Zoo Keepers Playing Cupid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Jungle boy Bongo met city kid Colo. She was ecstatic. He was reserved.

This boy-meets-girl affair took place at the Columbus Zoo Tuesday. It was meant to start an eight-year courtship between the world's only gorilla born in captivity and a baby gorilla from Africa.

Bongo is 16 months old and a black 21 pounds, wearing a reflective expression.

Colo, six months older and 12 pounds heavier, shows signs of being spoiled.

Dr. James Vickers, zoo veterinarian, approached Colo's cage with the little immigrant from the French Cameroons clinging tightly to him.

Bongo poked an inquiring paw at Colo and she responded enthusiastically, indicating apparent success at the meeting.

Zoo Supt. Earl Davis ordered Bongo at an estimated cost of $5,000 as a playmate for Colo, he said, when it appeared she was beginning to act as though she thought she were human.

Vickers said Bongo's cage will be moved next to Colo's so they can get acquainted. Eventually they will share a suite, and if all goes well, eight years from now they may start a family.

Henry Clay, who almost but did not quite become president of the U.S., won his law degree at the age of 21. He was still under 30 when appointed to the U.S. Senate in 1806.

Cleopatra was once married to her brother, Ptolemy, who served as co-regent with her. She didn't trust him, and had him done away with, and thus she became sole ruler of Egypt.

Baker University at Baldwin, Kansas, received $100 from Abraham Lincoln to erect a building on the campus in 1864.

Oliver Goldsmith, Canada's first native-born poet, was a grand-nephew of the Irish poet of the same name.
