Contestants Set For TV

The first six contestants for Oregon Tech's Search for Scholarship program were chosen this week, after screening by the committee, and the first three will appear over KOTI-TV on October 20 from 5:30 to 6 p.m.

The OTI project, announced during the last month of school in the spring, has been set up to award scholarships to high school seniors planning to attend Oregon Tech.

Taking part in the first half-hour program will be Juanita Turner, Roger Kauble and Bill French. The following Monday evening, October 27, Sue Lund, Janice Wilson and Mary Barker will enter the competition. A full tuition scholarship will go to one of these six contestants.

The committee is headed by Frank Stanke, OTI dean of men and permanent chairman of the OTI scholarship committee. He is assisted by Jim Boyle and Katy Lake of the school of allied arts and sciences at OTI.

The scholarship competition is open to high school seniors anywhere within the viewing radius of the television station on OTI hill. This includes Klamath County, Lakeview, Alturas, Dorris and Tulelake.

Applications are being accepted to enter the winter term competition. Klamath County Chamber of Commerce has offered to provide transportation to students who live outside of Klamath Falls who are accepted to future competition. The six who have been named for the fall term competition are all Klamath Union High School students and were recommended by Charles T. Carlson, KUHS principal.

Interested students are urged to get full details from the principals of their high schools.

State Department Manager Says Work In Basin High

Klamath County employment continued high through September. Guy Barker, manager of the local office of the State Department of Employment, reported in his labor market bulletin for October, which contained the following observations on last month's labor picture:

Logging and lumbering experienced two short layoffs of a few workers, but these returned to work in most cases. Retail sales and service employment increased slightly during the month. Turnover in most industries was high as students returning to school were replaced by other workers. Work was started on the west side bypass during September, to offset completion of the Keno Dam. Placement of workers on jobs by the local employment office was the highest experienced in several years during September.

There was no loss of work during September from labor disputes, after settlement of current differences. Logging and lumbering had no loss of time from negotiations for a new contract. Seven and one-half cents per hour increase has been accepted with effect from September 1.

At the end of the month, unemployment in the county was running about 3.6 per cent of average covered employment, Barker reported. This was .3 per cent higher than one year ago, but 1 per cent below state averages.

Barker had the following observations to make on the changing employment picture at the beginning of the month:

Construction continues at a higher rate with contractors attempting to complete projects before cold weather sets in. Johns-Manville is expected to start limited operation sometime in October. Grain harvest is nearing completion and potato harvest is now under way. Use of bulking machines and some reduction in potato acreage will reduce the number of workers needed this fall. A shortage of workers is expected to develop during the next two weeks. Many of the early arrivals for potato harvest left town rather than wait for picking to start. Lack of housing prevents the employment service from importing workers from other areas. We must depend on the natural flow of migrant workers to supply the labor needs.

SCOUT NEWS

BOY SCOUT DRIVE

DUNSMUIR — Dunsmuir's annual Boy Scout drive will begin with a kick-off breakfast at the Dunsmuir Hotel Friday morning at 7 o'clock.

Howard Jones, attorney, has been named drive chairman. Boy Scout supporters will meet at the breakfast session, receive names of prospective donors and be charged with completing the drive on Friday and Saturday.

Dunsmuir's share of the Crater Lake council budget is $1,200 of the $45,800 needed to carry out the 1959 council program. There are 4,000 boys within the council enrolled in 145 units. These units are explorer posts, scout troops and Cub Scout packs designed to give boys the opportunity for leadership and personal growth. The units are operated under the guidance of 1,500 volunteer leaders, carefully selected and trained in scouting techniques.

Dunsmuir has two scout troops and two cub packs. There are many more boys who could profit from an expanded scout program, Jones said in accepting the drive chairmanship.

SCOUT CAMPAIGN

DUNSMUIR—Local Boy Scouts will participate in a nationwide campaign on Saturday, October 11, to see that every household is provided with the "Handbook for Emergencies." This booklet is printed by the office of defense and civilian mobilization. Irvan Tucker, local chairman, will direct Dunsmuir's two scout troops in this community service.

Silver Tea Sets Doll Dressing

Dolls are being dressed to be displayed at the Farm Bureau Women's silver tea to be held on October 18, from 2 to 6 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Walt McIntyre, 235 North Fourth. They will be sold at a later date.

The silver tea and subsequent bazaar will help raise funds for the student loan fund being established by the Farm Bureau Women to assist Klamath County students attending Oregon Technical Institute.

Members are asking women who like to dress dolls to help in the project. The doll wardrobes may include everything from Scottish plaids to dancing dresses, costumes of foreign countries and outfits which might be worn by OTI graduates working as practical or dental nurses or technicians. Volunteers may call Mrs. Earl Kerns, TUXedo 4-9594.

The dolls will be on display for the first time at the silver tea and orders will be taken for later delivery. In addition, an outstanding locally owned doll collection will be featured at the same time.

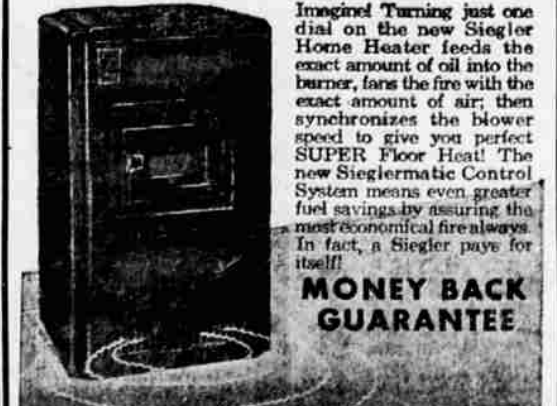

A committee from the Henley area is in charge of decorations. Its members are Crystal Cheyne, Grace Fairclough and Carolyn Kelly. The tea is informal and the hours have been extended to 6 p.m. so persons attending the OTI Homecoming game on October 18 can stop by after the game.
