Has 2nd Stroke; Life Ebbs Away

By FRANK JENKINS

Tonight the people of the Klamath Basin will come together at a dinner sponsored by the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce to do honor to Dick Neuberger and Tom Watters. Dick is Oregon's junior senator. Tom has just completed a grueling term of service as the chairman and member closest to the spot of the Management Specialists group that has handled the complex and at times soul-trying job of termination of federal supervision of the Klamath Reservation as provided by Public Law 587, as finally amended.

In Oregon's long and honorable history, no two men have more richly deserved the thanks and the respect of their fellow citizens. Many good people helped with what turned out to be a staggering job. But Senator Neuberger and Management Specialists Chairman Watters carried the heavy end of the burden of responsibility.

The burden was heavy. The responsibility was great.

Tom Watters is my neighbor. I've known his habits for a long time. The load that came down on his shoulders when the secretary of the interior named him chairman of the Management Specialists group changed utterly his way of life.

It wasn't a pleasant change. He had to give up nearly everything he liked best to do. From May 2, 1955, when he was appointed, until August 25, 1958, when the job was completed, there was practically never a minute that he could call his own.

In those three years, Tom Watters became a DEDICATED man. He dedicated himself WHOLLY to the job he had to do.

I've known Dick Neuberger ever since he was in college. I opposed him in the campaign that resulted in his election as U.S. senator from Oregon.

I wasn't too much impressed by his first year in the senate. But—

There arose about then the necessity to amend Public Law 587 in order to make it fairer to all the Klamath Indians and less disastrous to the economy of the Klamath Basin and all of Oregon—especially Southern Oregon.

Senator Neuberger tackled the Washington end of the job. He made it his major interest. Like Tom Watters, he became a dedicated man—dedicated to the greater welfare of the Klamath Indians, who were chiefly concerned, since the Klamath Reservation is THEIR heritage, and to the long-term best interests of his state.

He forgot politics and became a statesman.

Ours is a government of laws. There are times when many of us fear it is trending toward a government of men.

But if we can keep the right kind of men in public service, we will have nothing to fear.

SF Residents Have New Gripe

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—For 10 years, residents of Visitation Valley have complained that Southern Pacific Railroad's freight car switching has kept them awake.

Someone poured cement on the SP yard tracks. The prank was discovered in time to prevent any derailment—but switching wasn't resumed until after daylight.

Some residents had a new complaint: It was so quiet they couldn't sleep.

CLARENCE HUMBLE

Vet Attorney In DA Race

Clarence Humble, 55, veteran Klamath Falls attorney, entered the race for the post of district attorney today when he filed his intentions to participate in the write-in race.

Humble's entry into the three-way race came as the result of petitions signed by a considerable number of supporters urging him to run for the post.

Humble came to Klamath Falls in 1930 and was admitted to the Oregon Bar the same year. He was deputy district attorney under J. Orth Sisemore from 1941 to 1945, and held the post of district attorney from 1945 to 1949. He has been engaged in private law practice since that time.

He was recently appointed police judge by the city of Klamath Falls.

In filing for district attorney, Humble said, "I have received petitions signed by about 600 voters of Klamath County asking me to run again for the office of district attorney for Klamath County. I feel deeply honored that so many voters of both parties have taken the trouble to express such confidence in me.

"Therefore, I wish to announce my candidacy for the office of district attorney in Klamath County. I wish to assure all voters that if I am elected, I will again operate this office in an efficient and impartial manner.

"For the benefit of the new voters, I would like to say that the last time I was elected district attorney, I was nominated by both the Democratic and Republican parties. I gladly refer all voters to any of the judges or law enforcement officials for an appraisal of my experience, ability and success as district attorney.

breathing were giving in to the strain of illness intensified by the weight of his 82 years.

One of the physicians, while declining use of his name, said: "He is in his death agony."

A 101-degree fever and a speeding pulse were symptoms of his decline.

A Vatican radio speaker, broadcasting from the Pope's antechamber, told of an air of resignation about the sick room.

All in the antechamber—relatives and high church authorities—prayed, some of them aloud.

It was reliably reported that the Pope had been given Extreme Unction—the last rite for the dying or those in danger of death—for the second time. It had been given for the first time as he lay in a coma Monday after his first stroke.

The second attack was of the same type as that which felled the pontiff Monday, a cerebral circulatory attack which produced coma and partial paralysis.

It came on him at 7:30 a.m. (1:30 a.m., EST), just 47 hours after the first stroke.

It was learned unofficially at the Vatican press office that the Pope's heart was weakening and had become irregular after the second attack.

The Vatican radio said the pontiff had regained consciousness for a time and requested Holy Communion but was unable to swallow the host, the thin wafer of unleavened bread representing the body and blood of Christ.

He was then given Absolution—forgiveness of sins—and apparently became unconscious again soon after.

Prelates of the pontifical court were called urgently to Castel Gandolfo, presumably to make initial arrangements in connection with the grave turn in the pontiff's condition and its possible consequences.

Three of the four specialists who had been keeping constant vigil at the Pope's bedside were with him when the second stroke came.

It was the second time the 82-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church and spiritual leader of some 500 million Catholics had been near death.

Four years ago a serious illness struck the pontiff, 261st in a long series of sovereigns who sat on St. Peter's throne.

'Janice' Takes 19 Victims

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Janice, the season's most deadly storm, spun its winds of 75 m.p.h. in the open Atlantic today, a menacing threat to unwary sailors. Its victims numbered 19.

Janice was located early today about 455 miles east of Jacksonville.

Reconnaissance aircraft and ships reported Janice was moving between north northeast and north east at 8 m.p.h. The Weather Bureau said the course would keep the storm's center well off the East Coast of the United States.

Gale warnings were lowered south of Wilmington, N.C., to Vero Beach but continued to fly south of Cape Hatteras, N.C., to Wilmington.

Janice became a killer when it whipped through Bahama waters Tuesday on a drive to the open sea. A 45-foot Haitian sloop, trying to make shore in heavy seas, swamped and 19 persons aboard were drowned.

Rather, his schedule is as informal and nonpolitical as possible for a United States senator in an election year.

The principal purpose of Neuberger's trip to Klamath Falls, his first overnight trip since a serious operation about a month ago, is a testimonial dinner tonight planned by the Klamath County

Senator Richard Neuberger announced today his support for a one-cent increase in the state gasoline tax. At the same time he said he was disappointed that both gubernatorial candidates are against a gas tax increase.

Neuberger made the statement in a brief meeting with the Klamath County Court, Wednesday morning. He said Oregon must raise an additional $20 million in matching funds to qualify for an additional $70 million of federal highway aid in the next five years.

"I think road users should pay the taxes. I am very much opposed to the money coming from the general fund," Neuberger said.

Chamber of Commerce in appreciation of his work on the Klamath Indian Termination Bill.

The dinner is scheduled for 6:30 tonight in the Winema Hotel. The limited number of 100 tickets long since has been sold out.

During the dinner, Neuberger is to present the pens with which President Eisenhower signed the bill. One pen is to be given to Thomas B. Watters, Management Specialist for the reservation and a co-honoree at the dinner. The other goes to Thomas Vaughn, representing the Oregon Historical Society.

Prior to the dinner, Neuberger

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, October 5 to 11, was officially proclaimed in Klamath Falls by Mayor Lawrence E. Slater, who is shown here handing a copy of the proclamation to City Fire Chief Roy Rowe. The proclamation points to the needless loss of lives and property occasioned by fire, and urges every resident of the city "to take all possible measures to prevent fires from occurring in their respective homes and places of employment."

U.S. Ceases Ship Escort

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States announced today the ceasing of Nationalist Chinese supply vessels on the Quemoy run has stopped. It said that if the Chinese Communists start shooting again the escort system "will be resumed forthwith."

State Department press officer Lincoln White told reporters the "entire purpose of the United States in the Quemoy crisis has been to bring about a cease-fire and obviously we hope the present cease-fire will continue."

The Communists began an announced seven-day truce period Monday. Secretary of State Dulles and other Eisenhower administration officials are trying to figure some way to get the truce extended into a permanent cease-fire.

There were reports here that some Communist diplomats in Western Europe were passing out word that the Chinese Communist regime will extend the no shooting order beyond next weekend.

Appeal Set By Faubus

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A nationwide test of sentiment—at the pocketbook level—of private schools as a means of preserving segregation was in the making today.

Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus announced that he and Dr. T. J. Roney, president of a corporation seeking to establish all-white private high schools in Little Rock, soon will send out thousands of letters appealing for funds.

He said the letters, written on the governor's stationery, will go to people all over the nation who have written or telegraphed commendation of his pro-segregation stand.

They will promise a pro rata refund of any unused contributions should the state, now enjoined by federal court decree, be able later to provide money for the purpose.

Meantime, four Anderson County, Tenn., school officials arrived in Washington to take directly to the White House problems arising from the devastating bombing of their integrated Clinton High School.

They had an afternoon engagement with presidential assistants Rocco Siciliano and Ed McCabe to discuss, among other things, who is liable in the case of destructive acts.

Solon Richard Neuberger Plans For Full Slate Here

Sen. Richard Neuberger arrived in Klamath Falls late last night, prepared for a full but informal day of visits of a nonpolitical nature.

At OTI, Neuberger was to present a $150 scholarship to Glen A. Catterson, a diesel technical student, who qualified for the award in competition with more than 100 other Oregon Tech students.

The award, to be applied to expenses this school year, represents a writing fee Neuberger received from American Forests magazine. It is one of several the senator has used in that manner.

Catterson, a second-year student at OTI, qualified for the scholarship on the basis of scholastic achievement. He is a near straight A student, financial need and moral character.

The scholarship was to be presented during an assembly of some 1,000 students, plus faculty, at 10 a.m., during which the senator was scheduled for a half-hour talk. He also asked to visit a smaller class, OTI Dean Jack Brooks said, and a physics class of 25 students was excused.

At noon Neuberger attended a luncheon at the Winema Hotel. The pickets finally voted to call off their strike. But Traub went home with little satisfaction.

The pickets, Traub said, had been carrying non-union signs. Not so, said Henry McCarthy, secretary of the Portland Metal Trades Council. McCarthy said the signs were made in a union shop.

But the canvas, said Traub, came from a non-union firm. Anyway, the metal worker pickets went back to work. And Traub went back to his West Linn canvas shop. He said the county labor council will consider his complaint Monday.

The strike affected 38 employees of the Zidel Exploration Co. They voted to accept a new contract which carried a package increase of 15 1/2 cents an hour.

Yanks Win, 4-3; Series Evened

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—The New York Yankees defeated the Milwaukee Braves, 4-3, in 10 innings today in the sixth game of the World Series.

The Yanks stopped a Braves' rally in the last half of the 10th inning and tied the series at three victories of each team. The seventh and deciding game is scheduled for Thursday.

FIRST INNING

YANKEES: Carey flied to Palko. McDougald flied to Mathews. Bauer hit a home run into the left field bleachers. Schoendienst fumbled Mantle's grounder for an error. Howard forced Mantle, Logan to Schoendienst.

One run, one hit, one error, one left.

BRAVES: Schoendienst singled. Logan bunted and was out. Berra to McDougald. Schoendienst taking second. Mathews was called out on strikes. Aaron singled, scoring Schoendienst. Adcock forced Aaron. Kubek to McDougald.

One run, two hits, no errors, one left.

SECOND INNING

YANKEES: Spahn tossed out Berra. Skowron was safe on Logan's error of his grounder. Kubek struck out. Ford forced Skowron at second. Logan to Schoendienst.

BRAVES: Crandall struck out. Covington singled. Palko singled. Covington racing to third. Spahn singled, scoring Covington. Palko stopping at second. Schoendienst walked. Art Dittmar replaced Ford. Logan flied to Howard and Howard's throw to Berra at the plate doubled up Palko, trying to score.

One run, three hits, no errors, two left.

THIRD INNING

YANKEES: Carey flied to Palko. McDougald grounded out. Logan to Adcock. Bauer was safe when Logan fumbled his grounder. Mantle forced Bauer. Mathews to Schoendienst.

BRAVES: Mathews grounded out. Skowron to Dittmar. Aaron bunted and reached second when Dittmar's throw hit Aaron on the shoulder. McDougald threw out Adcock. Aaron advancing to third. Crandall fanned.

FOURTH INNING

YANKEES: Howard flied to Palko. Berra singled. Skowron flied to Aaron. Spahn tossed out Kubek.

