Stengel Bypasses The Mick

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—The mantle of greatness wasn't flying too snugly today on the shoulders of a young man by the name of Mickey Mantle.

That would be Mickey Mantle, who burst on the baseball scene while as a player who merely had to go through the motions to be swept into the Hall of Fame. But Casey Stengel, his manager, indicated in a roundabout manner that master Mickey had better get going.

Stengel named the three most valuable players during his 10-year tenure as skipper of the New York Yankees and, although Mickey has been with him eight years, the Mantle name wasn't even third.

Old Casey named, in order, Joe DiMaggio, Yogi Berra and—surprise—Hank Bauer.

"Bauer tries and runs out everything," Stengel said. "Mantle has everything to make him the greatest but there are times he doesn't look like it. The whole thing is up to him."

BLASTS HOMER FEVER

Stengel also had harsh words for a "home run fever" on the ball club and pointed out that he'd rather have a single than a ball game than two home runs at the tail end of a lost case.

Mantle, it can be pointed out, won his third home run crown this past season with 42. But he only 97 runs — and struck out a total of 123 times which is his all-time highest.

Gate-Crasher Eyes Badger Grid Crowd

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—Cy Butt is the local version of the late famed gate-crasher, One-Eyed Connolly. Cy's current objective is the sellout Wisconsin-Iowa game here Saturday.

Cy has crashed a dozen or more sellout Wisconsin football games. He is a familiar figure in this university town and a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, having been a student there from 1927 until 1933 when he received a degree in law.

On this occasion, Cy entered the confines of Camp Randall Stadium as a vendor of potato chips, complete with white cap, white apron and cardboard box filled with goodies.

At the later game, Cy entered as a wheelchair patient along with a number of bonafide paraplegics who had been given free admission to the game.

The encounter this weekend between undefeated and third-ranked Wisconsin and rugged Iowa will be a sure sellout at 63,710 fans. It is a challenge worthy of a gate-crasher's salt. Cy has risen to the challenge but has not yet selected the means by which he will enter the stadium sans ticket.

He is toying with the idea of entering as a Western Union operator in full regalia or, and this is a long-shot possibility, as a fully-attired member of the Wisconsin football team.

Scorecards Needed To Follow Pro Clubs

NEW YORK (UPI)—Don't be disappointed if you can't keep track of the players as they rush on and off the field in the National Football League's "revolving platoons." Neither can the players—or the coaches—without a scorecard.

A reporter pointed out this situation recently when he asked Ray Wietecha, New York Giants center, who played defensive left end for the club in its 1958 opener against the Chicago Cardinals.

Wietecha likes to joke, but he was half-serious. Each NFL club has seven or eight—or more—different lineups for use in specific situations.

A few players such as the quarterbacks play only one position under ordinary conditions, but many members of all squads play on three or four or as many as seven different units.

Red Leads Pentathlon

NEW YORK (UPI)—Russia's Igor Novikov is expected to win his second straight title today when the modern pentathlon world championships end with the cross-country run.

Novikov, a sports instructor, leads teammate Nikolai Tatarinov in the overall standings, 3,942 points to 3,637 points for four events and will clinch his second straight title unless Tatarinov beats him in today's event by more than 100 seconds. This is considered extremely unlikely because Tatarinov is not a first-class runner.

Russia's Alexander Tarasov, in third place with 3,542 points, is a good runner but is not expected to make up the required points.

Novikov pushed his points to 3,942 when he finished third in Thursday's swimming. Andras Balczon of Hungary won the 300-meter event in a 30-meter fresh water pool in 3:48.3.

The United States finished seventh in Thursday's swimming and seems destined to finish no better than third in the team standings. Russia leads with 11,125 points, with Hungary second at 10,658 and the United States third at 9,781.

L.A. Jack Daniels of Missoula, Mont., made the best showing of the Americans Thursday with a fourth-place finish in 3:57.4. He ranks eighth in the overall standings with 1,015 points.

Odds, ends, etc. . . .

Talk about disciplinary action. . . . Last week on the day of the St. Marys-Jacksonville, District 5B football game, the St. Marys coach pulled the chain on 15 of his players because of curfew violations the night before. Nine of the 15 were regular starters. St. Marys lost the game 41-12.

All the Klamath Union freshmen have left to do is whip the Ashland frosh tomorrow afternoon in the OHSOC prelin to collect an unbeaten season. And chances are they will. Bodes good things to come in Pelican land. The baby Pels clobbered both Medford Jr. Highs who, in turn, blasted the Grants Pass frosh.

An enthusiastic George Hanson, the Malin mentor who is riding a tie for second place in his first year of coaching, exclaimed following the Mustang-Bulldog game last week. "Watch 'Tank' Mullanix — he'll be the best football player in the county this time next year." The "Tank" (Ron) is a 195 pound junior fullback.

