STOCKS

NEW YORK (AP)—Selected issues were strong as the stock market advanced toward another record high in heavy trading late this afternoon. Volume for the day was estimated at 4,200,000 shares compared with 4,390,000 Friday. Gains by leading stocks ran generally from fractions to about two points but an outside leap of more than six was made by Goodyear. Trading slowed somewhat in the afternoon. Stock split rumors were given as the reason for Goodyear's jump. Johnson & Johnson spurred more than four after news of a proposed 2 1/2-for-1 stock split. Gains of about two were made by Sharon Steel, Magma Copper, General Instrument and Merck. Coppers did well with gains of a point or better by Anaconda, Kennecott, Phelps Dodge and American Smelting.

Work On Bridge Is Completed

LAKEVIEW — A new permanent type bridge has recently been completed across Long Branch Creek on the Bly Ranger District of the Fremont National Forest reported C. C. Ketcham, forest engineer. The bridge was constructed under Forest Service contract at a cost of about $10,000 and replaces an old log stringer bridge which had been in service on the Barnes Valley Road since 1945. The Barnes Valley Road is a timber access road servicing a large area of public and private timber and grazing lands. The road is used extensively for fire and other forest administrative purposes, as well as stockmen and hunter travel. The construction of this new bridge is another step in the long range plan to improve the forest road system.

Crews Trudge Through Snow

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP)—Ground searchers trudge through bitter cold and snow-cloaked mountains today toward what may be distress signals of two fliers missing since their C-46 vanished in a blizzard Sunday. The goal of the search party is four fliers, fashioned into the shape of an "L". The fliers were spotted late Monday by Lt. Coley A. Hunsacker, a student pilot at Lowry Air Force Base near Denver. Because of the weather, Hunsacker was unable to fly his T-33 closer to the fliers, pinpointed between two peaks 25 miles west of here. The pilot of the missing cargo plane has been identified as F. L. Courtell of Hayward, Calif., and the co-pilot as Calvin Cloud of Napa, Calif. Immediately after Hunsacker spotted the fliers, a ground party was dispatched into the area. The plane, en route from Denver to Hill Air Force Base, Utah, left Denver early Sunday. Little more than half an hour later, the pilot radioed that one of the two engines had failed. The plane was the property of the Capital Airways of Nashville, Tenn., and had been leased to the Air Force.

Trade Group Hits College

SEATTLE (AP)—Printing of the University of Washington annual Year by a Texas firm was protested Monday by the Allied Printing Trades Council of Seattle. Jack E. Goodwyn, council secretary-treasurer, said his group was "very much disappointed that more consideration was not given to Washington state firms in this contract award." "They were given to me by my brother to help me as security for the future because I work," the widow, a year younger than Beck, wrung her hands and stopped occasionally to dry tears as she testified at his trial for evasion of $24,000 in income taxes in 1950-51. The government seeks to show that the portly ex-union official profited from stock transactions involving his relatives and associates. Mrs. Henne was asked what she did with dividend checks. "Some of them I cashed, some I turned back to my brother, I gave them to him to do what he saw fit. He has full power of attorney to sign my name on anything or to help me in any way." Earlier a Seattle Teamsters official testified his endorsement was forged on at least four checks — one for $10,913 — that had been co-endorsed by Beck. D. W. Marshall, head of promotion for Teamsters' Joint Council 29, examined photostats of checks issued to him for dividends or sale of brewery stock and asked if they bore his endorsement. "No sir," he said.

Chief Wants A-Ban Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn) says President Eisenhower has asked for a detailed memorandum of Gore's proposal for a three-year U.S. moratorium on above-ground nuclear weapons tests. Gore told newsmen the President made this request during a White House meeting Monday at which the Tennessee senator advanced his idea. The senator, a member of the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee, has just returned from serving in Geneva as a delegate at the deadlocked East-West talks on test suspension. Gore said the moratorium he proposes would counter Russian propaganda picturing American tests in the air as being dangerous to world health. He suggested that the question of controlling other kinds of nuclear weapons tests—below ground, under the ocean and in outer space—could be taken up in later negotiations. The Russians have refused to consider Eisenhower's proposal for a one-year test suspension coupled with steps toward an adequate inspection system; they have called for separate treaties covering a test ban and inspection.

