

Blaik's Brainstorm Gives Army Attack

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Army Coach Red Blaik dreamed up his new celebrated "lonely end" offense while basking in the Florida sun last winter.

He didn't have a name for it then. It was tacked on later by Stanley Woodward, sports editor of the Newark Star-Ledger. Then others changed it to "lonely end."

Blaik's own assistants were skeptical at first. There was some nervousness before using it in the first game against South Carolina, which had beaten Duke the week before.

These fears diminished when South Carolina was smashed 45-0 and Penn State beaten 26-0. They completely evaporated after the 14-2 victory last Saturday over Notre Dame, raising Army to the No. 1 ranking in the country.

"We couldn't have beaten Notre Dame without it," says Blaik.

of the game, both defensively and offensively.

Hampered by the loss of a number of regulars in the test against Oregon, the Pels showed weakness in line play, giving the backs little chance to get going.

Quarterback Blake Griggs, on paper, was charged with carrying the ball 11 times for an average of 1.11 per try. He was, in reality, given no choice but to "eat" the ball or try to battle his way through the Trojan defenders who swarmed the KU forward wall to literally camp in the Pel backfield, nearly every time he attempted to get off a pass.

Also troubled with leaks in the dam was Jim Parks, the junior who so admirably stepped in to take command of the Pel punting department when specialist Bob Drace was injured the day before. Despite the horde of Trojans who broke through to nearly smother him every time he moved into the punt position, Parks got off five kicks for an average of 36.4 yards per boot.

Throughout the week the Pels will put in overtime sessions in an earnest effort to correct the mistakes of past games.

Elmer Valo On Way Down

United Press International Elmer Valo, who broke into the majors under the late Connie Mack at Philadelphia 18 years ago, apparently has reached the end of the big league trail.

The 37-year-old, Czech-born outfielder was farmed out to Montreal of the International League Tuesday by the Los Angeles Dodgers. He saw only limited service with the Dodgers during the past season, batting .248 in 65 games.

Valo made his major league debut with the old Philadelphia Athletics near the tail end of the 1940 season, hitting .348 in six games. He remained with the A's until 1956 when he was released but later hooked on with the Phillies.

The Phillies traded Elmer to the Dodgers last year in a multi-player deal for shortstop Chico Fernandez.

The news of a Utah heavyweight taking on two opponents in one night brings back the thought of Jack Dempsey's two-or-more in an evening. . . . Lamar Clark of Cedar City, Utah, decked two foes each in the first round Tuesday night at West Jordan, Utah. . . . Dempsey fought two or more fighters in one night from 1922 to 1932, the closing years of his career. . . . this was the only way the paying customer would get a chance to see Dempsey in action, one opponent wouldn't last long enough for the peanut vendors to make money. . . . one night in 1926, Jack met and knocked out six different fighters. Several other times the mauler turned under four or five at a time.

DETROIT (UPI) — Veteran forward Jack McIntyre has been sent to the Hershey Bears of the American Hockey League by the Detroit Red Wings on an immediate recall basis. McIntyre came to the Wings as part of an eight-player deal with Chicago early last season.

U.S. Third In Pentathlon Meet

ALDRSHOT, England (UPI) — The United States team held down third place behind Russia and Hungary today at the start of the third round of competition in the world modern pentathlon championships.

Ivan Novkov, a 29-year-old Russian teacher, won the individual fencing title Tuesday to retain his overall lead and move the Soviets farther ahead in the race for the team title.

With three events remaining, Russia topped the 12 competing nations with 5,440 points. Hungary held second with 4,568 and the U.S. was third with 4,531.

Turley, Malzone Top Stars

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pitcher Bob Turley of the world champion New York Yankees and third baseman Frank Malzone of the Boston Red Sox top the United Press International's 1958 American League all-star team.

Turley, a 21-game winner, was the only unanimous choice from 24 baseball writers, three from each city in the league, while Malzone, who hit .295 and played his position brilliantly, received all but one vote.

The 40-man team, eight regulars and two pitchers, was comprised of two Yankees, two Red Sox, four Chicago White Sox and one player each from the Cleveland Indians and Kansas City Athletics. Four of the players are ex-Yankees or ex-Yankee farmhands.

The infield is composed of catcher Sherman Lollar of the White Sox, first baseman Vic Power of the Indians, the White Sox' double play combination of second baseman Nelson Fox and Luis Aparicio, and Boston's Malzone. The outfield is made up of Kansas City's Bob Cerv, New York's Mickey Mantle and Boston's Jackie Jensen.

Billy Pierce, the White Sox' little but hard-throwing left-hander, was picked as the team's second pitcher in a close race with Cleveland's Cal McLish and Washington's Dick Hyde.

The team's strength may be judged by the fact that neither American League batting champion Ted Williams nor earned-run leader Whitey Ford made it. Williams won his sixth batting title with a .328 average but was ineffective until late in the season. Ford had a 2.01 e.r.a. but his won-lost was only 14-7 and he was bothered by arm trouble during the last two weeks of the season.

Casey, Yankees Meet Wednesday

NEW YORK (AP) — Announcement that Casey Stengel has been signed to a new pact as manager is expected to be made today by the World Champion New York Yankees.

The club has called a mammoth press conference for the occasion. Last week there was a report that Stengel might quit, but the 68-year-old skipper termed it "rubbish."

Kapp Leads Individual Stats; U of O Tops Offense, Defense

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Joe Kapp, California's star quarterback, took over the total offense leadership of the Pacific Coast Conference, statistics released by the commissioner's office revealed today.

The California senior ran his total offense yardage to 450, three yards more than Washington State's Bob Newman. Don Long of UCLA was third with 353 yards.

Kapp led in rushing with 232 yards to 224 for Willie West of Oregon and 223 for Rex Johnston of Southern California. In passing Newman's total of 487 yards, was achieved on 47 completions out of 72 attempts for a .652 percentage mark.

Second to Newman was Dick Norman of Stanford 30 passes completed while Long of UCLA was third with 28 completions.

Dick Wallen of UCLA, who caught 10 passes in his team's game with Florida, took over the pass receiving lead with 14 catches. Bob Delinger of Idaho was tied for second and Stanford's Chris Burford at 13.

Long and Dainard Paulson of Oregon State were tied in punting with a 42.3 yard average while Bill Kilmer of UCLA was third with 40.7.

John Horrolo of Oregon State led in punt returns with 110 yards and Hank Olguin of California led in kickoff returns with 136 yards. Bill Patton of California led in scoring with 36 points.

In team statistics Oregon led in both team offense and defense. The Webfoots averaged 357 yards per game in total offense despite yielding the rushing lead to California and the passing to Washington State.

California moved the ball 250.2 yards a game rushing while the Cougars averaged 192 yards a game through the air.

Defensively Oregon yielded but 162.6 yards a game, giving up 116.3 yards rushing and 46 yards passing.

UCLA led in team punting with an average of 41.2 yards per kick. Idaho was first in interceptions with seven. California led in punt returns with an average of 11.4 yards and Washington averaged 24.7 yards on kickoff returns.
