

The Herald and News

Price Five Cents—16 Pages

KLAMATH FALLS, OREGON, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1958

Telephone TU 4-8111 No. 6226

In The Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS
Election Day has come and gone. Most of the morals have been drawn from what happened then. So—
What shall we talk about today?

Let's turn to England.
Day before yesterday was Guy Fawkes Day in the tight little Isle. Here are some of the things that went on:

In London's Trafalgar Square, more than 50 youths and girls were arrested in a violent fire-cracker riot that took more than 100 hobbies two hours to quell. . . . In suburban Hampstead police fought 2,000 people who were setting off fireworks and chanting rock 'n' roll. . . . A mob of 2,000 youths rampaged through a street in the south coast resort of Worthing, smashing shop windows with bricks and milk bottles, attacking police and overturning cars. . . . Boys, many of them with "Teddy boy" duck-tail haircuts, dragged barricades across streets to stop cars and buses. . . . Thousands thronged the streets in the university towns of Oxford and Cambridge. More cars were overturned, more people hurt.

And so on, to the extent of about a half a column of newspaper type.

You'll probably ask:
What is this Guy Fawkes Day?
It is the anniversary of what is known in English history as the Gunpowder Plot. The Gunpowder Plot was a plan to blow up both houses of the English parliament on a day when King James I was to be present. A group headed by Robert Catesby and Guy Fawkes originated the plan, which arose out of resentment against the hostile attitude of the English government toward the Catholic church. One of the conspirators weakened and told a friend, who warned authorities. This led to the arrest and execution of most of the members of the group, including Guy Fawkes. All this happened back in 1605, three and a half centuries ago.

Since then, an annual festival has been held in England on November 5, the day when the plot to blow up the whole government was to have been carried out. Traditionally, it has been the custom to burn Guy Fawkes in effigy. Over the centuries, English schoolboys have built large fires, have shot off firecrackers and they ate.

In memory of the Gunpowder Plot, a formal search of the vaults beneath the houses of parliament is still made before each new session begins.

The moral of all this tale is that we are worried about some of the things that some of our youngsters are doing in these modern days — such as driving cars across beautiful front lawns down in Marin county the other day. These Guy Fawkes Day incidents in supposedly staid England are startlingly similar. They seem to indicate that what is happening here is happening to a greater or less extent elsewhere.

England has been long noted for its reverence for law and order — which seems to indicate that this thing that is happening can't be handled merely by passing a law.

What is happening?
Frankly, I don't know.
What do you think?
Why not write us a letter about it? Things like these need discussion — serious, thoughtful discussion. That is what the letters column in our newspapers is for.

ROYAL EXCUSE
LONDON (UPI) — General Sir Richard McCreery was fined $8.40 for speeding Thursday despite his excuse that "I was only trying to avoid keeping the Duke of Edinburgh waiting for his polo."

TRADE-IN
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A Hollywood auto dealer is offering a free book. The title: "How to Cheat an Automobile Dealer."

COAST GUARD
PORT BURWELL, Ontario (UPI) — The United States Coast Guard said early today it recovered the splintered wreckage of a small wooden shack that had quartered five men who vanished with their offshore gas drilling rig on windswept Lake Erie Wednesday night.

DISCLOSURE MADE
HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — The rebel capture of a Cuban airliner and its 28 occupants may have been aided by arms-carrying women. This possibility was raised today with the disclosure by a qualified informant that the 15 men passengers, but not the 10 women, were searched for arms before the Cubana Airline DC3 took off from Havana Wednesday for interior points in Oriente province.

COAST GUARD
A Coast Guard spokesman said a utility crash boat recovered the wreckage Thursday night, but found no sign of the missing men. The wreckage was sighted earlier by a U. S. Coast Guard plane about 17 miles east of the drilling rig's location, which was about 14 miles offshore in the Port Burwell area.

DISCLOSURE MADE
HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — The rebel capture of a Cuban airliner and its 28 occupants may have been aided by arms-carrying women. This possibility was raised today with the disclosure by a qualified informant that the 15 men passengers, but not the 10 women, were searched for arms before the Cubana Airline DC3 took off from Havana Wednesday for interior points in Oriente province.

