Gas Escapes; Many Ailing

FAYETTEVILLE, Ga. (AP)—A gas heater that should not have been turned on almost turned a Kiwanis Club meeting into a disaster. Escaping fumes sickened 40 persons attending a ladies night meeting.

Seven ambulances rushed many of the victims to Atlanta hospitals 30 miles away. Others were treated at a Fayetteville clinic. Some had convulsions and others lost consciousness for a few minutes. All were groggy and nauseated, but doctors here and in Atlanta said none was seriously ill.

The victims were attending a meeting in the new Masonic Hall. The heater was installed a few hours before the fumes filled more than half the audience of 65 men and women.

The Atlanta Gas Light Co. said the new heater should not have been in use because it was not vented.

from Mars. The bathing suit may be simple, but the things that go with it are strictly out of this world.

Consider, for instance, a beach hat topped by a life-size champagne bottle and a bunch of grapes — this for the girl who likes cocktail parties, of course. Or there's "Mr. Goldfish," a gilded straw beach bag with green sequin eyes and a hat to match.

"Mary Had a Little Lamb" is a white terry cloth beach bag with languorous sheep eyes, worn with a white "mop top" hat made out of a cotton mop. The latter also comes in such colors as orange and shocking pink.

"Hickory Dickory" is a bright felt beach bag with a clock face, and a hat to match, with the clock on the top of the crown. Hit of the current showings is a white reed French poodle which turns out to be a beach bag named "Pierre." And then there's "Percy," a three-foot-tall straw fish, worn as a hat, and accompanied by a clamdigger bag.

The younger set throughout the country is going to try to outdo each other in seeing who can look zaniest on the beach.

College girls already are taking up some of the more improbable hats for fun in the dormitory.

Building Hit By Gas Fire

SALEM (AP) — A sprawling building packed with farm machinery was destroyed by a gas-line-fed fire here Tuesday night. Damage was estimated at more than $200,000 by Clifton Boehmer, a co-owner of the G-B Equipment Co.

Firemen prevented flames from reaching another nearby building and a number of big oil storage tanks.

The cause of the blaze was not discovered immediately.

Firemen said the blaze apparently smoldered for some time before leaping to life. The flames quickly spread through the building.

Gasoline tanks on farm machinery exploded, hurling debris through the building. Then the roof collapsed.

Volunteers saved some equipment stored outside near the walls.

Every fireman here — both off duty and on — was called to fight the fire, just across the street from the state fair grounds.

Boehmer said most of the damage would be covered by insurance.

"I just returned from the better business management meeting in Portland to be notified of the fire. Now I don't have a business to manage," he said.

But Boehmer later added he planned to re-build as soon as possible.

Problem Faces Conferees: How To Aid Needy Quickly

SEATTLE (AP) — The Colombo Plan conference turned today to the knotty details of how to get enough of the right kind of help to needy Asian nations in time to do the job.

The meeting of 18 nations found no ready answer, although reassured by President Eisenhower of intensified American interest and by British, Canadian and Japanese pledges to increase their contributions to the plan.

A sense of urgency was injected by the Japanese chief delegate, Hayato Ikeda. He warned in a separate speech to the Japan Society of Seattle that the 700 million people the Colombo Plan seeks to help are squarely in the path of a subversive Chinese Communist economic drive.

To meet this situation, free nations, especially the United States and Japan, must work together to give more vigorous and well-organized assistance to these countries, he declared.

In four years, he noted, Red China multiplied her exports to Indonesia 11 times, to Burma 7 times and to India 6 times.

"While armed conflict in Formosa Strait threatens maintenance of world peace... we cannot sit back and let the less-developed countries in Southeast Asia be influenced and swayed," he said. Japan stands ready to do her part, he added.

Time is vital in two other ways, other delegates warned.

The industrial countries still are raising their own standards of living far faster than the less-developed countries they are trying to help, said the chief Indian representative, Deputy Finance Minister B. H. Bhagat.

This puts the poorer countries, he said, "in the position of the Red Queen in Alice in Wonderland."

"It's all so exciting," says Fran. "The album is just coming out this week, and now they're talking about my getting a manager, and an agent, and going on television — and maybe in night clubs."

Fran was a secretary not long arrived here from Visalia, Calif., when she met and married Les Menas, a metals salesman. What does Les think of Fran's sudden step into a career?

"It's kind of hard to say," she says. "I think he may be kind of afraid things might be... well, sort of changing too fast."
