coaching staff, Ralph Carr, backfield coach; Rex Hunsaker, head coach and George Miller, line coach. The Owls defeated Oregon College of Education 66-7 Saturday at Monmouth to win the school's first clear-cut football championship. Between 200 and 300 fans turned out on a rainy Sunday afternoon to greet the new OCC champs on their arrival home.

Fans Turn Out To Greet Champs

Oregon Tech's 1958 Oregon Collegiate Conference football champions returned home Sunday afternoon from Monmouth with a 66-7 victory over Oregon College of Education, and there to greet the Owls were between 200 and 300 fans.

A fine turnout of students, Owl Hoots and other interested fans were on hand at 2:45 Sunday afternoon despite a stormy day to greet coach Rex Hunsaker and his squad. It was a great tribute for a fine ball club that won for the school its first outright football championship.

Winston D. Purvine, director of Oregon Tech, was the first to greet the squad and coaching staff as they unloaded from the bus and presented the Owls to the fans. Hunsaker and assistant coaches George Miller and Ralph Carr were introduced and gave short talks praising the ball players and thanking the fans for turning out in support of the Owls.

Hunsaker introduced the squad members with all of the boys getting a fine round of applause for a "job well done." Several Owl standouts received added praise from the fans on hand including Otis Foster, who ran for five touchdowns in beating OCE, quarterback Charlie Garter, guard Allen Jones and fullback Earl Green.

The fans were told by Hunsaker, "This is a real fine ball club. They had a job to do, and believe me they did it. It's a lot of fun to work with guys like this (Miller and Carr) and those boys. And all of us appreciate you (fans) for coming out this afternoon to welcome us home. It's real fine and we thank you."

Also in on the "Welcome Home Champs" program was Klamath Falls Mayor Lawrence Slater. The mayor issued special congratulations to the ball club and coaching staff on behalf of the people of Klamath Falls. "We are all proud of the job you have done," Slater remarked, "and I am real happy to be on hand to take part in welcoming you back to the campus after your great victory."

Before the Owls left for Monmouth, the OTI campus was littered with signs urging the club to "Beat OCE." When the players had arrived Sunday afternoon these signs were down and new ones posted saying, "Welcome Champs." And champions they are to Oregon Technical Institute and the supporters in downtown Klamath Falls.

The Owls went to work this afternoon in a short and light practice prepping for their next football venture. Although the Oregon Collegiate Conference season is over for Tech, the Owls still have at least two big football games on their hands before calling it quits for the 1958 season.

Saturday night at Modoc Field, the Owls host Moffett Air Base, another service team loaded with top-flight football talent. This will be the last home game of the year for Tech and a record-breaking crowd is expected to be on hand to usher out the conference champions' home season.

The final game of the regular Tech schedule is billed for Whittier, California, November 15, when the Owls face highly rated Whittier College. Whittier is ranked by the Williamson rating system just one notch behind Harvard.

Dinner time is 6:30. President Dick Gallagher, who led a large group of Owl Hoots in welcoming the Oregon Collegiate Conference champion OTI football team back Sunday, urged all Tech followers to turn out this evening. "We hope that all old and new Owl Hoot members will join us this evening," Gallagher said Monday morning, "and help us honor the champs."

A few Oregon Tech football players will be on hand to review the season and the big victory over Oregon College last Saturday at Monmouth. The coaching staff headed by Rex Hunsaker will join with the players in completing the evening's dinner program.

Any person interested in Oregon Tech or sports in general is welcome to attend. Gallagher said Monday that the group membership is open to anyone and is not limited.

Brown Puts Unbeaten Line Up Wednesday

NEW YORK (UPI)—The lightweight champion and his top contender will fight this week, but not against each other.

Champion Joe Brown will risk his unbeaten string of 20 bouts against young Johnny Bussio Wednesday night in a no-title 10-rounder that opens the brand new Exhibition Hall at Miami Beach. It will be televised nationally by ABC.

Kenny Lane, No. 1 contender, meets Lahouari Godhi of Algeria in a TV-radio 10-rounder at Memorial Auditorium, Syracuse, N.Y., Friday night.

Blondish, southpaw Lane of Muskegon, Mich., will be fighting for the first time since last July 23, when he lost a thrilling title battle to champion Brown at Houston, Tex.

CHAMP FAVORED
Brown of New Orleans hasn't fought since then either. However the champion is favored at 12-5 over dark-haired Bussio of New York. The odds would be longer were it not for Bussio's two grand fights this year with third-ranked Carlos Ortiz. Bussio won a disputed decision and lost a questionable verdict. Ortiz is ranked third, Bussio sixth.

Lane is favored at 2-1 over unranked Godhi although the classy Algerian lightweight gave top welterweight contender Don Jordan a terrific fight before losing a disputed decision to Don at Madison Square Garden, Aug. 29.

Champion Brown, 32, won 71 of his 97 bouts, 32 by knockouts. He had 15 defeats, nine draws and two no-contest affairs. He was stopped once.

Records for the Lane-Godhi fight are: Lane—59 bouts, won 53, lost 6, knocked out 10, stopped twice; Godhi—55 bouts, won 47, lost 6, drew 2, knocked out 12, stopped once.

OTHER FIGHTS
The week's boxing schedule also includes:

Monday: New York (St. Nick's)—Jose Torres vs. Burke Emery, New Orleans—George Benton vs. Charles Joseph, Halifax, N.S.—Tommy Tibbs vs. Richie Kid Howard, Las Vegas, Nev.—Eddie Andrews vs. Artie Dixon, Providence, R.I.—Jimmy Connors vs. Ramon Sato.