DISCLOSURE MADE
HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — The rebel capture of a Cuban airliner and its 28 occupants may have been aided by arms-carrying women. This possibility was raised today with the disclosure by a qualified informant that the 15 men passengers, but not the 10 women, were searched for arms before the Cubana Airline DC3 took off from Havana Wednesday for interior points in Oriente province.

Airmen, Experts Saved In Drama-Paced Rescue

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Drifting Station A's 20 marooned men were snatched to safety Thursday night in a dramatic arctic rescue carried out by the light of flares.

All 20 of the rescued scientists and airmen were reported to be in excellent condition despite five days of isolation.

They were stranded Sunday on the Arctic Ocean 300 miles from the North Pole when an unseasonal polar storm ripped their mile-square ice floe apart. The scientific station they were maintaining was an International Geophysical Year project.

A C13 from Thule, Greenland, guided only by flares set out by the men themselves, landed and hauled them aboard. There is no daylight during the arctic winter.

The 11 Air Force men and nine civilians will be flown to Thule and then to Ladd Air Force Base, Fairbanks, Alaska, the base of operations for most of the civilians and the home base for the Air Force personnel.

The Air Force first reported 21 men on the floe but later changed it to 20 when it was discovered that one airman, believed to be aboard the station, still was alive.

The 10-foot-thick ice floe, first manned as an IGY scientific station in the spring of 1957, was ripped into two 1,000-foot-square pieces by the storm.

The men were marooned on the campsite half. The runway used to supply the station was on the other half.

The marooned men were informed of the rescue plane's approach by radio. They made a dash by small boats across a mile and a half of open water to the runway half of the station.

The scientific station, under command of Air Force Capt. James F. Smith, Oklahoma City, was engaged in a wide variety of IGY studies.

The chief scientist was George Cvijanovich of Columbia University, New York. Another one of the civilians was Father Thomas Cunningham of Barrow, Alaska, an expert on polar ice conditions.

The Air Force said there probably would be no attempt to get personnel back on the island this winter, because of the danger of carrying out such an operation in total darkness.

The Air Force said the abandoned floe or another like it would probably be manned next April.

Police said they found $1,143 in small bills stuffed in Molenkamp's pockets.

"I planned to go somewhere in Arizona," he told detectives. "When I got there, I was going to send the money to my wife Beverly and then I was going to shoot myself."

Molenkamp, who said he would waive extradition, told police a finance company had threatened to repossess his wife's engagement and wedding rings. That, he said, prompted him to hold up the gas station where he took $1,200 from the cash register and $200 from the attendant, Ed Vanderwerf.

Police said they found $1,143 in small bills stuffed in Molenkamp's pockets.

"I planned to go somewhere in Arizona," he told detectives. "When I got there, I was going to send the money to my wife Beverly and then I was going to shoot myself."

Molenkamp, who said he would waive extradition, told police a finance company had threatened to repossess his wife's engagement and wedding rings. That, he said, prompted him to hold up the gas station where he took $1,200 from the cash register and $200 from the attendant, Ed Vanderwerf.

Police said they found $1,143 in small bills stuffed in Molenkamp's pockets.

"I planned to go somewhere in Arizona," he told detectives. "When I got there, I was going to send the money to my wife Beverly and then I was going to shoot myself."

Molenkamp, who said he would waive extradition, told police a finance company had threatened to repossess his wife's engagement and wedding rings. That, he said, prompted him to hold up the gas station where he took $1,200 from the cash register and $200 from the attendant, Ed Vanderwerf.

Police said they found $1,143 in small bills stuffed in Molenkamp's pockets.

"I planned to go somewhere in Arizona," he told detectives. "When I got there, I was going to send the money to my wife Beverly and then I was going to shoot myself."

Molenkamp, who said he would waive extradition, told police a finance company had threatened to repossess his wife's engagement and wedding rings. That, he said, prompted him to hold up the gas station where he took $1,200 from the cash register and $200 from the attendant, Ed Vanderwerf.

