

Dollar Debasement Spat Going Round And Round New Operation Offers Aid To Some Types Of Stroke

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — The ruckus between President Eisenhower and former President Truman over responsibility for the disgraceful debasement of the U. S. dollar and for spending the nation into almost unmanageable debt is one of those "Who struck John?" disputes.

Who struck John? was slangy World War II GI ridicule of any dispute in which the disputants just went 'round and 'round without arriving anywhere.

This fiscal "who struck John?" dispute relating to the shambles in which the fiscal affairs of the nation have fallen can be exposed however, to certain mathematical checks and measurements. So exposed, the dispute between the President and the former President just about adds up to a draw bet. They are both wrong or, more precisely, each is about half right, which is just as bad. Take spending, for example.

YEARS COMPARED
 The brightly edited "Democratic Digest" for October compares the spending record of HST with the spending record of DDE. DDE doesn't look so good. The Digest offers HST's surplus and deficit figures for the fiscal years 1946-51, inclusive and discovers three surplus years and three deficit years. The aggregate of the three surplus years exceeded the aggregate of the three deficit years by $3,773,000,000 which is designated the real surplus for the period covered.

SHRINKING DOLLAR
 Those deficit and spending figures would considerably change the Digest's comparison of HST and DDE, although they would not alter the fact that Eisenhower has out-spent 'em all.

To the question of who most debased the lovely U. S. buck, the record compiled by the Senate Finance Committee by the Bureau of Labor Statistics and Library of Congress material answers up like this:

Assuming that the dollar was worth 100 cents in 1939, when Franklin D. Roosevelt was president, it was worth only 51.9 cents in 1953 when Truman left office. The dollar lost nearly half of its purchasing power in 14 Democratic years.

4-H Girl From Lakeview Earns Rotary Club Award

LAKEVIEW — Frances Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stewart, Westside, received the Rotary Club sweepstakes award for her exhibits, contests and other accomplishments in 4-H Club work at the achievement program held October 18 at the Westside Grange Hall.

Frances received gifts to the value of $30. She was grand champion in the style revue and clothing divisions at the Lake County Spring Fair, and was also named style revue champion at the state fair in Salem.

Special livestock breeding awards went to Dale Vandergaw.

Printers Elect Klamath Woman

Mrs. Alice Vitus, owner of the Guide Printing Company, Klamath Falls, was elected to the board of directors of the Printing Industry of America Inc. at its 72nd annual convention in Dallas, Texas, October 13-16.

PIA represents 6,000 member printing companies in the United States, Canada and Mexico. More than 1,000 delegates attended the four-day meeting.

After Harangue, Girl Is Queen

WHITEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Students of Mrs. Hugh Stout's first grade class at Williams Township School were hurt this week when they found their nominee for Halloween queen was ineligible.

Their unanimous choice, 7-year-old Bill Ward, is a boy. "We still want Bill," stubbornly said campaigner Debbie Jacobs, 6. "He's the prettiest."

After much coaxing, the vote was changed and Debbie was made the nominee.

Husband, Wife Joined In Death

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jacobs were giving a dinner party for their daughter and son-in-law, Jacobs suffered a heart attack and died. "I want to go too. I can't live without him," his wife sobbed as her daughter tried to comfort her. Then Mrs. Jacobs collapsed and within minutes, she was dead. The couple, both 70, had been married 47 years.