A new approach to basketball scheduling is being tried in the Southern Oregon Conference this year. With the exception of the first two games of the season, no teams will play each other on consecutive nights. Yes, the Pels will play both Friday and Saturday nights throughout the season, but the situation will be like this: On Friday night the Pels will meet Grants Pass here then journey to Medford for a game with the Black Tornado on Saturday night, etc.

Nursery Grooms Rutgers Alumni

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP)—Rutgers old grads won't have to hire a baby sitter so they can see the alma-mammy play football this weekend.

The Rutgers Alumni Federation has set up a special nursery where junior can be parked during the game. The nursery, equipped with refrigerators to keep formulas and milk, and walkie-talkie communications with the stadium, will open at 11 a. m. Saturday. Rutgers is playing Bucknell.

SWEETEST COMEBACK

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Retail Candy Store Institute Thursday honored New York Yankee Manager Casey Stengel for "the sweetest comeback of the year." Stengel will receive a case of chocolates for his achievement.

Celtics, Baylor NBA Picks

NEW YORK (UPI)—Coaches of the eight National Basketball Association teams predicted today in a United Press International poll that the Boston Celtics will regain their pro championship and that Elgin Baylor of the Minneapolis Lakers will be rookie-of-the-year.

The coaches, polled by UPI just before Sunday's start of the new NBA season, unanimously picked the Celtics and the defending champion St. Louis Hawks for their division titles.

They could not agree unanimously on which team would win the championship playoffs next spring, but five of them cast their vote for the Celtics to take back the title they lost to the Hawks last April. Two picked St. Louis to win the playoffs and one voted for Minneapolis.

In forecasting individual honors, the coaches' consensus favored Bob Pettit of the Hawks as the league's outstanding player and Baylor, the 6-foot-5 former Seattle University All-American, as the best first-year player.

Six of the eight coaches cast their vote for Pettit, the talented 6-foot-9 forward who was the NBA's third highest scorer even though he played several weeks of last season with a cast encasing his broken wrist. Pettit averaged 24.6 points in 70 games and was the league's second highest rebounder with an average of 17.4 per game.

Black Hawks, Pirates Play On Same Line

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Could it be that the Chicago Black Hawks are going to be the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National Hockey League?

The baseball Pirates climbed from last place to second in the National League. Now the Hawks, who just managed to escape the cellar last year, are sitting atop the hockey circuit's standings looking down on even the powerful Montreal Canadiens.

The Hawks chalked up their third victory Thursday night with a surprising 7-2 victory over the Detroit Redwings. The three triumphs plus a tie gives them a total of seven points, one more than the Canadiens, who turned back the Toronto Maple Leafs 4-3 with a third period rally.

Lorne Ferguson, former Redwing, and Eric Nesterenko paced the Hawks to their one-sided victory with two goals each. They each scored in the first period and added another in the final session.

Dickie Moore's goal at 17:09 of the third period gave the Canadiens their come-from-behind triumph. Moore's second goal of the game came after Bernie Geoffrion had pulled Montreal even at 7:41. Henry Richard had a hand in all of Montreal's goals. Bob Pulford tallied twice for the Leafs, both in the first period.

32 Yanks Get $8,759 As World Series Pay

NEW YORK (AP)—The difference between winning and losing the 1958 World Series meant $8,759 for each member of the New York Yankees who received a full series share.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick disclosed the distribution Thursday. The Yanks voted 32 full winning shares amounting to $8,759 each. A full losing slice for each of 31 Milwaukee players was worth $5,896.

The winning share for the Yanks was $165 less than the Braves players got after beating New York in the 1957 series. Milwaukee had 30 full shares last year. The losing share for the Braves this season amounted to $290 more than that of the 1957 Yanks who divided 33 full shares.

Virgil Trucks, who joined the Yanks in mid-June, received a full share. A three-fourth share, worth $4,319.25, was accorded Murry Dickson, who was acquired from Kansas City in late August.

A half-share of $4,379.54 went to Sal Maglie, who was released by New York in mid-June. Fritz Brickell, Bobby Del Greco and Johnny James, all of whom played briefly, received one-fourth shares.

Last Monday Frick revealed that he had fined 22 Milwaukee players $50 apiece for premature disclosure of their financial breakdown. The commissioner said, "I fined only 22 because they were the only ones eligible to vote on the series' cuts. A player must be on the roster June 1 and remain until the end of the season to be permitted to be at the meeting."

The breakdown of the other first division clubs: American League — Chicago White Sox, 32 full shares, $1,318.94; Boston Red Sox, 32, $995.90; Cleveland Indians, 28, $318.61; National League — Pittsburgh Pirates, 32, $1,507.04; San Francisco Giants, 28, $1,031.14; Cincinnati Redlegs, 30, $567.23.