Weather

FORECAST—Klamath Falls and vicinity: Increasing cloudiness followed by a few showers late tonight. Partly cloudy Saturday. Low tonight 40-45; high Saturday 50-55.

High yesterday 58
Low last night 43
Precip. last 24 hours — trace
Since Oct. 1 0.34
Same period last year 1.92
Normal for period 1.43

Northern California — Mostly fair Saturday except some light rain in the north and fog or low cloudiness on coast. Little change in temperature. Variable coastal winds 8-15 miles an hour.

TV Producer Is Arrested

NEW YORK (AP) — Albert Freedman, 36, producer of the defunct television show "Twenty-One" was arrested today on a two-count indictment charging that he lied in denying that he supplied questions and answers to contestants on the show.

Freedman, of New Rochelle, N.Y., became the first to be indicted in the probe of television shows after rigging charges were brought against them.

He is employed by Production Services, Inc., the corporate name of the firm owned by Jack Barry, a master of ceremonies; and producer Dan Enright, owners of "Twenty-One."

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said Freedman had been named in two first degree perjury indictments returned by a New York County grand jury.

Freedman had been employed as producer of the show from November 1956 until it closed last month.

Hogan said Freedman's job was to interview prospective contestants and to assist in the selection of program questions.

The indictment charges that Freedman "knowingly lied" when he denied having revealed questions and answers to contestants on the show. The indictment further said "he had, in fact, revealed questions and answers" to contestants "prior to their appearance on 'Twenty-One.'"

Each count in the indictment is punishable by a maximum five-year prison term or a $5,000 fine, or both.

Drive Waged By De Gaulle

PARIS (AP) — Premier de Gaulle's government is waging a quiet but determined campaign to get reluctant Moslems in Algeria to offer themselves as candidates for the new French Parliament.

With the deadline for filing Sunday midnight, only a few Algerians have formally declared their candidacies.

The territory's moderate Moslems fear reprisals from the nationalist rebels.

In the elections Nov. 28-30, Algeria is to name 70 representatives to Parliament. De Gaulle has decreed that at least two-thirds of these, or 46, must be Moslems.

Disclosure Made In Plane Capture

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — The rebel capture of a Cuban airliner and its 28 occupants may have been aided by arms-carrying women.

This possibility was raised today with the disclosure by a qualified informant that the 15 men passengers, but not the 10 women, were searched for arms before the Cubana Airline DC3 took off from Havana Wednesday for interior points in Oriente province.

Radio messages from the plane Thursday reported that it had landed at a rebel air strip in Oriente and that all aboard were safe.

Cubana announced Thursday night that it is stopping flights over rebel territory in the eastern province of Oriente, the center of activity by Fidel Castro's insurgents.

hold weekly meetings of his department heads, thus creating an unofficial cabinet for policy discussions.

Hatfield and his wife were to leave for Los Angeles today for a rest until next Thursday. Travis Cross, his assistant who will be governor's press secretary, left for the beach until next Wednesday.

This leaves Warner Nunn, Hatfield's assistant secretary of state, to run the office for the next few days.

The office has been a madhouse since the election. Hatfield has received 1,000 letters, 450 telegrams, and hundreds of phone calls since Wednesday.

President Eisenhower sent the following telegram:
"Congratulations. I am pleased indeed with your election. The state of Oregon will benefit much from the able leadership you can offer, and the cause of good government throughout the nation will be advanced as a result. With best wishes."

Queer Noise In Missile Halts Shot

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A strange knocking noise inside the missile early today caused postponement of the latest Air Force attempt to shoot a satellite around the moon.

Two other moon rocket attempts glowed in the rays of floodlights for more than two hours in a driving rainstorm before the launch was called off at 12:34 a.m.

The Air Force has two more chances to shoot for the moon this month — in the early morning hours of Saturday and Sunday and then only within a critical time period of 18 to 20 minutes.

The time on a moon launching is critical because the earth and moon are in the opportune position for just brief periods each day.

If the missilemen fail to fire within the specified time, they will have to wait until early in December.

The launching was less than an hour away from zero when the noise was heard. The trouble apparently could not be pinpointed soon enough to get the rocket off during the critical time limit.