Chief Commends Scripture Review

NEW YORK (AP)—President Eisenhower endorses daily reading of the Scriptures. A letter from the President to the American Bible Society was made public by the society Monday in connection with the announcement of its annual Thanksgiving-to-Christmas reading list. "Like stored wisdom," the President said, "the lessons of the Bible are useless unless they are lifted out and employed. A faithful reading of Scripture provides the courage and strength required for the living of our time."

Standard Time Is 75 Today

NEW YORK (UPI)—The nation went on standard time 75 years ago today, ending years of confusion. Until the adoption of standard time — pushed by railroads — the country got along on sun time, time figured on the basis of when the sun reached its highest point over an agreed-on landmark. Sun time resulted in a cross-country traveler changing his watch about 20 times. Standard time divided the United States into four time zones.

"I should have been suspicious when he left his favorite TV programs without an argument to go to the store for me!"

Finances Rarely Explained Beck's Sister Tells Court

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—The sister of former Teamsters President Dave Beck Sr. testified with sobs Monday that her brother was a benefactor who looked out for her security but rarely explained about finances. "Sir, I don't remember when I first acquired those shares of stock," said Mrs. Rita Henne, 63, when questioned about 100 shares of Sick's Seattle Brewery Co. stock bought in her name. "They were given to me by my brother to help me as security for the future because I work." The widow, a year younger than Beck, wrung her hands and stopped occasionally to dry tears as she testified at his trial for evasion of $24,000 in income taxes in 1950-51. The government seeks to show that the portly ex-union official profited from stock transactions involving his relatives and associates. Mrs. Henne was asked what she did with dividend checks. Jobless Masonry Worker Admits Slaying Girl, 15

CHICAGO (AP)—A gangling, jobless masonry worker was held by police today after they said he admitted the gruesome slaying of his former 15-year-old girl friend. Police said Charles Melquist, 23, self-described "big brother" of Bonnie Leigh Scott, admitted he smothered the high school sophomore with a pillow in his auto in suburban Villa Park the night of Sept. 22 after she resisted his advances. He then disrobed her and drove to a forest preserve where he disposed of her body in a ditch. The girl's nude, decapitated body was found Saturday by a group of Boy Scouts where Melquist said he had dumped it. Melquist was quoted by police as saying he returned to the body four days after the slaying. "I thought I killed her in a dream," he said, "and I went to see if the body was there." On the night of Oct. 30, police said Melquist related during five hours of questioning, he went back and severed the head from the body with a four-inch knife. He said that since the slaying he has been having "terrible dreams." Bonnie Leigh was reported missing after she failed to return home the night of Sept. 22. She lived with her grandmother and an aunt and uncle in suburban Addison, a few miles from Melquist's home. Her parents are separated.

Death Caused From Kidding

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—Kidding a train engineer over his forthcoming retirement, police say apparently led to the fatal shooting of another engineer. Lt. J. E. Piquitt of the Western Maryland Railway police said investigation of the slaying of James R. Cuddy Jr., 41, showed that the shooting apparently stemmed from kidding younger engineers give the older men about to retire. Cuddy was slain last Saturday. James T. Haney, 68, charged with murder, is to be given a preliminary hearing later. Both are Western Maryland engineers.

