

Lad, 10, Cancer Victim, Given One Of Two Wishes

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — "That's my grandma."

Ten-year-old Bobby Summers held out his small arms and for the first time in nearly two weeks a smile crossed his face.

Mrs. Else Otto of Lichtenfels, Germany, moved to the edge of Bobby's bed in the Portsmouth Naval Hospital and gathered Bobby into her arms. Her visit was the answer to the first of two great wishes expressed often by Bobby.

The second wish will not come true. Bobby wants to be out of the hospital and home with his parents, M. Sgt. and Mrs. Robert Summers of Ft. Monroe, Va., in time for Christmas. But doctors say cancer of the bladder will take his life within a few weeks.

Bobby doesn't know he has such a short time to live. He was stricken in May and after a period of hospitalization returned home. But he had to enter the hospital again Oct. 27 and this time the doctors said he would not leave alive.

Bobby's mother and father were married while Summers was stationed in Germany. After his father was reassigned to the States, Bobby often expressed the desire to see his grandmother.

For the past two weeks that has been one of his biggest wishes. But after paying for the doctors and medicine, his parents didn't have enough money left over to send for Mrs. Otto.

The Newport News Daily Press reported the plight of the lad and radio station WGH conducted a drive to raise funds to have Mrs. Otto brought here.

In no time at all $4,000 was raised and Mrs. Otto was on her way. She arrived in New York and was met by Bobby's parents.

"It is wonderful to be here, but I wish it were under happier circumstances," Mrs. Otto said. She added that she would stay in America as long as her daughter needs her.

Bobby grinned broader from his bed as someone told him: "Not every little boy's grandmother comes all the way from Germany to see him when he is sick."

COUNTING TREES may seem futile in this country, but Camp Fire Girls have a valid reason for doing so. They'll select areas to determine, in a tree census, what types of trees live here, how they survive, and other factors. Then they'll select a "Tree of the Year" and offer samplings for private planting. The two-and-a-half-year national project is part of a conservation program, "She Cares — Do You?" Measuring a cut-leaf weeping birch tree on the post office lawn are two sixth graders, Glenda Livesay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Livesay, 421 Oak Street, and Evelyn Stafford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stafford, 517 North Fourth Street, with Assistant Postmaster Harold Hicks assisting. Camp Fire Girls are likely to visit you on their tree census.

Spud Rate To Decline On December 1

By WALT JENDRZEJEWSKI
County Extension Agent

Payment rate for diversion of potatoes to starch or livestock feed drops a dime per hundredweight on December 1. Two-inch No. 2's or better diverted after November 30 earn a 40 cent payment. Payment decreased to 30 cents on March 1.

Nationally, diversion to October 25 totals 5,110,000 cwt. compared to 2,418,000 cwt. on the same date a year ago. The early season total this year was swelled by field run diversion of poor lots in many late crop areas, including North Dakota and Maine. November is suggested as the month in which to move distressed lots.

Diversion of around 30 million cwt. (17 per cent) from the 1958 late crop of 176 million cwt. is considered necessary to balance supply with needs.

Late crops of 141, 146 and 148 million cwt. in 1952, 54 and 55 had no major marketing difficulties.

The diversion program is operating in every major late crop area except Idaho which has not adopted an 8 oz. minimum marketing order regulation for No. 2's and is not eligible to participate.

In North Dakota, all No. 2's are being diverted.

Except for poorer quality lots which might move yet in November, it is likely that field run diversions will stop. Further diversions are likely to consist of No. 2's and smaller sizes graded out as potatoes are shipped.

Idaho potato price quotations indicate growers are getting 40 to 60 cents for 6 oz. No. 2's. For 2-inch min. No. 1's, prices to growers ranged from $1.50 to $1.70 as October ended. This was fully 50 cents per cwt. stronger than earlier in the month.

Two inch min. No. 1's, 10 to 20 per cent 10 oz. were quoted at $2.10 to $2.30 f.o.b. indicating costs around 60 cents per cwt. for containers, commission and packing.

Larger size (30-40 per cent 10 oz.) quoted f.o.b. at $2.40 to $2.50. Ten and 12 oz. min. baker packs sold for $2.50 to $2.80. And 6 to 14 oz. medium sizes brought $3 to $3.25 f.o.b.

Here, growers generally are not happy when prices are below $2 net or $2.50 loaded. The incentive to grow potatoes comes from prices above $2 net.

This week, net prices to growers here were reported on $1.75 to $2 per cwt. depending on quality, with $2 net not generally available.

Heavier shipments this week were reported to be building up stocks at terminals. Shippers generally seemed cautious in buying supplies.

Some growers selling culls to feeders were netting 17½ cents per cwt. plus the 50 cent diversion for the percentage qualifying for Specification A. The 20 cent per cwt. cost to the feeder for culls picked up at the cellar was reduced by a 2½ cent per cwt. bookkeeping charge.

In shed packing, growers did not fare as well. A dime charge per cwt. for entire tonnage hauled from cellar to shed and a 5 cent cull bin charge at the shed took all but 5 cents of the 20 cent cost to the feeder at the cull bin.

Growers hauling their own culls from cellar to starch plant were paid 25 cents per cwt. for culls plus 50 cents per cwt. for the percentage meeting Specification A.

In shed packing, costs of haul from cellar to shed, cull bin charge and hauling cost from shed to starch plant left practically no return for culls. Percentage meeting Specification A earned the 50 cent diversion payment.

The 10th annual meeting of the National Potato Council in Washington, D.C. is scheduled for November 17-19.

The new members are Grace Bascom, Lucile Newton and Hazel Chipman of Dunsmuir; Lucile Towmley of Montague; Freida Hoskins, Martha Payne, Dorothy Van Orsdal and Keith Vidler of Yreka.

There are now 50 members of the association and 25 were present at Sunday's meeting, each bringing one or more paintings that are now on display at various business establishments in Montague, Dunsmuir, Mount Shasta, Weed and Yreka, in observance of American Art Week.

Mrs. Calla Lukes, noted painter from Etna, and who has had many of her paintings on display in New York told how American Art Week was first established 28 years ago by The American Artists Professional League of New York. Next meeting of the association will be on Sunday, December 7.

Committee Bans Gal Card Dealers

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Female casino dealers have found up in the discard.

The City Commission, responding to the entreaties of male dealers, made it illegal Wednesday to hire women for the job.

The men claimed employment of women would cut the female dealers for several years, female dealers have worked in small downtown clubs. The men got excited when two big clubs started hiring women to run their tables.
