

NEGOTIATIONS UNDERWAY

McCLOUD—Negotiations are under way this week between the USFS and The McCloud River Lumber Company for the sale of 136,000 board feet of ponderosa pine timber, located at Mt. Shasta Forest tree farm 12 miles east of McCloud. The sale was advertised without a bidder signifying a desire to obtain the timber, probably due to small timber and slight volume, USFS personnel stated. Removal of the trees is to facilitate the clearing of 10 additional acres of land for expansion of the nursery and the construction of a small plantation exhibit area.

FDR Offspring Enters Politics

REEKER, Colo. (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt has joined the political ranks. The eldest son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt is the new Democratic chairman of Rio Blanco County. It's his first official participation in politics, but it may not be his last. There were rumors Roosevelt who operates the Rolling R Ranch in northwestern Colorado, may run for Colorado governor in 1962.

A Producer And A Writer Team Up In Partnership

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"We're paying two actors a million and a half dollars and neither of us has a maid. Our wives do the cooking."
This was the happy admission of Martin Rackin and John Lee Mahin, a couple of movie mavericks who could write a new chapter in the history of free enterprise.
Picture these two guys: Mahin, a tall, chunky, soft-spoken master of the film writing craft with credits all the way from "Scarface" and "Red Dust" to "The Bad Seed" and "No Time for Sergeants"; Rackin, a glib, friendly fellow who once wrote gags for Red Skelton, graduated to film writer and producer.
Together they could point to a half-century of toil in the movie mills. And they could earn hefty salaries working for studio bosses.
"But we weren't satisfied," Rackin explained. "When you're working for a studio, you never get to roll the dice yourself. You write a picture for Marlon Brando and you end up with a second-rate actor saying your lines. Or you change a whole script to make it fit Gary Cooper. You never do things the way you want them done."
Producer Rackin and writer Mahin were working on a Pearl Buck script for Warner Brothers when their minds met in the common urge: "Let's make our own picture."

Both had been fond of a Civil War novel by Harold Sinclair, "The Horse Soldiers." It had kicked around town with no takers for the film rights. So they made a deal for a free option. They bade farewell to Warner and embarked on Mahin-Rackin Productions.
"You're nuts," they were told.
The two men pondered who would be the ideal director for their yarn. Their No. 1 choice was John Ford, great director of action films and an expert on the Civil War. He accepted.
On a visit to Ford's house, they met John Wayne, who signed the contract and got his costumes before he even read the script.
William Holden was encountered at a party, liked the sound of the project and joined the team. The outlay: $750,000 plus 20 per cent of the profits apiece to Holden and Wayne; $250,000 plus 20 per cent to Ford.
"We don't mind," Rackin said.

Atlanta Temple Bombings Probed By Special Staff

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A special police staff went into seclusion as they pressed harder than ever today for a solution to the dynamite explosion which shattered a large portion of a Jewish temple.
Reliable sources said it was understood the FBI expected to solve the case today. N. R. Johnson, in charge of the FBI office here, declined comment.
The blast before dawn Sunday was the first anti-Semitic violence in Atlanta but the fourth in the South this year. It caused $200,000 damage to the Temple.
The police staff directing the investigation here moved to an undisclosed site late Wednesday. Capt. J. L. Moseley said requests for information from news media had reached the point where they were interfering with the investigation.
Two more bomb threats were made Wednesday night by telephone but nothing came of either.