The Air Force announced the postponement was due to technical difficulties.

Two other moon rocket attempts have failed.

Diva Lauded After Firing

DALLAS (AP) — A triumphant Maria Callas was given a six-minute standing ovation Thursday night for her performance in the opera "Medea" just hours after she was fired from the New York Metropolitan Opera by Rudolf Bing.

She expressed pain and amazement at the action taken by the Met's general manager.

Bing, Thursday, canceled the singer's $18,000 contract for the 1958-59 season, citing her refusal to fulfill terms of the pact.

He accused the 35-year-old star of trying to force through a last-minute change of the repertoire agreed upon for the current Met season.

Miss Callas said she objected to singing two "Traviatas" or two "Lucias," both light roles, between performances of "Macbeth," a heavy party. She termed the alternation of roles "really dangerous technically."

Bing said ample rest had been provided between the roles. He wired Miss Callas last Wednesday, asking her to abide by the existing agreement. The telegram said her contract would be considered canceled if she did not reply by 10 a.m. Thursday.

Miss Callas did not reply. In Dallas she said she was too busy with dress rehearsals for Thursday night's "Medea" to answer what she called Bing's "ultimatum."

"I am shocked, sorry about the action taken by Mr. Bing," she said at a party after her performance before 3,500 persons at the Dallas Music Hall.

She said Bing was "disappointing a lot of New Yorkers who were hoping to hear me." She said, "We are born to give art and they (the people) only love me for that."

Her performance in "Medea" was hailed by local music critics as an outstanding success.

Italy Complains Of Briton Insult

LONDON (AP) — Italy complained officially today it had been insulted by Field Marshal Lord Montgomery's war memoirs, and the British Foreign Office hastened to express regrets.

A Foreign Office statement emphasized, however, that the British government could not be held responsible for opinions expressed by an army officer in his personal capacity.

Montgomery wrote that Italian soldiers were "unreliable when it came to hard fighting." Then he described Italy's change of sides in World War II as "the biggest double-cross in history."

OWLS LAST HOME GAME

OREGON TECH vs. MOFFETT AIR BASE
Saturday, 8 P.M. — Modoc Field

OREGON TECH		MOFFETT AIR BASE
No.	Name	Pos.	Name
76	Ardell Hamilton	LT	John Mullen
79	Arnold Metcalf	LT	James Jones
70	Allen Jones	LT	Ernest Carr
55	Bill Barrington	C	Bob Baird
66	Andy Cook	RG	Dick Lowry
78	Dick Hill	RT	Paul Daugherty
56	Dale McCulloch	RE	C. B. Taylor
22	Charlie Ganter	QB	Dick Olivas
44	Al Everson	HB	Harvey Campbell
10	Otis Foster	HB	Calvin Young
31	Earl Green	FB	Ed White

Youth Sought In Slay Case

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Police today sought a teen-age youth in connection with the slaying of an 84-year-old woman, the second woman to be stabbed to death here this week.

The body of Mrs. Zephyr Gubser was found Thursday in the bedroom of her home by her son, Sheriff's Lt. Ray Gubser. Her throat had been slashed by a pair of tin snippers found nearby and her dress had been torn down to her waist.

Norman Mart, 40, a local beauty shop operator and friend of confessed killer Jack Rainsberger, was picked up shortly after the woman's body was found but police said he probably would be released.

A youth was seen at Mrs. Gubser's home Wednesday night shortly before the slaying was believed to have taken place. Her purse in a dresser drawer was empty and police believed robbery may have been the motive.

She had not been raped, police said.

Rainsberger, Los Angeles area handyman, who was jailed Tuesday and therefore was eliminated as a suspect in Mrs. Gubser's slaying, told police he had cut the throat of Mrs. Erlene Folker, 23, divorcee-mother of a son as part of a "human sacrifice."

He also told police he had raped the young secretary after he had chosen her at random and forced her to drive him out into the desert.

But an autopsy showed Mrs. Folker had not been raped. Sheriff Capt. William O'Reilly said Rainsberger's story of a "human sacrifice and rape" might have been made up as a prelude to his pleading insanity and escaping the death penalty.