BRAVES: McDougald threw out Covington. Palko popped to McDougald. Spahn struck out.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

FIFTH INNING

YANKEES: Schoendienst tossed out Dittmar. Carey flied to Aaron. McDougald singled over Mathews' head. Bauer fouled to Crandall.

BRAVES: Schoendienst doubled to the left field corner. Logan hit a sacrifice bunt to the right of the mound and was out. Skowron to McDougald covering first. Schoendienst reached third. Mathews popped to Skowron. Schoendienst holding third. Carey made a nice pickup of Aaron's grounder and threw him out.

SIXTH INNING

YANKEES: Billy Bruton went to centerfield for the Braves. Mantle lined a single over Logan's outstretched glove. Howard singled to center and Mantle continued to third when Bruton fumbled the ball for an error. It was Howard's first hit in 13 official times at bat. Berra flied to Bruton. Mantle scoring the tying run on the sacrifice as Howard held first. Skowron walked. Enos Slaughter batted for Kubek and bounced out. Schoendienst to Adcock, the runners advancing.

Jerry Lumpe batted for Dittmar and struck out.

One run, two hits, one error, two left.

BRAVES: The attendance was 46,367. Duren went in to pitch for the Yankees, and Lumpe took over at shortstop. Adcock struck out. Crandall also was called out on strikes. Covington singled through the right side of the diamond. Bruton went down swinging. The Brave batters appeared to be having trouble seeing the ball as Duren was taking advantage of the over-hanging darkening clouds by firing mostly fast balls.

SEVENTH INNING

YANKEES: Carey whacked a wicked liner right into the glove of Spahn. McDougald flied to Bruton. Spahn fell fielding Bauer's trickster to the right of the mound and Bauer was credited with an infield single. Mathews made a gloved-hand stop of McDougald's

BRAVES: Spahn struck out. Schoendienst lined to Howard. Logan also lined to Howard.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

EIGHTH INNING

YANKEES: Howard looked at a third strike. Berra lined to Schoendienst. Logan took Skowron's high popout.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

NINTH INNING

YANKEES: It was beginning to brighten up a bit, although the skies were heavily overcast. Duren was called out on strikes. The crowd now was beginning to cheer every strike that Spahn threw. Lumpe walked on a full count.

Carey struck out. Lumpe, running with the pitch, was doubled up at second. Crandall to Schoendienst who made the tag.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

BRAVES: Covington fanned. That was Milwaukee's fiftieth strike out of the series, being a record set by the Chicago Cubs against the Philadelphia Athletics in 1929. Bruton also went down swinging to become Duren's sixth strikeout victim. Spahn received a tremendous ovation when he came to bat and also struck out.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

TENTH INNING

YANKEES: McDougald walloped Spahn's second pitch over the left field fence for a home run to put the Yankees in front 3-2. Bauer flied deep to Bruton. Mathews threw out Mantle. Howard singled to right. Berra lined a single to right. Howard racing to third. Fred Haynes signaled to the ball pen for a new pitcher. The crowd gave Spahn a thunderous ovation as Don McMahon replaced him. Skowron singled to placed him. Skowron singled to right, scoring Howard. Berra stopping at second. Duren struck out.

Two runs, four hits, no errors, two left.

BRAVES: Bob Turley joined Shantz in the Yankee bullpen. McDougald fumbled Schoendienst's grounder but recovered in time to throw him out. Logan walked on a full count and Duren charged in from the mound to protest the call to Plate Umpire Charlie Berry. Mathews was called out on strikes. It was his 11th strikeout, a new series mark. Logan went to second unmolested as Duren wound up pitching to Aaron. Aaron singled to left on a 2-2 pitch, scoring Logan and cutting the Yankee lead to 4-3. Stengel conferred with Duren and decided to stay with his pitcher. Adcock singled through the middle of the diamond sending Aaron to third. This brought Stengel out again and this time the manager signaled to the bullpen for a new pitcher. It was Bob Turley. The crowd gave Duren a fine hand. Frank Mantilla ran for Adcock. Frank Torre, a left-handed hitter, batted for Crandall. Turley's first pitch was a called strike. Torre fouled off the second pitch then sent a soft liner to McDougald at the edge of the outfield grass.

One run, two hits, no errors, two left.

Yanks win 4-3.
