New Chemical Compound Seen As Boon To Doctors

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Exacting tests have shown that the two chemical compounds generally used by surgeons to de-germ their own hands and the skins of their patients, are only a little more effective for that purpose than a good scrub with plain soap and water.

There is a new chemical compound, however, which is nine times more effective than plain soap and water. This was the good news announced by Drs. Arthur W. Frisch, Gordon H. Davies, and William Kippaehne, of the University of Oregon Medical Center, Portland.

"De-germing" is an increasingly critical matter, particularly in hospitals, because some sickening bacteria have become "resistant" to the anti-biotic drugs which once promised to make "de-germing" no problem at all. Now it's a major problem again.

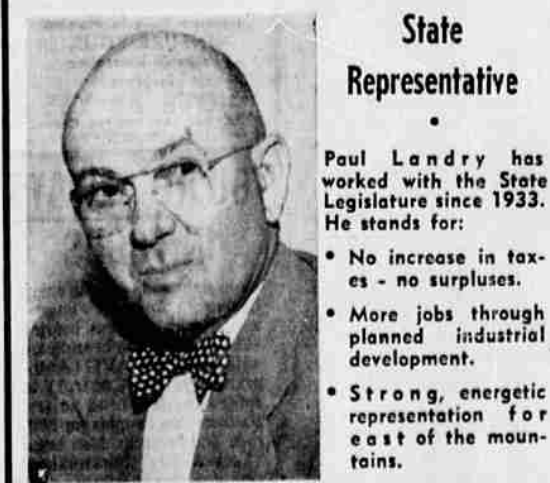

The new compound holds iodine in a stable solution. The iodine content is controlled by a detergent component which releases it "on demand." Another component is chloride. Taken as a whole, it is a tricky compound but one which enhances the notable germ-killing power of iodine.

The Oregon doctors pointed out in their technical report to the American College of Surgeons that iodine is one of the best de-germers known to man. It kills more troublesome bacteria than any other, and kills them faster. But it can't be used like soap and water. It can burn the skin and it always stains it.

In the new compound, it doesn't burn and it stained very little, they said; furthermore, it will kill such tough micro-organisms as the polio virus, the bacterium which causes tuberculosis, and influenza "A" virus. It has a complicated chemical name; the doctor called it "virac."

The surgically popular de-germing chemical compounds which their tests put in the category of plain soap and water are hexachlorophene which is the active ingredient of medicated soaps and of surgical solutions, and alkyl-

Gland Derivative Drugs Called Tricky Chemicals

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—They're tricky chemicals, those "miracle drugs" derived from the glands, which can do bad things as well as good things for sick people. For this reason medical science is waving a big warning flag at practicing physicians who prescribed them.

Those chemicals are manufactured by the glands of all people and animals as an ordinary but essential matter. The troubles and benefits for people stem from them being taken out of animals and injected into people to change the balances between their natural supplies.

Dr. Maxwell L. Gelfand of the New York University Post-Graduate Medical School, showed that changed balances can deprive the body of its defenses against infections and also "mask" infections so well, they're whoppers when they finally pop up.

The chemicals are ACTH, which

Tragedy Ends Trick Or Treat

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A Halloween outing for a young pilot and his two small daughters, dressed in "trick or treat" costumes, ended in tragedy when their light plane crashed Friday night in Tulsa's outskirts.

Killed were Gerald Jacobs Lowery, 29, Okmulgee, Okla., and his daughters, Geri Kathleen, 7, and Colleen Kyle, 6, who were returning home after attending a Halloween party here.

Highway patrolmen said the bodies were in the wreckage of the plane, fastened by seat belts. Bags of candy collected by the children on a "trick or treat" forage were found in the demolished four-seater plane.

The plane had just taken off in a light mist from the Harvey Young Airport outside the city limits after Lowery and his children attended a Halloween party at the Young home.

Young said that seconds after the plane took off from the private airport, he saw its lights flicker out, then the crash. Young said the plane's power apparently failed.

Officers said the plane struck a power line shortly after takeoff.

Inflation Touches Britain As Haircuts Hike 7-Cents

LONDON (AP)—Barbers Harry Norman and Jack Peaman have made a move which caused them severe fear and trembling. They raised the price of a haircut to 35 cents, from 28.

"It may run us out of business," said Harry, "but we couldn't go on the way we were."

Norman and Peaman have a typical small British barber shop in northwest London, the persistent postwar rise in the cost of living has caught them short. It's a lucky week when they net as much as $25 apiece.

The reasons the two barbers give for their price increase run about the same as those of their American counterparts when they jacked up prices to $1.50 or more.

"Everything else is up — rent, gas, the electric, hair oil, soap," said Harry. "It was either put up our price or take down our pole. All we know is hair cutting, so we put up the price."

"Even if it costs us customers, we may do a little better because the tips are bigger," said Jack. "We used to get mostly sixpence tips. Now we get quite a few shillings." Sixpence is 7 cents, a shilling 14.

"We've lost some customers, all right," Harry said bitterly.

Department Of Agriculture Predicts New Crop Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bumper harvest for the nation was predicted Friday by the Department of Agriculture which said this year's crop production will top the previous record high by nearly 11 per cent.

The previous record was set in 1948 and equaled in 1956 and 1957 when production reached 106 per cent of the 1947-49 average. Oct. 1 conditions indicate the total volume of all crops this year would be 117 per cent of the average the department said.

In revising estimates made last month, the department said generally favorable weather and harvesting conditions indicate certain crop increases.

The winter wheat estimate of 1,170,768,000 bushels indicated last month was not changed but the department put spring wheat at 278,730,000 bushels compared with 275,696,000 forecast last month, 239,901,000 produced last year and 266,611,000 for the ten-year average.

The indicated production of other crops for which new estimates were made compared with the previous month's forecast, last year's production and the ten-year average, respectively, included:

Hay 120,374,000 tons; 118,471,000; 121,402,000 and 105,094,000.

Cranberries 1,108,000 barrels; 1,076,000; 1,650,000 and 953,000.

The indicated yield per acre and production, respectively, of important crops by major producing states included:
