Ore Tech To Host PSC Viks

Oregon Tech's 1958 football team opens its Oregon Collegiate Conference grid campaign against Portland State College at Modoc Field Saturday night in the midst of hula hoops and a special "Hunters Family Night" crowd.

Kickoff time is 8 o'clock. Being Saturday is the opening of the deer season a great many wives and children will be left behind as father heads into the woods. The OTI Athletic Department has planned to admit all ladies on a half-price 75-cent ticket and all youngsters 13 years of age and under who bring a hula hoop to the game will be admitted free of charge.

At halftime, all of the young hula hoop artists will gather on the field for an exhibition. Free ice cream will be provided to all boys and girls participating in the halftime show.

While the athletic department has been making plans for the special night, coach Rex Hunsaker and his staff have been making plans to upset the favored Vikings of Portland State. According to Williamson's Rating System, PSC rules a solid two to three touch-down favorite in this meeting which opens the Oregon Collegiate Conference schedule.

The Owls have been conducting semi-closed practice sessions this past week, hoping to spring something new at the Portland State defenses. Added time has also been used to try and develop a defense to slow up the PSC running attack.

Portland State, classed as the most improved team in the conference and ranked as the club to unseat Southern Oregon as the OGC kingly, boasts three very fine running backs the Owls must contain if they are to walk off the field winners Saturday night. Coach Les Leggett will have the services of fullback Bill Turner, and halfbacks George (Killer) Kane and Herm Winterholler. Turner, a Little All-American candidate has averaged just under four yards per carry in the two previous games this fall. Kane and Winterholler rank one and two in total rushing yardage with 164 and 63 net yards in two games.

Ward Sayles is expected to start at quarterback for the Vikings. Scheduled to start for Portland State in the line are ends Willie Brown and Sam Roberts, tackles Bob Wheeler and Mac Wiebe, guards Dave Roberts and Pat Curtis and center Mickey Grey. Curtis is a converted fullback, giving the Portlanders plenty of speed for down field blocking assignments. Roberts, a two-year letterman, was an all-conference choice last year.

Hunsaker will be without the services of offensive end Ardell Hamilton for the second straight week. Hamilton suffered a badly wrenched knee in the Westminster opener and hasn't seen any duty since. Bob Bleggi, a transfer from San Francisco City College, and Ralph Norrard, a converted letterman center, will probably be the two starting ends.

Other starting Tech linemen will probably be tackles Arnold Metcalf and Dick Hill, guards Andy Cook and Allen Jones and center Bill Barrington. Ends Norm Hooper and Dale McCulloch and guard Frank Wilson will probably see lots of defensive work in the Tech forward wall.

Charlie Gantler is expected to get the starting call at quarterback for the Owls with Al (Tiger) Everson and Charlie Wilson, a pair of lettermen, running from the halfback spots. The fullback position is still a question with Earl Green and Allen Leach still bothered by injuries. Green suffered a milder shoulder muscle and Leach, who was out last week is recovering from a hip pointer. Both injuries could affect OTI's running attack when the Owls were beaten 34-0 by Hamilton Air Base.

Saturday night's game will mark the last home game for Oregon Tech until the Southern Oregon game here October 18. The OTI-SOC game will be the Homecoming game for the Mile High Campus.

HULA HOOP FOOTBALL — Two young Klamath Falls boys, Ken and Scott Douglas, show Oregon Tech coach Rex Hunsaker, right, and letterman footballers Allen Jones (70) and Dale McCulloch (56) how to use a hula hoop. These two boys are expected to join other youngsters in a special halftime show of Saturday night's Oregon Tech-Portland State football game at Modoc Field. All boys and girls 13 years of age and under will be admitted free with a hula hoop.

Pelicans, Millers To Clash

"Well—we are in the worst physical condition of the year but just the same I think the boys want to win one," commented KU football coach Andy Knudsen as his Pelicans headed for the showers Thursday afternoon at the close of a week's preparation for tonight's game with the Millers at Springfield.

The severest cases in the "physical condition" referred to by Knudsen were those of Charleton Currin and Nick Insley. Currin, the 220 pound first string center may be out for the balance of the season with a badly injured knee incurred in Wednesday practice scrimmages. Insley, a 180 pound regular tackle, is suffering with a bad shoulder that will make him miss tonight's game, at least, by doctor's orders.

John Hancock, the 200 pounder who has alternated at fullback with Ron House, is going at about three-quarter speed because of a wrenched knee. Six other players, all ends, are complaining of leg and ankle troubles.

"Outside of that we are all set," Knudsen added drily. Thursday afternoon drills avoided contact work as much as possible and placed the emphasis on running plays and specialty work and closed out a week of practice that saw the Pels neither extra-sharp nor overly slow.

The necessary absences of Insley and Currin force some changes in the Pel lineup for tonight's contest but others result from weaknesses appearing in the Redding game.

Given the nod for starting roles are Blake Griggs, quarterback, halfbacks Ron Olvera and Don Story while Ron House will go at full.

In the line are ends Gary Kranenburg and Larry Bunyard, tackles Ron Ybarra and Larry Badorek, Rich Moore at center while the Hancock brothers Gary and John will start at the guard slots.

