Husband Says Career Wife Makes Excellent Spouse

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Career women make the best wives, says Wesley Simpson, who is married to one.
Despite the fact that his wife Adele is one of the world's busiest women, Wesley radiates husbandly happiness and pride. Says he: "I'm sick of hearing the old argument about whether a woman should choose between a career or home. My wife handles both with one hand."
Adele Simpson, one of the top names among American fashion designers, is a tiny dynamo of 4 feet 10, who has managed to run a town house and a country estate, raise a son and a daughter, and conduct one of the country's biggest dress businesses, all without getting a hair out of place.
During the week, she gets to her office on 7th Avenue shortly after dawn, has lunch at her desk, copes with temperamental models, buyers, fashion editors and store owners all day and then goes home to entertain anywhere from two to a dozen guests at dinner.
Weekends she takes off for the Simpson country home at Greenwich, Conn., where the house usually is full of weekend guests from Paris, Rome, London, Los Angeles or points between.
In between times she always has time to help settle the problems of her 19-year-old daughter Joan or her 21-year-old son Jeffrey and welcome their friends at either domicile. Sometimes this amounts to an influx of 15 or 20 young people for dinner or overnight — but the Simpson ménage takes them all in stride.
"If I ever had had to make the choice between home and business, I would have given up the career without a second thought," Adele says. "But I never had to. Maybe I'm fortunate in having a well-adjusted family, or maybe I've just learned to budget my time, but I'm sure neither Wesley or the children ever have felt neglected. In fact they seem to thrive on all the excitement and the hectic kind of life we lead."

Now Many Wear FALSE TEETH With More Comfort

PASTEETH, a pleasant alkaline (non-acid) powder, holds false teeth more firmly. To eat and talk in more comfort, just sprinkle a little PASTEETH on your plates. No gummy, goopy, pasty taste or feeling. Cures "plate odor" (denture breath). Get PASTEETH at any drug counter.

KU Yearbook Wins Award

A first-class award was given to the 1953 KU Yearbook, yearbook of Klamath Union High School, by the National Scholastic Press Association, according to a release just received by Robert Buelow, faculty adviser.
Kaye Kidwell, who now attends the University of Oregon, was editor of the yearbook for 1953. She was assisted by Swan James, associate editor, and Ralph Hopper, photographer, as well as an ambitious staff.
More than 1,000 yearbooks from all over the nation were judged with emphasis placed on writing and picture quality and page layout design.
The written comment on the book by Glenn Hansen, a judge for the association, was: "A most enjoyable book to read. There are many interesting parts that deserve praise. The advertising section no doubt will be read as closely as the earlier portions. The merchants should be well satisfied. You have a book that is a credit to your school."

FOURTH CHILD
