Oregon Tech's 1958 Homecoming Week-end slogan could have been "Let It Rain," and it did. But none of the "old grads," present students or other fans sitting in the Modoc Field stands paid any attention to the weather outside.

The mighty Mt. Hood High Campus Owls clobbered Southern Oregon College's Red Raiders 40-0 in an Oregon Collegiate Conference football game that highlighted the festive weekend celebration. And what a victory it was for coach Rex Hunsaker's club.

By winning, the Owls remained one of two undefeated teams in the OCC. OTI is 3-0, OCE 2-0. The Owls are now odds-on favorite to cop the school's first out-right football championship. But standing between the Owls and the OCC title is Oregon College of Education, the team that OTI has never been able to defeat on the football field. The Owls and OCE are billed to meet at Monmouth November 1 in the Wolves Homecoming game.

Besides the trouncing Oregon Tech administered to Southern Oregon, Portland State lost its third straight conference decision of the year as the Vikings bowed 22-7 to the Oregon College Wolves. Eastern Oregon, the other OCC member dropped its Homecoming contest to Westminster College of Salt Lake City in a game played at LaGrande by a 20-12 margin.

DEFENSIVE EFFORT

The Owls victory on a wet Modoc Field Saturday afternoon was a sterling defensive triumph with 95 per cent of the credit due to Hunsaker's "Iron Curtain." The Owl defenders gave up 34 net yards rushing and 44 yards passing for a grand sum of 78 net yards. OTI's total net for the game was 32.

A battle seemed to be brewing between the Owl defensive and offensive units to see which eleven could turn in the best job of the afternoon, and while the defense stopped SOC cold, the offensive squad did themselves proud. Led by Earl Green and Otis Foster who scored twice, the Owls tallied six times and threatened three other times as they battled to remain undefeated in OCC standings.

A Southern Oregon fumble by halfback Rick Herman was recovered by Owl end Dale McCulloch to set up the first touchdown. OTI-Malstrom Game Canceled

Oregon Tech athletic director and head football coach Rex Hunsaker announced late Saturday that the Owls football game next Saturday against Malstrom Air Base has been canceled.

Hunsaker, in making the announcement, said that due to considerable personnel transferring at Malstrom we were forced to call off all remaining football games.

A last-minute check is being made by Hunsaker this weekend in an attempt to fill the open date, and if a suitable opponent can be found, the Owls will sign for another Saturday night home game.

"OTI S." Foster broke over his own left tackle and guard, streaked through a huge hole made by guard Allen Jones and tackle Dick Hill and traveled down the left side lines for 27 yards and the touchdown. Roy Johnson converted from placement and the Tech followers held a 27-0 cushion.

BENCH CLEARED

Southern Oregon was rapped for two other Owl scores in the last 15-minute period as Hunsaker and his assistants—line coach George Miller and back boss Ralph Carr cleaned their bench and played all of the OTI squad.

Green got one of the final scores as he cut over from 15-yards out with 12:20 remaining. Johnson's placement attempt was good for the extra point. The last OTI score came at the final horn as Foster picked off a pass from Johnson in a scoring play that covered 40-yards in all. Johnson's try for point was good, but the Owls were satisfied with their 40-point victory, second only to the 89-0 thumping the Techmen handed the Ashlanders in 1952.

After the game, the elated Hunsaker was full of praise for what he called the "greatest team effort I have ever had since coming to Oregon Tech." The Tech boss remarked as he watched his club load on the bus ready to return to the campus dressing room, "Aren't they the greatest? You can't match the kind of fire and desire those kids of ours demonstrated on that field today."

Hunsaker went on to point with pride that his defensive unit allowed Southern Oregon to get to the OTI 49 yard line in the first period and to the Owls 46 in the fourth, but other than these two times the ball was never in Owl territory while in SOC control. "And not only that, they only completed four passes and we intercepted two of them."

What a tremendous effort on the part of everyone," the Owl coach added as he boarded the team bus.

Hoots To Hear Game Review

President Dick Gallagher has issued an invitation to all local sports fans to turn out Monday night for the weekly Owl Hoot dinner meeting at the Chuck Wagon. Dinner time is 6:30.

All old and new Owl Hoot members are urged to be on hand. Any newcomers are welcome. The organization is open to anyone interested in Oregon Tech and sports in general.

OTI coach Rex Hunsaker will review the 40-0 trimming his club handed Southern Oregon Saturday in the season's Homecoming Week-end football game. Line coach George Miller and backfield aid Ralph Carr will also be present to take part in the Southern Oregon game review.

If possible, the films of the OTI-SOC contest will be shown as the program portion of the meeting.

KLAMATH FALLS, OREGON

It won't be long now before honors are passed out to major league baseball stars for their play in the past season. Awards such as most valuable players in both leagues, the Cy Young trophy for the outstanding pitcher and rookie of the year titles.

