ONE OF THE MOST exciting, yet difficult, chores for newlyweds is choosing the furnishings for their first home. They want their selections to be suitable for their first small apartment as well as for the larger quarters they hope to have later. It's quite a challenge.

The John Pelts of Chicago furnished their 2½-room apartment with charm, but wisely kept an eye to the future. White elephants were not for them. Basic items were chosen; many because they can do double duty, others because of their ample storage capacities. All are handsome pieces easily rearranged for use in any future home, yet they provide Kathy and John with an attractive and very livable home right now.
