

Quips and Quotes

Photo Sensitivity

The day the snapshot prints are done,
My mood becomes quite mellow.
They turned out well—in all but one
I'm quite a handsome fellow.

But which one do my friends declare
Is "perfect"? That, of course, is
The one in which my face, I swear,
Looks something like a horse's!

—Hal Chadwick

A small child who had learned to say her prayers at bedside went to church with her mother for the first time. When the people knelt down, the child asked what they were doing.

"They are going to pray," answered her mother.

"You mean with all their clothes on?" said the surprised child.

—Nuggets

The state trooper was rolling along on his motorcycle when a car zoomed by at a dizzying speed. He went into hot pursuit and when he finally curbed the car, he found the driver to be an elderly lady.

"Let me see your driver's license," said the officer respectfully.
"You people are impossible," replied the indignant woman. "How can you expect me to show my driver's license when you keep taking it away from me!"

One man who is always happy to help with the dishes is the manufacturer of paper plates.—Ken Kraft

FOOTBALL GLOSSARY

Football: Game played between two 11-man teams of 50 players each.

Quarterback: Player who relays the coach's instructions to the rest of his teammates.

Ineligible: Said of a player who can run and kick, but couldn't pass.

End Zone: Part of the field near the goal posts where your seats are located.

All-American: Any of the 373 players annually chosen by one or another expert as being among the nation's top 11 players.

Backer-up: Wealthy alumnus willing to pay a star's expenses through college.

Man-in-Motion: Spectator in front of you who jumps to his feet on every other play.

Over-emphasis: The deplorable practice, engaged in by some professors, of putting more stress on studies than sport.

Goal Post: An H-shaped formation of lumber where effigies of losing coaches are often hanged.

Mousetrap: Parking lot you attempt to get out of after the game.

—Parke Cummings

"Knowing how Father feels about you, Ben, couldn't you have worn something else?"

Careless woman: one who loses her gloves.
Careful woman: one who loses only one of them.

CURAD—the bandage that won't pull the scab off

New CURAD® with non-sticking Telfa® pad won't hurt when you take it off...won't reopen healing wounds

Not this!

Bandage with ordinary gauze pad sometimes pulls off scab, reopens wound, causes bleeding.

Now this!

CURAD Bandage with Telfa pad, free of scab, peels off without sticking to wound, doesn't hurt.

Here's why: The pad in the Curad adhesive bandage is the exclusive new Telfa.

Telfa is "the mercy dressing" that the nation's leading hospitals are using to prevent damage to healing skin tissue... speed wound recovery.

It has a plastic surface with scores of tiny holes in it that does the trick—allows wound to drain, but doesn't stick to the scab. So when you take it off, it won't reopen the cut.

Don't take a chance on hurting your children. Get a new Curad (the waterproof plastic bandage with germ-fighting medication right in the pad, too).

Bauer & Black
DIVISION OF THE KENDALL COMPANY