These, like other such awards, are hard to pick a winner without hurting someone's feelings. Always there are three or four candidates and sometimes many more who are just as deserving as the eventual winner. But as in life, that's the way the ball bounces — or the cookie crumbles.

Probably the most interesting race for individual laurels is in the balloting for the most valuable player title in both the American and National leagues.

In the junior circuit, such names as Ted Williams, Bob Turley, Rocky Colvito, Pete Runnels, Billy Pierce and Jackie Jensen are all reasonable choices. Who would you decide on? We like Williams for his spark in Boston's season play, but those who do the deciding might stick with the winner and pick Turley for his 21-game effort which undoubtedly played a big part in the New York Yankees AL victory.

The National League has some very fine candidates. Take the Cubs Ernie Banks, St. Louis' great Stan Musial, Milwaukee's three-time MVP Hank Aaron, Lew Burdette or 20-game winner Warren Spahn, or what about Pittsburgh's Bob Friend, the Giants' Willie Mays and Philadelphia's Richie Ashburn? All deserve a little extra, but there can be only one. Our choice is Mays, who kept the new San Franciscoans in the thick of the fight.

Then there are the two rookie crowns. We like Yankee relief pitcher Ryne Duren in the American League and Orlando Cepeda in the National. But Duren has beat out pint-sized Albie Pearson of Washington and Cepeda must draw more votes than Milwaukee's Carlton Willey or teammate Willie Kirkland.

The Cy Young pitchers prize could be interesting. Only one is selected from both leagues, and there were some fine pitching efforts this past season. If Turley, Spahn, Burdette, Friend, Pierce and Willey rate as possible MVP and rookie winners, they surely must be given spots for the Cy Young balloting. Don't overlook Whitey Ford of the Yanks or St. Louis' Sam Jones. They had two good years. Our pick is Turley, but Spahn must rank a very close second for another 20-game season which is a new record for left-handers, the ninth time.

A real proud father these days is Rex Hunsaker, Oregon Tech's football coach and athletic director.

Rex's good feelings came from a clipping taken from the sports section of the Salt Lake City Tribune. Seems a young Hunsaker, Floyd, a 1953 graduate of Klamath Union High School, has made the starting lineup of the Utah State freshman football team.

Utah State opened its freshman Kapp Guides Cal Victory

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Quarterback Joe Kapp guided California to a second step toward the Rose Bowl Saturday as the Golden Bears knocked off the fumbling Trojans of Southern California 14-12.

The victory was the first for California over Southern Cal in eight years in Memorial Coliseum. A crowd of 34,872 saw the Berkeley team chalk up its second Pacific Coast Conference triumph against no defeats.

The artistic technique of Kapp — running, passing and punting — spelled success, but five Trojan fumbles added to the California cause.

All five of the bobbles were recovered by California and one set up the first Bear touchdown.

The Bears took the lead in the first quarter, led 14-6 at the half and were never behind.

Southern California, with halfback Angelo Coia carrying much of the load, provided some thrills for their supporters in the second half. The Golden Bear defense was woefully weak.

Cougars Upset UO Ducks

EUGENE (AP) — Washington State bounced back into the Rose Bowl picture Saturday, showing surprising ground strength as it upset Oregon 6-0 in a Pacific Coast Conference game.

The Staters, who now have three conference wins against one loss, also came up with a stubborn defense that completely frustrated Oregon.

The Staters got their winning score in the second quarter when they drove 88 yards in 16 plays. Only two of these passes, as the State bounced off huge gains through able holes in the line.

Quarterback Bob Newman scored the touchdown on a one-yard plunge. Ippava on the conversion was long.

Newman, springing from a knee injury, had ended the game only moments earlier when the Washington State (6) appeared to be faltering.

It was shut down and eight yards to go the Oregon 43 when Newman entered. He promptly took a 17-yard pass to fullback Chuck Morrell. Thereafter he called ground plays and the Staters methodically ripped off short gains to the Oregon one, from where Newman went over.

Oregon managed only one serious drive. It came later in the fourth quarter and covered 73 yards before the Staters stiffened and stopped the march on the march on the State 8.

Earlier State had shown newfound defensive strength after Oregon had picked up a State fumble on the Washington State 11. In four plays, the Staters threw Oregon back to the 22.

It was the first conference defeat for Oregon against two victories.

The field was soft from earlier downpours and light rain sprinkled down through the first half. But it failed to halt the Staters, who had been taught to be at the weather's mercy, since they usually depend on their passing attack.

The Staters had four other scoring opportunities, two of them from Oregon fumbles deep in Oregon territory, but could not quite cash in on them.

Oregon could do nothing against the fierce Washington State defense in the first half and little more in the second half.

Only once did Oregon get across the midfield stripe in the first half and that was only for a minute.

