whether Pasternak will be allowed to go to Sweden to accept the Nobel award and the $41,000 that goes with it.

It is probable that he can spare the $41,000. The book has been immensely successful and is believed to have made a lot of money for its publisher. It seems improbable that the publisher would not have set aside the royalties due the author.

The problem lies in getting the money to him—or in getting him away from Russia so that he can get the money.

A word in conclusion.

What are the Nobel prizes? There are five of them:

1. For the most important discovery or invention in the field of physics.

2. In the field of chemistry.

3. In physiology or medicine.

4. For the most distinguished literary work of an idealist nature.

5. For the most effective work in the interest of international peace.

The average value of the prizes is about $40,000. Those for physics and chemistry are awarded by the Royal Academy of Science in Stockholm, the prize for medicine by the Caroline Institute, which is by the faculty of medicine in Stockholm, for literature by the Swedish Academy of Literature in Stockholm and the peace prize by a committee of five elected by the Norwegian parliament.

The money, which comes from the interest on an endowment of about $9,000,000, was provided by a Swede, Alfred Bernhard Nobel, who invented dynamite, among other things. He lived and worked in the last half of the last century, and his inventions and the factories he set up to produce them made him one of the richest men in the world in his day.

Board Eyes OTI Future

PORTLAND (AP) — Oregon's Board of Higher Education today took a look at technical education and voiced some comments that might bear on the future of Oregon Technical Institute at Klamath Falls.

A set of recommendations were prepared Monday night. Just before noon today the board approved them.

They say this: A college-level, technical institute—separate from vocational schooling—is probably desirable in Oregon; the Board of Higher Education is not in a position to discuss vocational education; it believes that OTI should remain under the authority of the Board of Education, which now handles OTI.

The question came up because Gov. Robert D. Holmes had asked for recommendations to aid in budget preparation.

Earlier the board approved its committee action of Monday in planning for $4,450,000 worth of new construction.

Shasta Boosts Halloween Fund

MOUNT SHASTA—Mount Shasta residents and businessmen are being asked to donate to a Halloween fund for the children and youth of Mount Shasta. The last time a donation for this purpose was collected was in 1956 and the funds have been depleted. The recreation committee has been very successful.

The local PTA organizations and the recreational district cooperate in keeping busy all youngsters from pre-school through high school.

The program this year will entertain the pre-school children in the elementary school cafeteria from 12:30 to 2:15 p.m. Friday, October 31.

During the same period, kindergarten and grades one, two and three will be entertained in the elementary school playgrounds.

Grades four to eight, inclusive, will meet in city park at 7 p.m. for their Halloween fun.

Friday night the high school students will dance in the Hi-Teens clubhouse. Halloween costumes will be worn.

GIVEN DEFENSE POST WASHINGTON (UPI)—F. Hayden Williams, associate dean of the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, Medford, Mass., Monday was named a deputy assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs.

Unlicensed Bar Raided; KF Police Capture Six

Six persons were arrested during the course of a city police raid at 533 South Eighth Street, allegedly an unlicensed bar known as "Bob's Place."

The Friday night raid came about as the result of a complaint to police, made early in the evening by John H. McCormick, 36, 221 Rogers Street, who said that he had his pockets picked of a billfold containing $100, and of a lady's watch. The incident had allegedly occurred while McCormick was drinking at the Eighth Street address, the residence of Robert (One-Eyed Bob) Dokovich, 75, whom police describe as a "retired mill worker."

According to police, McCormick said that he had been a client of "Bob's Place" for seven years, and that he got shots there for 40 cents and pints for $5, with service available at any hour, day or night.

Police say they went to Dokovich's residence at about 10:30 p.m. There seemed to be considerable activity in the house, their report said, and a "discussion" was going on in the yard, with the following participating: Harley J. Thompson, 49, Chemult; Kathleen J. Thompson, 41, Chiloquim; Willis M. Robinson, 40, 2688 Radcliffe Avenue, and Charles Knight, 36, Chiloquim. The first three were arrested for drunk and disorderly conduct; Knight was charged with disorderly conduct only.

A search of the house, conducted with the assistance of H. B. Carlson of the Oregon Liquor Control Commission, resulted in the discovery of McCormick's billfold, empty, and of 13 cans of beer and six fifths of whiskey, unopened, plus other alcoholic beverages.

Dokovich told officers he kept the beverages only for his friends, and not to sell, but they were seized for evidence, and he was charged with "mixing and serving alcoholic liquors without a license," Vera Sexton, 52, 500 Broad Street, who had been named as his drinking companion in McCormick's original story, was brought from her home to Bob's, and arrested on a disorderly conduct charge.

How the wallet happened to be in the house was unexplained. Dokovich appeared in district court Monday, and asked for additional time. His plea is to be heard Thursday at 10 a.m., and he was freed on $250 bail. The other five arrested all forfeited bail in municipal court, $50 in the case of those charged with both drunk and disorderly conduct, and $25 in the case of Vera Sexton and Knight.

Rangers Battle Forest Fire

The Klamath Forest Protective Association was fighting its second class "B" fire of the season, Tuesday morning just east of Yainnax Butte.

