

Press Representatives Attend Ski Bowl Preview

MOUNT SHASTA — Over 250 guests will be entertained this weekend in a press preview of the Mt. Shasta Ski Bowl.

Representatives of newspapers, radio stations, television stations, magazines, news bureaus, travel bureaus and allied agencies have been invited to "see for themselves" the gigantic size and ultra modern facilities at the Mt. Shasta Ski Bowl.

The magazine list includes Time, Newsweek, Sports Illustrated, Sunset, Motorland and Oregon Motorist.

Guests will be arriving Friday night and Saturday. Lodging is being furnished in the motels and hotels of Mount Shasta, Weed and Dunsmuir. As soon as they have checked in, the guests will be taken to the Ski Bowl Lodge. Saturday night there will be a banquet, and Sunday morning there will be a breakfast at the lodge. As a special convenience for photographers, a Bell helicopter from Aetna Helicopters, Inc., Etna, will be at the lodge to give rides for aerial photographs.

Approximately 50 residents of Mount Shasta, Weed and Dunsmuir will act as hosts during the preview. They will be on hand to answer questions and get any desired information for the guests.

Headquarters for the preview will be in the lobby of the New Park Hotel in Mount Shasta. All guests will check in there to be assigned to their accommodations in the various motels and hotels.

Hosts will escort the guests to the ski bowl, and join them for the banquet and breakfast.

Speakers at the banquet will include Richard M. Oddie of San Francisco, a vice president and research director for the Bank of America; Willy Schaeffler of Squaw Valley, technical adviser to the Winter Olympics Committee; Ed Johnson of Pasadena, president of the Far West Ski Association; and Jim Hammond of the California State Chamber of Commerce in San Francisco.

The press preview is a joint venture of the Mt. Shasta Ski Bowl corporation, the Mount Shasta, Weed, and Dunsmuir chambers of commerce and the Coordinating Council of Chambers of Commerce of Siskiyou County. Lynn B. Thompson, president of the Mount Shasta Chamber of Commerce and O. O. Apperson Jr., are the general co-chairmen for the event.

Work on the preview started last March. At that time plans called for a very elaborate grand opening preceded by a press preview, to be held in August and September. Construction delays, both on the Everett Highway and in the ski bowl, caused by the unusually heavy snows last spring, forced a postponement of both events. This also forced a complete revision of plans for the grand opening, as it will now be held Thanksgiving weekend, in snow, rather than in summer weather.

Thompson and Apperson urged everyone in the three Southern Siskiyou towns to be on the lookout for the guests of the preview this weekend and to show them every courtesy. They will be wearing white name cards, with the words "Press Preview, October 25-26, 1958, Mt. Shasta Ski Bowl" printed on them.

"This area started to get a very good reputation for friendliness and courtesy during the recent Rotary Conference," they pointed out, "and now we have another excellent opportunity to improve that reputation."

The guest list for the preview includes people from as far north as Portland and as far south as Los Angeles. All media will be represented.

"Mt. Shasta is the latest ski area in California to have modern facilities installed. We have been told for years that we have a great potential here, and this press preview is our first chance to show off what we have developed," Thompson said. "This development is only going to be as good as we are willing to make it."

Church Plans Many Events

A number of events are on the October calendar for the Immanuel Baptist Church including a costume party for old and young in the church on Friday, November 24, starting at 7:30 p.m.

The older group will meet upstairs in the old church for a funfest arranged by Mrs. Leo Zell, Mrs. Ronnie Walters, Mrs. Laverne Thompson, Mrs. Fred Binns, Mrs. Cleo Phillips, Mrs. Dale Rexford and Mrs. Bill Russell, chairman.

Downstairs, Ann Rexford and Dorothy Slagle will supervise Halloween fun for children with games and refreshments planned.

Also during the month, the losing team of the woman's Bible reading contest will host a dinner for the winners captained by Vivian Alloway. Mrs. Roy Galloway is in charge of the dinner.

Mrs. Tarkel Tweet, president of the Mary and Martha Circle, has outlined some interesting social events as well as missionary projects for the coming month. All women interested in Christian fellowship are invited to attend the circle meetings held on the fourth Tuesday of each month.

Session Set On Semantics

Semantics, the study of words and the relation of human behavior to language, will be the topic at a special meeting of the Klamath Falls Unitarian Fellowship Sunday at the Klamath Art Center.

A prominent lay Unitarian will be guest speaker for a combined family night discussion program. He is Henry Castor of San Rafael, whose topic will be "Some Antic Semantics."

A potluck dinner will be served at 5 p.m. Castor will speak at 7 o'clock.

Originally from Philadelphia, he joined the Unitarian Fellowship in Marin County, California, in 1953 after moving west. He was instrumental in building the Unitarian Church of Marin in San Rafael. He is on the church board and was dean of the Central District Unitarian Conference last year.

Castor is representative for Little Brown, Houghton-Mifflin and A. A. Knopf, publishers, and is an author in his own right. He has published two novels as well as two children's books in the Historical Landmark series. Mrs. Castor will accompany him.

Members and friends of the Klamath Fellowship and all those interested are invited.