Oregon started the second half by taking the kickoff and marching to the State 35 before being halted. Moments later Oregon got its first scoring chance on the Washington State 11. Newman, who played only scant minutes, fumbled the ball and center Dave Fish of Oregon recovered. But there the Staters rose up to throw Oregon back.

The Staters made one more drive deep into Oregon territory before Oregon made its final attempt to pull out the game.

Washington State punched to the Oregon 18 and from there Oregon drove back to the State 8. When the State line stiffened, Oregon turned to passes, but two final throws fell incomplete and the last Oregon chance was gone.

The Staters piled up 277 yards to 150 for Oregon as they completely dominated all departments of play.

OSC Stages Rally, Dumps Vandal 20-6

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — Nub Beamer and Dainard Paulson carried the Oregon State team behind Saturday and gave the Beavers a 20-6 Pacific Coast Conference football victory over the Idaho Vandals.

Idaho took a 6-0 first quarter lead through the wind and the rain and for a time in the early going it appeared the final crushing end might be at hand for OSC, rated best on the Coast in the pre-season forecasts but troubled ever since.

The Beavers, smarting from last week's stunning 20-0 loss to Wyoming, started to move in the second period after Doug Bashor intercepted a pass and Paulson and Beamer moved it 28 yards on the ground to the Idaho 18.

From there, Paulson shot a pass into the end zone and Jerry Doman grabbed it for the touchdown. Beamer ran over for the conversion and OSC had it 8-6.

Oregon State added padding to the lead in the third and fourth quarters. Jim Stinnette raced 52 yards to the Idaho three in the third period and Beamer scored from two yards out.

In the fourth quarter, State rolled 56 yards in 11 plays with Beamer scoring from the one.

The Vandals, who almost beat OSC's Rose Bowl team here two years ago, still weren't through. They marched 59 yards after the kickoff but were stopped inches short of the goal line with seconds to play.

The Idaho score in the first quarter came after center Stan Fanning recovered a fumble on the OSC 12. Mike Sheeran and Ken Hall moved it to the one and Hall plunged over as a crowd of some 8,000 went wild, sensing an upset.

But Idaho fortunes began to turn on the extra point. Hall's placekick sailing wide, OSC ground power from there was just too much for the heavy Vandals, a seven-point underdog.

The Vandals could manage only two first downs and 34 yards rushing in the first half and didn't have much of an offense in the second except for the closing drive when they were hopelessly behind.

That laborious Idaho march took up most of the fourth quarter and just as it seemed the Vandals would close the gap a bit the offense petered out. Fullback Oren Melton was stopped from the one-foot line on fourth down.

Some of the rain-pelted spectators started leaving late in the third quarter when it became obvious that Idaho just didn't have it today for the Homecoming fans.

Game was the thrill of a possible upset and gone, too, was the stout defense that had protected the 6-0 Idaho lead early in the game.

Coop Collects Single Crown

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Ashley Cooper, Wimbledon champion, Saturday won Sydms Metropolitan Tennis Singles (impionship, defeating Neale Friz 6-3, 2-6, 6-3.

The on bright spot of the match warovided by a very vocal Frasean who was perched on the roof of a nearby house. He disturbed the game by loudly cheering user's winning shots.

Admonish by the umpire and told to get down and keep quiet, the fan red "this is my house so you ca make me."

REX HUNSAKER

grid season Thursday against Snow College — a winning debut by the way. Floyd, who scales only 163 pounds dripping wet, was on the first unit and drew some good words from coach Darrel Guthrie.

Rex's pride swelled a little more when Floyd had to beat out five other end prospects who scale 170 and upwards. Utah State's freshman squad has two high school all-America selections in its ranks. Hallback Leonard Resler of Boulder City, Colorado, and tackle Merrill Olsen of Logan, Utah, were both named to the prep A-A team last fall.

Like father like son.

Dick Strite, sports editor of the Eugene Register-Guard, is walking on a cloud these days. Says Strite in a column published early last week:

"The closing minutes of the last two Oregon grid games have been the most satisfying we have experienced in years. Against Oklahoma the touted Sooners 'ate' the ball to assure themselves of a 6-0 triumph. Last Saturday night the Trojans (USC) collected 51 of their 217 yards in the final two minutes of play when Casanova (Len Casanova, Oregon football coach) had some Oregon players in the lineup who had never previously appeared in a PCC game. He used a total of 37 players, ... Oregon's first unit saw no action after the first 43 minutes of the fourth quarter."

Strite also added, "Len Casanova was much more generous with the rebel USC Trojans than most Oregon followers would have been Saturday night."

"Len is a fine football coach and a gentleman. Using the term loosely, we think of ourselves as a gentleman, but there would have been no tears shed had Oregon managed a 50-0 rather than the 25-0 scored against the 'Mighty Men of Troy.'"
