deputy Charles Thompson.

The officers said Aulston was accused of stealing a chain saw and a box of tools, both of which were recovered, from Albert Merrill of Alturas Tuesday.

Aulston voluntarily signed extradition waiver a few hours after his arrest.

PETTY THEFT

State Police said burglars made off with $250 in quarters, plus two dimes and a nickel, from the home of G. H. Hageman, 5016 Johns Avenue Thursday night.

The thieves, police said, pried open a bedroom window to enter the house. They missed more money and other valuables, officers said, apparently because they were scared away when the residents came home between 5:15 and 7:45 p.m.

H-N Scribe Interviews Accused Bank Robber

By TOM STIMMEL
The wiry, balding little man had agreed to talk.
He leaned back on a bunk in the county jail late Thursday afternoon and answered in a calm, matter-of-fact voice the questions that were asked.
It had been no trouble at all robbing the bank, he said. He simply walked into the Crocker-Anglo branch bank in Fresno, California, poked a note through a teller's cage, and waited.
The note, said Marshall Stevens, 40, read: "This is a holdup. Be smart and no one will be hurt." Stevens recalled the wording without hesitation.
The teller never hesitated, Stevens said. "He tried to expose the note to the guy in the next cage," he said, "but I grabbed it and stuck it in my pocket."
It was 10:15 on the morning of July 18, Stevens said he took the money—"I don't know exactly how much. I counted to $1,200 and quit," and walked out of the bank.
"I walked down the street one block, down the alley one block, and got in my car and drove off," he said. He spent that night in Fresno, then started north.
Stevens leaned forward from the bunk and squashed a cigarette into a makeshift ash tray on the brightly painted jail floor. He was a willing and cooperative person to interview, just as he had been the other night.

Expert Notes Wetback Dip In The Area

There aren't very many wetbacks in Southern Oregon and extreme Northern California this harvest season, a federal immigration officer said Friday.
Al Neumann, investigator from the Portland office of the U.S. Immigration Service, said the number of Mexicans working in agriculture is relatively small compared with the number of Americans this season.
"Wetbacks" are Mexican nationals who have entered this country illegally. They derive their nickname from past entries made by swimming the Rio Grande River, although most illegal immigrants now enter the United States through California and Arizona.
Neumann and four U.S. Border Patrol officers working out of Blaine, Washington, left Klamath Falls Friday after working in both Oregon and California fields and labor camps. They made three arrests.

Ney Olitegui Pinedo, a 21-year-old Peruvian native, arrested at Weyerhaeuser Camp 9, told Neumann he had jumped the S.S. Tomulus, a Norwegian freighter, in Tacoma about six months ago. He has no legal status in the United States, Neumann said, and he probably will be returned to Peru.
Feliz Alcaraz-Aguilar, 37, is a Mexican border jumper, Neumann said. He was taken off a freight train at an Alamo siding, and admitted he had been in this country a year and a half.
Antonio Contreras Islas, 34, also a Mexican, was arrested at Tulare. He was a bracero (a contract farm worker) who entered this country legally June 15 but stayed after his 45-day contract expired.
Islas and Aguilar were flown to Sacramento earlier this week.