Stiff Stock Mart Credit Goes Into Effect Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board today put into effect the stiffest stock market credit restraints in nearly 12 years. The board's purpose: to discourage speculation with borrowed money.
The board announced plans Wednesday to increase to 90 per cent the margin, or minimum down payment, required on purchases of stocks. The minimum margin had been 70 per cent since Aug. 5, when it was raised from 50 per cent.
The latest action means investors henceforth must put up at least $50 in cash for every $100 of stock they buy. It does not have any retroactive effect on stocks bought when margins were lower.
Only once before have margins been this high—when they were 100 per cent in the first year after World War II.
Wall Street had been expecting an increase and some stock analysts said they believed the action had been discounted in advance. The market reached an all-time high Monday but prices fell in heavy trading Tuesday and Wednesday.
When the reserve board raises margins, the aim is to prevent excessive use of credit in the stock market. If too much borrowed money moves into the market, less is available for use by borrowers in other sectors of the economy.
G. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, said credit on that exchange totals $2,100,000,000. He said this is only 1.3 per cent of the total market value of the stocks.
Funston said stock market credit has not kept pace with increases in stock prices or with nongovernment credit in the rest of the economy.
A reserve board spokesman said loans by brokers and banks for purchasing stocks totaled $4,200,000,000 at the end of September. He said this was the largest amount since this type of statistic was first collected during the 1930s.
Brokers' loans had increased 20 per cent this year and bank loans for stock purchases are up 8 per cent, he said.

Japanese Women Adopt Western Ideas Of Makeup

(Editor's Note: UPI Women's Editor Gay Pauley is on a trip to the Far East reporting on the lesser known facets of daily living there.)
By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
TOKYO (UPI)—East is beginning to see eye to eye — and nose to nose — with the West in matters of makeup.
The ideal of beauty in Japan is so westernized that today some Japanese girls are getting nose "bobs" and eyelid operations to resemble more closely their sisters in Europe and the United States. And for almost all, coiffures and makeup are copied right out of the latest Western beauty and fashion magazines.
"Plastic surgery for the nose and eyelids is a post-war trend," said Mrs. Aiko Yamano, who with her husband operates one of the largest beauty schools in the city. Her school here in Tokyo trains 5,000 students a year from Japan, Okinawa and Singapore. She also has beauty shops in this country and South America, and stages television demonstrations in hair-styling and makeup for do-it-yourselfers.
Mrs. Yamano, a small, vivacious woman, said she can show the Oriental miss how to shadow her nostrils and give the face the Western "three dimensional" look, with a "high" instead of flat nose. But she also works with plastic surgeons in planning the same results on a permanent basis.
She said many Japanese also are having facial surgery to create the double eyelid, which nature gave us Westerners.
Plastic surgery, she said, costs much less in Japan than in the United States — a nose operation here is available for as little as 10,000 yen, or about $28 compared with the $500 or more it costs in America.
"Some girls get operations without telling their husbands — but when the baby is born with a flat nose, the husband finds out," she explained, laughing.
Makeup follows the West to the warm pink tones for fall and winter; and the Japanese girls use blue or green eyeshadow even for daytime. In summer, the copper tones of makeup are used and Mrs. Yamano said "We've even taken to the great American fad for sun-tanning."
"All Japanese hair styles are influenced by the American and French," she said. "But here, the French is a little more popular, because it is softer. Our girls like a slightly tousled look; this fall I'm doing the tumble cut, much like the old poodle in length, brushed up, but not curly."
A trip to a beauty shop in Japan is a bargain compared with prices in most state-side shops. Small, neighborhood shops charge 250 yen (it takes 360 to make $1) for shampoo and set; on the Ginza, Tokyo's Fifth Avenue, the price is 500 yen and up. This is minus tips; but tipping is practiced only at the swankier, cosmopolitan shops.
Mrs. Yamano, who has been a beautician for 35 years and says all six of her sons are following her and her husband in the field, commented that it was a little sad to see the influence of the West so overwhelming.

AERIAL TANKER

McCLOUD — A Redding based aerial tanker was used in controlling a small forest fire near Cattle Camp, east of McCloud, last week. The hunter-smoker caused fire was extinguished by Ash Creek and Ponderosa USFS fire crews. A small hunter-caused fire was controlled at Little Bear Flat, south of Ponderosa, October 13 by USFS fire fighters. The fire was controlled after burning nearly one tenth of an acre of 80 to 100 foot