Picked by Whitbeck, who, like Knudsen, made a number of changes, are Larry King, 170, quarterback, Gary Brown, 155, and Jim Roper, 155, at halfback spots, and Duane Cargill, 195, at fullback. Cargill is the Millers leading groundgainer. Forming a line which weighs approximately the same as the Pelican forward wall are ends Bill Reynolds, 165, and Ron Kelso, 175, tackles Jim Lohn, 165 and Dan Brown, 215, guards George Lynch, 180, and Bob Zechentmayer, also 180. At center is John Blair who weighs in at 175.

The Pelicans left Klamath Falls this morning after an early pep assembly and will quarter in Eugene at the Osborne Hotel. The squad will lay over Friday night then go on to the OSC-UCLA game in Corvallis Saturday.

Scotty's BARKS 'N' BITES
By WAYNE SCOTT

Rabid prep football fans from all over Oregon and Northern California will pour into Medford tonight . . . Why . . . Just to see what might be termed the battle of the century as far as high school football goes . . . that's why.

The mighty Medford Black Tornado, ranked No. 3, and the seemingly invincible Marshfield Pirates, who are ranked second behind Jefferson of Portland, will clash in what will certainly be the "Game of the Week" and could even make the state championship game seem anti-climactic.

It just could be that the same two might meet again for the state crown.

At any rate it promises to be a fine football game — a kind of "immovable object, irresistible force" situation. Something has to give. . . .

It has been this writer's contention since seeing the Pirates in action at Coos Bay that the team to beat Marshfield is automatically the state champion. If I were asked for my choice in the Pirate-Tornado match I'd say Marshfield, but I wouldn't even venture a guess as to the score.

Am I going to see it? Naw, I'm a Pelican fan . . . be looking for you in Springfield.

Speaking of Pelicans. . . . I am looking for a 13-7 Pel victory over the Springfield Millers tonight. It's their turn to win and we have a sneaking hunch that the Millers may be taking the Whitebirds a little too lightly. Springfield scouts weren't overly impressed by the KU showing last weekend against the Shasta Wolves but it can be suspected that the Pelican performance was not at all a true picture of their real potential.

Have heard it said that any given team can come "up" on any given night and really upset the doze-cart.

As one much more sage than I put it, "They are just boys playing a game of emotion — and the ball can bounce in any direction." The Whitebirds suffered a severe blow, two of them in fact, this week as Nick Insley and Charleton Currin were put on the shelf.

Anthony Set For TV Battle

BALTIMORE (AP) — Tony Anthony tries for the second time in a month tonight to chop his way into the heavyweight boxing picture against Archie McBride.

The televised fight (NBC 9 p.m. EST) is scheduled for 10 rounds. Last month, Anthony squeaked off with a decision over McBride in Syracuse.

The 24-year-old Anthony from New York City is trying to move into the heavy division after fighting his way to No. 2 among the light heavies.

He won 34 of his 40 bouts before tangleing with McBride, 29 and from Trenton, N.J. McBride has fought most of the ranking heavyweights including champion Floyd Patterson. He has 21 victories in 35 bouts.

Game Men Have Slow Fish Derby

SEATTLE (AP) — Fifteen men competing in a salmon derby Thursday landed a total of one small salmon and an anemic red snapper.

The event was the third annual derby of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's local biologists. They fished more than five hours.

So. Cal Opens Coast Grid Play Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Southern California Trojans lead the Pacific Coast Conference into the third week of its final football season Friday night when they meet the North Carolina Tar Heels for the first time at Los Angeles.

The Trojans will have to get through the exercise without two of their first-string backs, but they're still regarded one-touch-down favorites.

Clark Holden, the No. 1 USC fullback, will sit out the game with a charley horse that's troubled him all season. And first-team quarterback Willie Wood will be out because of a cracked shoulder bone.

Holden will be replaced by Jerry Persinger, a sophomore who played expertly against Oregon State and Michigan. Wood's spot will be filled by Tom Maudlin, a sometimes dangerous passer.

The Tar Heels lost their first two games, to North Carolina State and Clemson. The Trojans beat Oregon State and lost to Michigan.

The rest of the PCC goes to work Saturday, Washington State and California, meeting in a nationally televised game at Berkeley, both issued casualty reports Thursday. Washington State's would appear the most serious because it involves Don Ellingsen, the first-ranking pass catcher in the PCC last season. Ellingsen twisted his knee in practice and was declared out of the Cal game. Also out will be halfback Phil Mast, who re-injured a knee.

At Berkeley, second-string California tackle Doug Furuta was ruled out of the weekend picture after he suffered a knee strain. And coach Pete Elliott said he had doubts about his No. 2 fullback, Walt Arnold, who has a bad shoulder.

Elliott announced one lineup change. He said Tom Bates will replace Skip Huber as starting left end.

Oregon, Washington and UCLA all were scheduled to take off for Saturday engagements Friday. Oregon will play Oklahoma at Norman, Washington will meet Ohio State at Columbus and UCLA faces Oregon State at Corvallis.
