High Court Hears Fight

OLYMPIA (AP) — Oral arguments in a case involving appointment of a receiver for the Seattle Teamsters Union Local 174 were heard by the State Supreme Court Monday.

The court action was brought by A. F. Grein, Lawrence C. Anderson, Dell L. Selles, James McDermott and William T. Hughes, all members of the Seattle Teamsters Union.

It was filed against the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, the local union and its officers, George Cavano and Russell Anderson.

The complaining union members asked for a "full, fair and equitable accounting of the books and records" of Local 174, contending they had been unable to obtain a financial accounting from union officers.

King County Superior Court Judge Theodore S. Turner issued an order appointing Adolph W. Engstrom receiver for Local 174. In the appeal argued Monday, union officials claimed the five Teamster members had not exhausted the remedies available to them within the union.

They maintained that in an earlier court action involving essentially the same issues the King County Superior Court held that the complaining union members had a remedy provided in the Teamsters' International Constitution.

That ruling should apply to the present case, the union officers argued. The high court took the case under advisement.

State Examiner Questions Water Line Job On School

OLYMPIA (AP) — A $12,137 repair job on the water line serving Rainier State School at Buckley was questioned by an Examiner for State Auditor Cliff Yelle Monday.

The examiner, D. E. Sergeant, said the state entered into a contract with C. E. Skinner to repair the line, which had been damaged by a falling rock in 1957, for $6,000.

Sergeant said Skinner was paid $6,000 before the job was completed. Subsequently, he said, John B. Firman, supervising engineer for the State Department of Institutions, recommended that Skinner receive an additional $5,186 sales tax, seven per cent for overhead and eight per cent for profit because of extra, unanticipated work involved in the project.

Sergeant said an attorney general's opinion approved the additional payment but as of Aug. 11, 1958, the additional amount had not been paid Skinner.

"We see no particular advantage in the state entering into a contract that is not binding upon the signatories thereto," Sergeant declared.

His comment was included in an examination of the institution's operations for the 1956-57 fiscal year.

The examiner also noted that during the period under examination salaries at the Rainier school increased by $365,327 or 28.3 per cent as compared with the preceding 12 months.

"Every operating department showed some increase in cost," Sergeant said, "but percentage wise the greatest increase was in minor capital outlays which jumped from $17,290 for the previous year to $94,768 for this period, an increase of 548.4 per cent."

He said the average monthly population at the school for the 1956-57 year was 7.3 per cent greater than in the preceding year.

Sheriff Eldon Sitz said that the body was heavily clothed, suggesting that Martin died in winter time. But it could not be determined whether it was last winter or earlier.

Martin worked at the Arley Acton ranch at Dresway but left there in January, 1955, and Sitz said he had received no report of him since. It was not known here whether he left a family.

Harold Brumgarner, Nyssa, and Glen Tuttle, Prairie City, discovered the body Saturday.

BROKEN LEG WEST WARWICK, R.I. (AP) — Kenneth Pelleccione, 4, found out he had been running around on a broken leg 10 days after being knocked down by a car. His parents noticed he seemed to be bothered while riding his tricycle. Doctors discovered a fractured lower right leg.

Rural school teachers are paid about one-third less than teachers of city children, reports the Twentieth Century Fund.

Corvallis Man Killed In Mishap KEILSO, Wash. (AP) — Lewis Anderson, 50, Corvallis, Ore., was killed Monday when his motorcycle struck the bumper of a truck on the Lewis River Road about three miles south of Cougar, Wash.

Cowlitz County Sheriff Merle D. Bevens said the victim rounded a curve when he faced two oncoming trucks. The mishap occurred when he attempted to steer between the two vehicles.

Deer Hunters Locate Body BURNS (AP)—Two deer hunters Monday came upon the body of a man on a bridge in the Crewsey country, between Blue-River country, between Blue-River.

It was identified as that of Manuel Martin, who would have been 62 in September.

Sheriff Eldon Sitz said that the body was heavily clothed, suggesting that Martin died in winter time. But it could not be determined whether it was last winter or earlier.

Steel Chief In PNW Talk

PORTLAND (AP) — David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers Union, told the Catholic Conference on Industrial and Social Relations here Monday that colds cause more lost work hours than strikes.

He said that although the right to strike is backed by the Constitution, "there are more laws in our country limiting the rights of labor than in any other nation in the Free World."

McDonald, who heads a 1 1/4 million member union, contended that management causes work stoppages as much as labor.

"The five million unemployed workers in our nation today," he said, "are a part of a work stoppage by our management."

To be justified, McDonald continued, a strike should be for a just cause with a reasonable chance to succeed and with good effects over-balancing the bad.