O'Reilly said Rainsberger had served a prison term for robbing two women at knife point and that he may have originally intended only to rob Mrs. Folker.

Earthquake Hits Japan

TOKYO (AP) — A major earthquake spawned deep in the Pacific rolled over northern Japan in a thunderous wave today. It smashed windows and broke power lines.

No casualties or serious damage were reported, however.

A tidal wave alert was flashed immediately across the main northern island of Hokkaido and northern Honshu but was canceled later.

Unusual wave action was reported from Wake Island, east of Japan. A weak tidal wave hit Hawaii. The Hawaiian Islands of Oahu and Kauai reported rises of about a foot along their shores. There were no immediate reports of injuries or damage.

The quake rumbled and jerked across Hokkaido for two terrifying minutes, beginning at 7:58 a.m. Lesser shocks surged as far south as Yokohama, a distance of some 600 miles.

The fact that the quake was born an estimated 60 miles below the ocean floor east of Hokkaido was believed to have saved Japan from extensive loss.

Police Halt Torrid Party

ROME (UPI) — Roman society went underground today to recuperate from the embarrassment of a police raid on a blue blood and film star private party that featured a torrid cha cha dance by Swedish actress Anita Ekberg and a strip tease by a Turkish belly dancer.

Police stopped the party in a Roman restaurant Wednesday while Turkish dancer Klash Nahah was gyrating in her black lace panties before an audience of 200 prominent Romans and foreigners whose names would make a who's who of the nobility and film world.

Italian artist Novella Parigini, one of the guests, said the party was given by a "very rich American" and a member of one of America's leading families for Countess Oghina di Robilant who was celebrating her 25th birthday.

Miss Parigini, who returned to nudes and famous here for her studies of the female form — including self-portraits done before a mirror. She was one of the few guests who appeared willing to talk.

"It all started with Anita Ekberg," Miss Parigini said. "She did a solo cha cha dance which got everyone excited."

"Then Klash went into her dance. She began to take off her clothes and probably would have had them all off if the police had

Test Ban Continues But Reds Fire 2 Shots Since Suspension Called

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States announced today that Russia has fired two nuclear weapons tests since this country halted testing. President Eisenhower said, however, that the American suspension will continue for the time being.

In a statement, Eisenhower appealed to the Soviet government to join in a temporary ban on experimental nuclear explosions.

"If there is not shortly a corresponding renunciation by the Soviet Union (of testing), the United States will be obliged to reconsider its position."

Announcement of the new nuclear explosions in the Soviet Union was made by the Atomic Energy Commission.

There was an implication in the AEC statement that the Soviets might have thought the two tests would not be detected, although this was merely a speculation.

The AEC statement said: "The Atomic Energy Commission today announced detection of two nuclear weapons tests which occurred in the U. S. S. R. on Nov. 1 and Nov. 3, respectively.

"Both explosions were of relatively low yield. They were conducted at a test site in the southern part of the U. S. S. R. rather than at the Novaya Zemlya test site north of the Arctic Circle where most of the tests in recent weeks have been held."

Eisenhower in his statement said that "this continued testing by the Soviet Union has occurred despite the fact that negotiations for the suspension of testing of nuclear weapons have since Oct. 31 been under way at Geneva."

The United States, he recalled, announced Aug. 22 that concurrently with the opening of the Geneva negotiations it would suspend the testing for one year "unless testing is resumed by the Soviet Union."

Russia suspended tests March 31 and had not yet resumed them in August. Soviet scientists started a new series at the end of September, Moscow arguing that this was necessary because the United States and Britain had not acceded.

Russia suspended tests March 31 and had not yet resumed them in August. Soviet scientists started a new series at the end of September, Moscow arguing that this was necessary because the United States and Britain had not acceded.

Russia suspended tests March 31 and had not yet resumed them in August. Soviet scientists started a new series at the end of September, Moscow arguing that this was necessary because the United States and Britain had not acceded.

