

Nixon Challenges Demos To Compare Policy Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) said today "the stakes are too great and the possibilities too dangerous to permit foreign policy to become a political football."

Stepfather Slain By Son

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A 14-year-old boy stabbed his stepfather to death to stop a vicious beating of his mother.

Folks Gripe; Pupils Cheer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A group of pupils of Rankin High School cheered Monday night as some of their parents licked off a list of complaints which led 88 members of the junior class to picket the school.

by former Secretary of State Dean Acheson "resulted in war and the Eisenhower-Dulles policy resulted in peace." He spoke out in reply to a critical weekend statement from the Democratic Advisory Council.

Mansfield, the assistant Senate Democratic leader, expressed hope that foreign policy "does not become a political issue" but said his party's members have a right to criticize administration actions in the foreign field.

Because Democrats express disagreement with some policies, Mansfield cautioned, "no one should harbor the illusion that Americans are a disunited people."

A similar note was sounded Sunday by Chairman Theodore F. Green (D-R.I.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee after a meeting with Secretary of State Dulles. Green had publicly criticized current administration policy.

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore), like Mansfield a foreign relations committee member, said without elaborating he understood Dulles had sought to limit public discussion of the policies. Morse added in a telegram to Green:

"I shall continue to criticize the Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policy on the public platform because it is a matter the American people are entitled to have discussed freely and openly."

But in a Dayton, Ohio, speech, GOP National Chairman Meade Ahearn contended that "those Democrats who are playing politics with our national security have embarked upon a hazardous venture."

In his statement, Nixon credited the Chinese Communist action in extending their cease-fire to "the firm stand we have taken in the Formosa Strait."

Nixon said he recognizes that the Democratic Advisory Council "does not speak for millions of Democrats who approve and support the Eisenhower leadership in the field of foreign policy."

Nixon said those "in the Democratic party who insist on making foreign policy an issue in this campaign have left us no choice but to present to the American people the record of success of the Eisenhower administration and compare it with the record of failure of the seven years that preceded it," he said.

Stumbaugh announced that nomination of officers will be held at the next meeting, November 3.

County Chamber Begins Series Of Winter Forums

A man who has seen America from many points of view shared his definitions of our country with a chamber of commerce forum Monday opening the chamber's winter series of monthly forums open to anyone who is interested.

The speaker was Dr. Orlo M. Brees of Palo Alto, California, who has been a coal miner, teacher, editor, state legislator, publisher and Baptist minister. He appeared Monday as a representative of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Dr. Brees defined America as a heritage, a way of life and a future. He explained his definitions in a swiftly moving, quasi-humorous delivery that praised America without inhibitions.

"Ours is a heritage of ideas," Dr. Brees said. "Ideas that make you take your feet down off the desk and make you do something about it."

These ideas, he said, represent equality, responsibility and freedom. He took a swipe at "our present generation of young Americans who were brought up on the idea that the government owes them a living and that they don't have to do a thing."

Of freedom, he said "every generation has to fight for its own freedom must be nourished by the blood of living hearts and minds. The best we can do is give (each generation) the knowledge and the tools."

He also had comments about the cost of government, and explained it this way. The federal government will spend more than 71 billion dollars this year. How much is that? "Well, if you did nothing but count dollar bills, one dollar every second for eight hours a day, seven days a week, it would take you 884 years to count 71 billion dollars."

"And if you finish that and still have something to do," he cracked "try counting up how much we owe. That'll take you 2,700 years."

He warned against bigotry and ignorance in speaking of our way of life, censured demagogues although he named none, and advised: "Jumping at conclusions is a very poor form of mental exercise."

Considering the future, he said, "The life of a free man is a life of hazard. That is the only way it can be," and he said a person "should be judged by his destination not his origin."

Dr. Brees also took a few moments to dispel what he called misconceptions of the National Association of Manufacturers. Sixty per cent of whose members, he said, were employers of fewer than 100 persons.

"The NAM has been swapping punches with peddlers of pink propaganda ever since 1895," he said. Dr. Brees was introduced by Leo Morstad.

Youngest Mister Justice Takes Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — Potter Stewart, a 43-year-old Ohioan, today becomes the Supreme Court's youngest member in dual oath-taking ceremonies.

For four years, he has been a judge of the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati. With one exception, he is the youngest man in modern times to be appointed to the Supreme Court. Justice William O. Douglas was only 40 when President Franklin D. Roosevelt appointed him in 1939.

Stewart fills the vacancy created by the retirement of Justice Harold H. Burton, 70, a fellow Ohioan.

Chief Justice Warren formally announced Burton's retirement from the bench Monday. Warren said Burton's 13 years on the court rounded out a long and distinguished career of public service.

"He has been a friend, counselor and companion of all of us," Warren said. "We shall miss him greatly."

The eight other justices sent Burton a letter extending "fondest wishes for the health and happiness of you and yours."

With Stewart's appointment, President Eisenhower now has named five of the court's nine members. The others are Chief Justice Warren and Justices Brennan, Harlan and Whittaker. Justices Black, Frankfurter and Douglas were appointed by President Roosevelt, and Justice Clark by President Truman.

A long-time resident of Cincinnati, Stewart was a prominent attorney there before Eisenhower named him to the Circuit Court in 1954. Like Justice Burton, a Republican.

He will be serving under a recess appointment, subject to Senate confirmation after Congress reconvenes in January.

High Court Plans Hearing RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virginia's highest court has set the stage for a crucial hearing, probably early next month, to determine the validity of key anti-integration laws.

One law has already brought the shutdown of nine white schools and displacement of more than 13,000 pupils.

The Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals appointed a Lynchburg attorney, Samuel H. Williams, to serve as defense counsel in action brought by the state. Arguments probably can be heard at the start of the court's November session.

There was also a possibility an early hearing would allow the justices to pass on constitutional issues involving the state's school-closing, fund-cutoff and tuition grant laws later in the month.

U.S. Judge John Paul's ruling that schoolteachers paid out of public funds cannot be used in segregated emergency schooling at both Charlottesville and Front Royal in Warren County goes into effect Wednesday.

Makeshift programs set up at Charlottesville to accommodate most of the 1,700 displaced white pupils in that city were jolted severely by the ruling. An emergency program planned for 1,045 idled pupils at the Warren County School had not gone into operation when Paul's decision came.

The private school organizations apparently had a choice of continuing to use the public school teachers but operating on a racially nondiscriminatory basis, trying to organize new teaching staffs composed of other teachers plus any who might wish to be released from their contracts, or closing down operations altogether.
