Basin Man Pleads Innocent To Assault, Battery Charge

Charles Gaymon Jr., 35, pleaded innocent in district court Wednesday to a charge of assault and battery filed by Evelyn Larson, 29, Portland, who accused Gaymon of hitting her in the jaw. Miss Larson told police that Gaymon, after a verbal dispute at 432 Broad Street Sunday night, followed her out of the house and struck her. It was also during that scuffle, police said, that Gaymon and Vincent Hunt, 19, 820 Oak Street, cut each other with knives, resulting in Hunt's hospitalization. Gaymon, 524 Broad Street resident, was scheduled for a trial without jury at 10:30 a.m. Friday. Three youths, arrested by state police during a beer drinking session at Wocus Saturday night, were sentenced in district court. Carl Floyd Kullman, 21, Dairy, was accused of furnishing a six-pack of beer to two 19-year-old Klamath Falls youths. Kullman was fined $250 or 12 1/2 days in jail and went to jail in lieu of the fine. One youth, Donald Eugene Hughes, was fined $100 and the other, Tedford James Jacobson, was fined $50 or 2 1/2 days in jail, and went to jail. Two Merrill men charged with larceny after state police found their car trunks stuffed with merchandise allegedly taken from two stores on South Sixth Street Saturday night were given until next Monday to advise the court of their plea. The men are D. V. Hunting, 42, and Gary R. Hunting, 24, who were arrested at the Bon Bazaar and Oregon Food Store in the 4000 block of South Sixth. Each was returned to jail in lieu of $2,000 bond. Floyd J. Shelton, 29, was arrested by city police Monday night on a warrant from San Luis Obispo, California, accusing him on seven counts of writing bad checks. Shelton was still in the county jail Thursday, awaiting California authorities. Charges against Gerald Chester, 29, Beatty, indicted by the grand jury on a charge of writing a check with insufficient funds, were dismissed because of a faulty indictment. Chester was released from jail following the dismissal.

Man Fined For Fight

City police charged a Chiloquin man with disorderly conduct early today following a street fight in front of a Main Street restaurant at 2:25 a.m. Thursday. Officers charged Leon Pearson, 35, with fighting Boyd G. Kingman, 35, Mohawk (near Eugene). Kingman was sent to Klamath Valley Hospital with injuries first thought to be a possible skull fracture but later described as being head injuries, not serious. Pearson forfeited $100 in municipal court on the disorderly conduct charge. Police said a patrol car drove by the restaurant early this morning and noticed a man lying on the sidewalk with a small crowd gathered around him. An officer stopped, called another squad car and an ambulance, and saw Pearson live into the restaurant. The suspect fled clear through the restaurant and out a back door, police were told. A few hours later he was spotted in a taxi on Third Street and brought in the station where he posted bail, police said.

Elkins Charge Is Upheld

PORTLAND (AP)—An indictment which charged Portland gambler Big Jim Elkins with conspiracy to commit burglary was upheld Wednesday by Circuit Judge Charles Redding. Redding gave Elkins and six co-defendants until Friday to enter pleas or to take other action on the indictment. The indictments accuse the men of plotting to burglarize a number of Portland area establishments. Elkins' disclosures helped touch off Portland's long vice investigation. He later was convicted in federal district court of wiretapping. He has appealed.

Nixon's Oration Under Sedative Termed Stirring

MIAMI Fla. (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon made a stirring address on the American way of life to an audience of five Wednesday. His platform was a dentist's chair. Nixon, here for a vacation, was under anesthesia to have a badly infected wisdom tooth removed. His dentists, Dr. Jack H. Beck, with and Dr. William Ashley, said the vice president's speech was nonpartisan. After discussing Americanism, Nixon had high praise for his wife's courageous behavior when the two were mobbed by anti-American elements in Venezuela. The vice president had told the dentists he didn't think the intravenous drug used on him would be effective. After the extraction he said he knew "that stuff wouldn't work. Are you going to use some more of it?" It was hard to convince him the tooth already was out. Three nurses also attended Nixon. One, Mrs. Jay Thompson, a hitherto staunch Democrat, called him a "wonderful, charming man." Asked if his charm affected her party loyalty, she said: "I'm wavering."

Fire Damages Algoma Garage

Damage in excess of $8,000 resulted from a fire at the Algoma home of C. E. Rodekru, late Wednesday afternoon. Despite efforts of both the county and Oretch fire departments, the fire totally destroyed the garage, taking with it a number of tools, a photographic darkroom, a winters supply of wood, some feed, a panel truck and a pickup truck. Firemen reported they were fortunate to arrive in time to save the dwelling, which was situated close to the garage, and had its paint scorched. The cause of the fire was unknown.

Youths Stage Love Battle With Steaks

TERAMO, Italy (UPI)—Two youngsters in love with the same girl fought it out — to the last steak. Nicola di Battista and Lucio Caserta both loved a pretty schoolteacher in this Abruzzi Mountain town. To decide who would marry her they agreed to a steak-duel. Whoever ate the most steaks would win her. As an appetizer each ate his way through three plates of spaghetti, a roasted chicken, 20 sausages, ten hard-boiled eggs and a plate of cakes. Then they tackled their steak. Di Battista was declared the winner three hours later, after gulping down the last mouthful of his 16th steak. Caserta gave up after the 15th. But last reports were that the schoolteacher refused to honor the bet. She apparently was scared at the idea of having to cook for such a voracious husband.

Public Cautioned By Fire Chief

The city fire department's experience with a grass fire on Alameda Avenue Wednesday afternoon prompted Fire Chief Roy Rowe to remind the public that it is essential to give a precise address when summoning an emergency vehicle. City firemen responded to this particular call to "845 Alameda" only to discover that the 800 block only on Alameda was occupied north by the SP right-of-way, and no fire. When Rowe heard his men discussing where the fire could be, via radio, he instructed the station to phone the county fire department which also serves part of Alameda Avenue. Sure enough the fire was at 845 South Alameda in the county area. "It's a good thing it was only a grass fire," Rowe said.

A Klamath Falls doctor, Raymond Tice, has been named in a malpractice suit filed in circuit court by Marian E. Reeves, who seeks $35,000 damages plus $1,200 medical expenses. The complainant says another doctor was required to perform a second operation in May, 1957, removing the objectionable rib portions.