Thursday: Richmond, Calif.—Luke Easter vs. Johnny Willis, Wichita, Kans.—Danny Hodge vs. Ted Pool, Los Angeles—Mauro Vasquez vs. Armand Savoie, Saturday: Hollywood, Calif.—Roque Fernandez vs. Boots Monroe.

Sunday: Dortmund, Germany—Erich Schoepner vs. Chuck Spier.

Slav Solomon, who some observers have rated as good as any Pacific Coast Conference back, then took a CPS kick and raced 77 yards for a score.

After CPS failed on a short series, Solomon again took a kick. And this time he put Willamette ahead to stay as he raced 67 yards into the end zone.

There was only one league game Saturday, and in it, sophomore Royce McDaniel deftly passed Lewis and Clark to a 40-27 triumph over Whitman.

In non-conference games, Linfield beat Portland State 34-7 and Pacific was drubbed 48-0 by Cal Poly.

Next Saturday's schedule also calls for College of Idaho at Whitman and Pacific at Linfield.

Only two games stand between Willamette and a perfect football season.

The Bearcats, ranked No. 2 by the NAIA among the nation's small colleges, Saturday will meet Lewis and Clark in Portland for their final Northwest Conference game of the year.

And on Nov. 15, Willamette will play Arizona State of Flagstaff at Yuma. With a 7-0 record thus far, Willamette is one of but 21 undefeated teams in the nation.

But even a powerhouse can be scared once in a while, and the Bearcats were rattled a little Saturday early in their game with College of Puget Sound.

CPS took the opening kickoff at Salem and promptly marched 60 yards for a touchdown and a 7-0 lead. A homecoming crowd of 3,000 was stunned, but not for long.

OSC Center In Right Spot
CORVALLIS (AP)—How did it feel, center Doug Bashor was asked Sunday night, when he found himself in the right place when California quarterback Joe Kapp made a crucial pitchout.

"It was unexpected," said the Portland sophomore, who stole the pitchout and raced 33 yards for Oregon State's first touchdown. OSC eventually won Saturday 14-8.

But then Bashor smiled and said, well, it wasn't so unexpected after all.

Bashor said Oregon State's defense was hinged on either stopping the pitchouts, or the man who caught them. Bashor was covering the man for whom the ball was intended when "I found myself in the right place, at the right time."

"California was a real fine ball club, but we're looking ahead, however."

"It probably will take an even greater effort this Saturday than last. Washington State will be real tough in Pullman," Bashor said.

But Bashor added: "We're a determined ball club now."

Southpaws Looked As 'Jinx' By Fighters

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Back in the days when Joe Louis was enlisting various pugilists in his "bum of the month club" the dark destroyer was offered a bout with a gladiator named Mello Bettina.

Mello, recognized in New York state as the light heavyweight champion of the world, was a southpaw. This, in ordinary language means, he was left-handed.

And Louis had never engaged in hostilities with someone who took a menacing stance from this side of the torso.

"I will go down to the gym and work out with a southpaw," Louis said. "Then I will let you know."

Joe wasn't gone long. And his reply was emphatic.

"I," he asserted firmly, "don't want absolutely nothing whatsoever to do with no southpaws. Bettina is out."

The Brown Bomber's reaction is typical of those in the boxing trade. Managers shy away from left-handers and so do opponents.

"If he's your boy," explained one pilot, "nobody wants to fight him. If he's an opponent, he'll be tough to fight and usually he'll make your boy look bad even if you win."

"The trouble with most of them," he added, "is that they think left-handed, too."

This seems like a bad rap to hang on a fellow simply because he downs his vegetables with his left hand or jabs with his right. You might think, to listen to the boxing folks, that southpaws were all left-handed shortstops.

But one lad who has survived this attitude remarkably is Kenny Lane, the Muskegon, Mich., lightweight who tackles Lahouari Godhi, the alphabet soup Algerian from Paris, in Friday night's televised fight from Syracuse.

Lane has been very busy with a total of 59 fights, and very successful with 53 victories over that stretch.

But the "I told you so" guys of boxing will point out that Lane never has won the lightweight title.

ONLY NINE LEFTIES
In rebuttal, you can say "almost." He boxed lightweight champion Joe Brown last July and it was so close that Brown hasn't been up on a soap box demanding that Lane fight him again.

True there have been only nine left-handed champions in the whole history of boxing. These were Bettina, middleweights Lou Brouillard, Tiger Flowers, Al McCoy and Johnny Wilson; welterweight Young Corbett III; bantamweight Jimmy Carruthers; featherweight Freddie Miller and flyweight Jackie Paterson.

But the truth is that most managers, when they see a likely prospect who is left-handed, put him in the gym and convert him into a right-handed. Most of the good left hookers you see are natural left-handers.

Dave Charnley, the British Empire lightweight champion, is a southpaw and, along with Lane, may help to give the left-handers a new standing. It is to be doubted, however, because the prejudice is too ancient. But one thing is sure, Lane is a southpaw who will give you a good fight.

The football season isn't over for Oregon Tech—but the Owls today are the undisputed champions of the Oregon Collegiate Conference.

Oregon ech finished conference play Saturday with a 66-7 triumph over Oregon College of Education. Prior to the game, both had 3-0 records.

OTI will go into action again Saturday, against Moffett Air Force Base at Klamath Falls. But the Owls will have to go some to surpass their offensive display against OCE.

The Owls wheeled into the end zone for 10 touchdowns. Their big, fast line cleared the way repeatedly. The best backfield punch for OTI was provided by Otis Foster, who scored five touchdowns.

Oregon College of Education also steps out of league play Saturday—to go against University of British Columbia at Vancouver. The OCE-OTI clash was the only league game Saturday. Two other teams stepped out for non-conference clashes—and both got beaten.

Next Saturday, Eastern Oregon will meet Southern Oregon at Ashland, while Portland State travels to Spokane for a game with Whitworth.