"All and every practical means should be tried before a strike is called," he said, "and a strike must be conducted lawfully and honorably."

Earlier in the day at a news conference McDonald said that the welfare of his union is closely tied to the Pacific Northwest's lumber industry.

From one to three tons of steel goes into each new house that is built, he said.

Details Added India Reds In Attempt To Consolidate Control

Additional details were supplied the Herald and News Tuesday on the gunshot wound sustained by Walter Mollett, 22, Central Point. Monday's story on the shooting contained only bare details and stated the wound was "apparently" self-inflicted.

Mrs. Rex Jensen, who lives on the Keno Road, was a member of the party of friends and relatives with whom Mollett was hunting when the accident occurred. She says the hip wound was not self-inflicted as yesterday's item proclaimed. On the contrary, the shot which wounded Mollett, she said, was from a 30-06 fired by Henry Craig of O'Brien, Oregon, a lone hunter who was aiming at a deer.

Mrs. Jensen says the accident occurred in the Bonanza Ridge area, about 9 a.m. Sunday. She says that the wounded man was about 120 yards from Craig when the shot was fired. Mollett was brought back to the city for treatment at Klamath Valley Hospital. He was returned to Central Point Sunday night. There he was to undergo further treatment, Mrs. Jensen says, since the bullet was in considerable pain.

Mrs. Jensen emphasized that the shooting was accidental, and that Craig had been very solicitous of Mollett's welfare since it occurred. The wound is not considered to be serious, she said.

Concrete Slab Kills Spud Man

ONTARIO (AP) — A concrete lintel fell on and killed a worker at the Ore-Ida Potato Products Co. here today.

He was Harry McKenny, about 52. According to Nephil Greog, plant manager, McKenny was running a loaded lift truck when it knocked the lintel on top of him.

Survivors include the widow, Pauline, and two daughters, Lurlyn McKenny, an Oregon State College student, and Mrs. Beverly Tolman of Jamieson.

JUST THE SHOES? NEW YORK (UPI)—A garment shop owner called out to a model in the next room to come pose for a picture with touring gubernatorial candidate Nelson A. Rockefeller.

"I can't," she yelled back. "I ain't wearing my girle." "Never mind," shot back the owner. "Just wear your shoes."

NEW DELHI (UPI) — India's Communists, who won the southernmost Kerala state in a peaceful election 16 months ago, now are trying to consolidate their control with a reign of terror.

This is the disturbing conclusion reached by top-level officials of the Congress Party, the majority party in India.

Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru himself has declared that "an atmosphere of fear" grips the 13,600,000 inhabitants of the state. He has called for an impartial probe into Kerala's affairs to determine whether the state government is responsible.

As far as some of the top men in Nehru's own Congress Party are concerned, however, there is no question that the Communist government of the tropical state bears full responsibility.

U. N. Dhebar and Sriman Narayan, president and secretary of the party respectively, warned after a recent on-the-spot inquiry in Kerala that non-Communist leaders would be wiped out or forced to flee if the terrorism continued.

The Communists walked into the 15,000-square-mile state in March, 1957, after upsetting both the Congress Party and the Praja Socialist Party (PSP) in an election. They had promised sweeping reforms under a "non-violent democratic policy."

But opposition was intense during the Communists' rule and a crackdown followed. There was a wave of political murders, assault or threats on Congress and Socialist party members. Non-Communists in several trade union organizations were beaten or threatened. Several officials who did not toe the Communist line found themselves out of jobs. A judge was sacked after he issued a ruling against a Communist law-breaker. A magistrate was transferred because his decisions were a bit too impartial.

India's parliament has rung during the last few months with charges of mistle and terrorism in Kerala. The Communists, however, insist that the Congress and Socialist parties are deliberately inciting violence to discredit their regime.

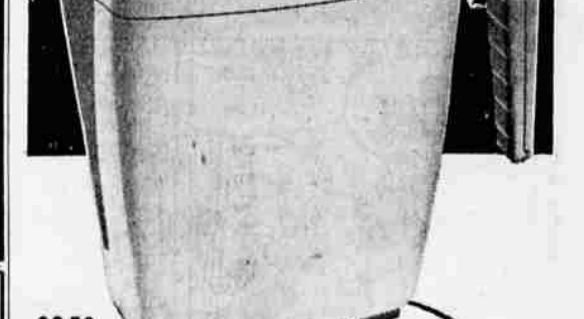

Chief Minister E. M. S. Namboodripad maintains that the state is functioning normally. But congressmen charge that Namboodripad's recent release of 1,360 prisoners and his commutation of death sentences for another 250—mostly Communists or pro-Communists—is not designed to insure normalcy.
