

CANADA GEESE are probably the most sought after of all the migratory waterfowl. Many of these great birds are to be found during the season on the Lower Klamath Wildlife Refuge, which will hold a party for conservationists on October 18 marking the 50th anniversary of the founding of the refuge. Leading conservationists have been invited and will be taken on a tour of the area. Two other reserves also celebrated 50th anniversaries this year, the National Bison Range at Moiese, Montana, and the Malheur Refuge south of Burns. — Photo by Duncan, Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife

Republican Victory Seen By Nixon

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Republican party is surging toward an upset victory at the polls in November, says Vice President Nixon.

Nixon told 2,000 GOP campaign workers Wednesday night that the biggest political shocker since Harry Truman's unexpected victory in 1948 is in the making.

"This is 1948 in reverse," he said. "The Democrats think they've got it made. They've been reading the polls, and believing them. They're playing it safe. We're playing it hard. We're going to win, and we're going to win."

Earlier, in San Francisco, Nixon told a press conference that he thought the reason the Republican party is in trouble is that it has allowed criticism to go by without making effective reply, he said.

He said he considered President Eisenhower's statement at his press conference that foreign policy should be kept out of political campaigns "a proper position."

But he said "those of us who have the responsibility for carrying the weight of the campaign" should speak up in the administration's defense.

Nixon said that once a decision has been made committing American forces, he is opposed to partisan discussion that might lead the potential enemy to attack because of divided United States opinion.

He said U.S. action in the Quemoy-Matsu and Lebanon situations is in this category.

But on what he termed long-range policy, he said differences should be discussed.

The $100-a-plate Los Angeles dinner was billed as a "salute to Dick." Pretty girls did a brisk business among the audience selling "Dick in '60" buttons to support the candidate for the presidency in his second year.

Nixon sought to heal the damage split between two top men on the Republican state ticket, Sen. William Knowland, who is running for governor, and Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, running for the Senate. Knight has steadfastly refused to support Knowland, due to the latter's advocacy of legislation outlawing the union shop.

"The cause in this campaign is bigger than any differences between Republicans," said Nixon. He warmly praised both Knight, who sat next to him at the dinner, and Knowland, who was campaigning 450 miles away in San Francisco.

His tribute to Knowland brought thunderous cheers from the audience, with one notable exception. Knight, alone among the dignitaries at the head table, did not join in the applause.

Police arrested Moore this week when he failed to pay the ticket. They took his fingerprints. They say a check showed the prints to be identical to those of Lee Murray, who escaped from a road gang May 31, 1951, near Montgomery, Ala. Murray was serving a three to four year term for burglary.

Officers said Moore, 35, admitted he was Murray. They said he told them he drifted around the South after his escape before coming to Detroit eight years ago, marrying and fathering five children.

Police said they planned to communicate with Alabama authorities and see if Moore still was wanted in that state.

General Scott To Be Forgiven

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—The University of South Carolina's 152-year-old "Clarionopis" (literary) society has decided to forgive Gen. Winfield Scott.

For siding with the Union in the Civil War, the Virginia native was struck from the society's rolls in 1871. After vigorously debating the matter, the society has voted to return Scott, once a Charleston, S.C., lawyer, to membership.

What is the most powerful advertising force in existence?

- TELEVISION?
- RADIO?
- NEWSPAPERS?
- MAGAZINES?

ANSWER: THE DAILY NEWSPAPER. Nearly everyone reads a newspaper every day—so it follows that practically any product sold will be sold to a newspaper reader. Hence the newspaper is basic and the effective use of its advertising columns constitutes the most powerful and profitable advertising force in existence. And that's why so many advertisers use it day after day. Newspapers are the answer to your advertising needs.

Model Takes Pill Overdose

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—An overdose of sleeping pills, taken in the apartment of stuttering comedian Roscoe Ates, 33, has left Hollywood model Reba Sanborn, 24, in critical condition.

A deputy sheriff listed the case as attempted suicide.

Ates said Miss Sanborn was one of several guests at a dinner party Tuesday night in his apartment. She complained of feeling sleepy and asked if she could lie down for a while. I thought possibly she had taken too much to drink and slowed her to the guest room," he said.

He said he left for work early Wednesday, returned about noon and found the girl unconscious. He called deputies. Emergency Hospital physicians said she had taken an overdose of barbiturates.