Man, Placed on Probation Arrested By State Police

"You're too old to start a criminal career." Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg told Bill Edward Carson when he placed him on restricted two-year probation November 7. State police might be inclined to agree with Judge Vandenberg after their arrest of the 29-year-old transient Monday night. The judge was thinking of Carson's first criminal enterprise in this area, the October 25 burglary of a filling station, which netted only candy, cigarettes and pennies, and for which Carson was arrested within a matter of hours, later pleading guilty to the charge. The state police would have in mind another burglary which they say Carson has admitted, and the way in which he was picked up, walking on the highway wearing the loot, plus some other facts that Carson has brought to their attention. One is the apparent fact that Carson is an alias and that Henry Noel Houghtalling is his right name. The other is that he is an escapee from the Beatrice, Nebraska, State Home. Houghtalling came to the attention of state police Monday night when they received calls from residents of the Olene area saying that a rather suspicious looking person was walking, armed, along Highway 66. When police picked him up he

Rites Pending For Basin Man

Joseph A. Overton, a resident of this city since 1939, died in Veteran's Hospital, Portland, on Monday evening, November 17. Mr. Overton was a native of Ramsey, Illinois, and was born on February 17, 1898. He had been in failing health for the past three years. Mr. Overton served in World War II for over three years. He had been employed in this city as shop foreman at Anderson Auto Service and J. W. Kerns. He was a member of Peace Memorial Presbyterian Church. Survivors include the widow, Thelma; two brothers, L. L. Overton of Eugene and Charles Overton of Coquille; eight sisters, Mrs. Martin Messenger, Enid, Oklahoma; Mrs. J. L. Zehner, Springfield, Oregon; Mrs. L. L. Bates, Talent, Oregon; Mrs. R. M. Kines, Forest Grove; Mrs. Charles Harrison, Kismet, British Columbia; Ruby Overton, Eugene; Mrs. E. E. Rose Mortuary, Portland, with interment in Willamette National Cemetery, Portland. The family asks that anyone wishing to make contributions will do so to the Memorial Fund, Peace Memorial Presbyterian Church, or to the City of Hope Cancer Research, Duarte, California.

Carnival Set By School

The Lettermen's Club of Henley High School is sponsoring a carnival at the high school gymnasium on Saturday night at 8 o'clock. The high point of the evening will be the crowning of the queen, who will be chosen from one of the classes, seventh through 12th, on the basis of ticket sales. Rixey Ann Balsiger is the queen candidate from the seventh grade; Gena Spielman, eighth grade; Janie Williams, freshmen; Marlee Breithaupt, sophomores; Sally Reed, juniors; and Lorraine Clark, seniors. The hit of the carnival, as in past years, promises to be the all-male style show, when the men model the latest in women's styles. Boxing and wrestling matches also promise a good time to all those who attend. The athletic department of the high school is completely self-financed and the proceeds from the carnival will go to the athletic fund.

Blue-Eyed Lass Wears Shoes

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A woman drove her car up to a curb, stopped the motor and stepped out. She wore white tennis shoes—nothing else. A flustered merchant offered a blanket. She refused it. Police hustled the motorized Lady Godiva off to jail. The blue-eyed blonde said she is 31 but refused to give her name. She was taken to the Los Angeles County General Hospital.

ENVOYS TO MEET

Searchers Plan Joint Meeting

Representatives from the Basin Boaters and the Klamath Yacht Club met with the Klamath Air Search Rescue Unit Wednesday evening to plan for a coordinated meeting for a coordinated ground, water and air rescue crew. The members of the organizations feel that the cooperation of the combined groups will give the Basin one of the finest rescue units in the Northwest. The KASRU president, Les Liston, will name a committee to meet with representatives of both groups to set up a joint operation. The next meeting of KASRU will be Friday night, December 5, and will feature the annual crab feed at the Airport Cafe and Lounge.

Woods Accident Fatal To Man

GOLD BEACH (AP)—A woods accident Monday took the life of Jack Bierward, 48, Crescent City, Calif. He was working as a rigging slinger for the DeFoe Logging Co. when a log rolled down a hill and pinned him against another log. The accident happened at Wheeler Creek, 15 miles east of Brookings.