Russia suspended tests March 31 and had not yet resumed them in August. Soviet scientists started a new series at the end of September, Moscow arguing that this was necessary because the United States and Britain had not acceded.

Russia suspended tests March 31 and had not yet resumed them in August. Soviet scientists started a new series at the end of September, Moscow arguing that this was necessary because the United States and Britain had not acceded.

Russia suspended tests March 31 and had not yet resumed them in August. Soviet scientists started a new series at the end of September, Moscow arguing that this was necessary because the United States and Britain had not acceded.

Russia suspended tests March 31 and had not yet resumed them in August. Soviet scientists started a new series at the end of September, Moscow arguing that this was necessary because the United States and Britain had not acceded.

Russia suspended tests March 31 and had not yet resumed them in August. Soviet scientists started a new series at the end of September, Moscow arguing that this was necessary because the United States and Britain had not acceded.

Russia suspended tests March 31 and had not yet resumed them in August. Soviet scientists started a new series at the end of September, Moscow arguing that this was necessary because the United States and Britain had not acceded.

Russia suspended tests March 31 and had not yet resumed them in August. Soviet scientists started a new series at the end of September, Moscow arguing that this was necessary because the United States and Britain had not acceded.

Russia suspended tests March 31 and had not yet resumed them in August. Soviet scientists started a new series at the end of September, Moscow arguing that this was necessary because the United States and Britain had not acceded.

Russia suspended tests March 31 and had not yet resumed them in August. Soviet scientists started a new series at the end of September, Moscow arguing that this was necessary because the United States and Britain had not acceded.

Russia suspended tests March 31 and had not yet resumed them in August. Soviet scientists started a new series at the end of September, Moscow arguing that this was necessary because the United States and Britain had not acceded.

Russia suspended tests March 31 and had not yet resumed them in August. Soviet scientists started a new series at the end of September, Moscow arguing that this was necessary because the United States and Britain had not acceded.

Russia suspended tests March 31 and had not yet resumed them in August. Soviet scientists started a new series at the end of September, Moscow arguing that this was necessary because the United States and Britain had not acceded.

Russia suspended tests March 31 and had not yet resumed them in August. Soviet scientists started a new series at the end of September, Moscow arguing that this was necessary because the United States and Britain had not acceded.

Russia suspended tests March 31 and had not yet resumed them in August. Soviet scientists started a new series at the end of September, Moscow arguing that this was necessary because the United States and Britain had not acceded.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States announced today that Russia has fired two nuclear weapons tests since this country halted testing. President Eisenhower said, however, that the American suspension will continue for the time being.

In a statement, Eisenhower appealed to the Soviet government to join in a temporary ban on experimental nuclear explosions.

"If there is not shortly a corresponding renunciation by the Soviet Union (of testing), the United States will be obliged to reconsider its position."

Announcement of the new nuclear explosions in the Soviet Union was made by the Atomic Energy Commission.

There was an implication in the AEC statement that the Soviets might have thought the two tests would not be detected, although this was merely a speculation.

The AEC statement said: "The Atomic Energy Commission today announced detection of two nuclear weapons tests which occurred in the U. S. S. R. on Nov. 1 and Nov. 3, respectively.

"Both explosions were of relatively low yield. They were conducted at a test site in the southern part of the U. S. S. R. rather than at the Novaya Zemlya test site north of the Arctic Circle where most of the tests in recent weeks have been held."

Eisenhower in his statement said that "this continued testing by the Soviet Union has occurred despite the fact that negotiations for the suspension of testing of nuclear weapons have since Oct. 31 been under way at Geneva."

The United States, he recalled, announced Aug. 22 that concurrently with the opening of the Geneva negotiations it would suspend the testing for one year "unless testing is resumed by the Soviet Union."

Russia suspended tests March 31 and had not yet resumed them in August. Soviet scientists started a new series at the end of September, Moscow arguing that this was necessary because the United States and Britain had not acceded.

Russia suspended tests March 31 and had not yet resumed them in August. Soviet scientists started a new series at the end of September, Moscow arguing that this was necessary because the United States and Britain had not acceded.

Russia suspended tests March 31 and had not yet resumed them in August. Soviet scientists started