Entertainer Seeks Salary

DALLAS (AP)—Entertainer W. A. R. McDonald, sometimes known as "The Body," is trying to untie $3,000 of her salary tied up in a suit over a chinchilla coat she says she hasn't got.

Miss McDonald was sued by New York furrier Milton Herman, who alleges she bought a $7,000 coat, paying $2,000 down in December 1957, but never paid the balance.

His attorneys filed a writ of garnishment on the late here where she sang last week, seeking to attach the amount due her. The singer's attorney argued the money represents wages and cannot be garnished in Texas.

Not so, the furrier's attorney said. She was an independent contractor when she signed with the hotel, they asserted.

No decision was announced to the district judge.

Miss McDonald told newsmen she last saw the coat last Christmas Eve when she quarreled with her husband Harry Karl, whom she divorced.

Mary bought the coat for me and as far as I know he still has that policy," she said.

Oklahomans To Kill Rats

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—It was rat killing day in Oklahoma City Wednesday. Shotgun-wielding police and firemen with flame throwers, waded into a weedy area in the northwest sector.

Police Chief Roy Bergman personally directed the big hunt and said he hoped it would rid the city of rats.

After an hour of hunting, a tiny cotton rat poked his nose from a burning debris and was pulverized by shotgun blasts. Only four others were found by the hunters, who had expected some 600.

Bergman said philosophically: "Everyone cooperated but the rats."

Intelligence Agency Chief Says America Improving

NEW YORK (AP)—Allen W. Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, says, "We are improving."

Dulles defended the agency against criticism that it had failed to alert Washington about the impending Suez and Iraqi crises.

"Sometimes — not always — our record is much better than the press would have you believe," he claimed.

The Tourist Bureau forwarded the request to the Extension Service at New Mexico AM College.

Construction Industry Facing Hiring Problem

WASHINGTON (AP)—The construction industry is facing a hiring problem. It wants to continue hiring only union members despite a federal law which says that is illegal.

The ban against the closed shop in union contracts has been in effect for more than a decade but the industry hadn't been too disturbed until last year.

The National Labor Relations Board announced a tough new policy of money penalties against employers and unions violating the law. Several times postponed, the ban now is to become effective Nov. 1.

Some of the vast industry's major employers and unions feel they have a solution that will pass legal muster, yet continue their practice of keeping only union members, or substantially so, on the payroll.

Their solution: Junk the traditional but illegal closed shop and substitute a sort of combined hiring hall-union shop arrangement. Such as has been in effect in the maritime industry and in some of the nation's factories.

The end result would be that the work force remains union. Under the closed shop only union men can be hired. Under the union shop anyone can be hired but he must then join the union. Under the hiring hall only the qualified man can be hired and the qualifications usually fit the union man.

Construction industry hiring policy is in limbo because it affects over three million workmen as well as the labor supply arrangements for thousands of contractors, big and little.

The bulk of the contractors on large-scale projects — such as roads, bridges, office buildings and industrial plants — seem to prefer to deal with unions because they want an assured labor supply.

Dulles Berates Critics Of U.S. Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—What's bewildered Democratic politicians to do?

Secretary of State Dulles says it's all right for administration opponents to debate the "basic problems" of foreign policy. But he finds it highly undesirable for them to talk in the campaign about "current aspects" of that policy.

President Eisenhower says the "basic parts" of U.S. foreign policy have been standing on their own feet for a long time. But he does not deny "intelligent questioning and criticism" of the tough daily decisions needed to carry out that policy.

Faced with this seeming contradiction, Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.) said today Democrats will continue to discuss "matters of such vital importance to the nation that decisions on them cannot be left to two men alone — Eisenhower and Dulles."

From the other side of the political fence, Sen. Thruston B. Morton (R-Ky.) said in a separate interview there is room for campaign debate on international affairs "only if the discussion is limited to the broad principles of policy which have brought us the Formosa Strait, with honor retained," the GOP committee said.

It is a question as to whether the nation should continue to support the Formosa Strait, with honor retained, the GOP committee said.

Instead, he said he had spoken Dulles years ago. He added that responsible Republicans must answer Democratic criticism, even if the attacks appear ridiculous. Otherwise, he said, the Republican else but appeasement."

Tourist Bureau Given Request

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—The letter to the State Tourist Bureau was short and to the point.

"Please send me two tumble weeds," a New Jersey woman wrote. "The ones I have are wearing out."

The Tourist Bureau forwarded the request to the Extension Service at New Mexico AM College.