The blaze, started by a warming fire left by a hunter over the weekend, was spotted Monday afternoon. It covered about a third of an acre before a KPFA crew reached the spot on Tuesday, thus exceeding the quarter-acre limit of class "A" fires. No trouble was expected in putting it out.

The only other class "B" fire of the season was the first, which covered five acres.

Housekeeping, Parking Mulled By City Council

FUNERAL services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday, October 29, from O'Hair's Memorial Chapel for Mrs. Jennie Borgerson, 65, who died October 25 in Newell, The Rev. Warnke, pastor of Zion Lutheran Church, will officiate. Final rites and interment will be in Klamath Memorial Cemetery. Mrs. Borgerson had lived in Newell since 1949.

Housekeeping chores and parking and paving problems faced the city council in its regular Monday night session in city hall.

The question of parking down the costs of paving projects was raised with city manager G. S. Vergeer proposing to the council that it change its requirements for permanent street improvements. He proposed that instead of the customary five inches of asphalt which is used with about three inches of base, the council shift to a policy of requiring six inches of base with only three inches of asphalt to be applied in two lifts of one and one half inches of asphalt each.

The attendant savings, he said, would amount to approximately 18 cents per square yard, and would actually give a better surface. "The base is the important thing," he pointed out, "the asphalt is merely the wearing space."

The council agreed to explore the subject in more detail and set specifications at a later meeting. Parking prohibitions again confronted the group when it was pointed out that some utilities had protested the fact that their emergency vehicles were not given parking privileges while on call in the downtown area.

After discussion it was decided to grant utilities one sticker which they could use on such an emergency which would give them parking privileges in the downtown area, but only while on actual duty.

These would be granted only when requested. Permission was given for a sound track to be operated in the business area from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday, November 1, on behalf of the two mill levy for park and recreation purposes. A group known as "citizens for recreation" would be sponsoring the sound truck, and high school personnel would be handling the mike.

The question of vacating a portion of Johnson Street which intersects Canby was tabled when it became known that the council did not have the consent of adjacent property owners. Councilman Walter Fleet pointed out that the property in question is too steep ever to be a street and could be a building lot. "It has been a community eyesore for years," Fleet said, "and we were trying to do something about it, but one of the abutting property owners apparently objects, so we'd better leave it as is."

Among the building permits approved by the council, was a request by Cliff and Harry Molatore to make a $45,000 addition to Molatore's Motel at 100 Main Street. Also, Cecil Fitzgerald was granted a permit in the amount of $2,200 to install a new roof on the old auditorium, now known as Klamath Auditorium.

The council granted permission to the Junior Chamber of Commerce to conduct a Christmas parade down Main Street starting at 11 a.m. Saturday, December 6. The request pointed out that prizes of $150, $75 and $25 were being awarded for the best float portraying the theme, "The Spirit of Christmas."

The question of sign hanging also confronted the council. It was pointed out that in some cases, local licensees have permitted outside sign makers to come in, use the local licensees permit, and hang signs.

LeRoy Collins, state electrical inspector, pointed out that sign hangers must have a state license, and that at present, there were only three sign hangers licensed in Klamath Falls.

A review of the ordinance pointed out that there was a penalty that could be imposed in such cases. The subject of sign hanging came up in another manner when it was emphasized that in many instances the sign is hung before the permit is secured. Reviewing the ordinance, the council reported that after this anyone doing this would find themselves cited and fined for violation of the ordinance.

In other action, the council authorized East Side Appliance Company to use angular loading and unloading at Seventh and Klamath. City Manager Vergeer was authorized to endorse a check from the state of Oregon in the amount of $425.55 in favor of the Motorola Communications and Electronics, Inc., in payment of civil defense radio equipment which will be installed at the city fire hall to permit them to be in contact with the county mutual aid system.

Panhandler Asks The Wrong Man

The city police report shows that Willie Ranson, 51, 605 Broad Street, asked the wrong fellow for 25 cents the other afternoon.

It appears that Ranson had the misfortune of approaching Officer Vaughn Whitmore who, though not in uniform, was just in front of the police station when the incident occurred. Whitmore had Ranson step inside, and arrested him for vagrancy. He was given a sentence of $25 fine or 12 1/2 days in jail, in police court Monday.

Homecoming Set By Henley High

HENLEY — Henley High School's first homecoming is planned for Friday and Saturday, October 31 and November 1. Plans for the affair have been announced by Burrell Gober, student body president, and Sandy Short, student body secretary.

Weekend activities will include a rally Friday night from 7 to 8 behind the high school. A football game with Phoenix is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Saturday, to be followed in the evening with a dance in the girls new gymnasium from 8 p.m. to midnight. A king and queen will be elected. The dance is semi-formal.

Fred H. Heilbronner for County Commissioner

I have lived in Klamath County 53 years, raised my family here and operated my own fuel business for 36 years. Klamath County has been good to me and now that I have the Time and Energy I would like to work for the people of the County as your Commissioner.

This is a big county from Gilchrist on the North to the California State Line, from Greensprings to the Lake County Line, but I have a car and will travel to make this a good County for you to live, to work and raise your families.

I will work for keeping O.T.I. in Klamath County. I will work to continue our road program to all parts of the County, to improve our recreation areas and our tourist attractions. I will work to keep your taxes at the lowest possible level and provide the necessary services. I will appreciate your vote for me for County Commissioner.
